$6,000,000 GRAFT IN QUAKER JOBS.

Experts Say One-Third of Sum Paid by Philadelphia for Sewers and Boulevards Was Boodle.

METHODS FATAL TO 1,200.

Delay of Filtration System Caused Hundreds to Die; Durham and McNichol Got Most of the Rakeoff.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—By the report of Mayor Weaver's board of investigating engineers, made public today, it is shown that former Boss Israel W. Durham and State Senator J. P. McNichol have grafted the city for $6,330,000 in the filtration and boulevard jobs, for which they were the contractors.

It also is estimated that 1,200 deaths from typhoid fever directly are due to the dilatory methods employed in the installation of the filtration system.

One of the most gigantic and complete schemes for the suppression of competition in municipal contracts ever known in history is laid bare.

Work Is Inferior.

Much of the work, it is said, is of an inferior quality, poor material being used where the city is paying for first class. The rakeoff in this way alone, mounts into hundreds of thousands.

The report which was submitted to the mayor yesterday is signed by Maj. Cassius E. Gillette of the United States Engineering corps, who unearthed the Oberlin Carter frauds in the Savannah harbor work and John Donald MacLennon of Washington.

It shows that up to date the city has paid or pledged $18,761,541, whereas the actual cost of construction has been but $10,356,000. It allows for legitimate contractors' profits 20 per cent of this or $2,075,208, which would have made the proper charge $12,431,208. The rest is classed as overcharge.

Gross Favoritism Charged.

The city's losses, says the report, were brought about by excessive costs, collusive bids, and illegal advertising. Gross favoritism on the part of city officials is charged. The contracting firms concerned are D. J. McNichol & Co., James J. Ryan, and John A. Kelley, and Vare Brothers. The members of the McNichol firm are Israel W. Durham, leader of the local republican organization; State Senator J. P. McNichol, also a city leader, and the latter's brother Daniel. The Vare firm is made up of State Senator George A. Vare and Edwin H. Vare. Their brother William S. Vare, is recorder of deeds, an elective office.

The officials held responsible by the report for some of the conditions in connection with the filtration system are William C. Haddock, who was director of public works under Mayor Ashbridge; Peter E. Costello, director of public works under Mayor Weaver until last May, and John W. Hill, former chief of the bureau of filtration, who is awaiting trial on charges of fraud and falsification of records in connection with the construction of the filtration system.

McNichol Got $5,000,000.

Of the $6,350,000 "overcharge" the McNichols firm got $5,065,122.51, Ryan & Kelly, $543,860.21, and Vare Bros., 89,128.50. Of the $18,761,541 there remains unpaid about $568,000 to McNichols and $75,000 to Ryan & Kelly.

Some of these contracts are incomplete. The estimated cost of finishing the existing filtration contracts at contract prices is about $1,685,000. A fair price, allowing 20 per cent profit, would be $1,218,000, leaving a difference of $467,000 which the city will lose if they are completed.

"The price paid for the three-quarters of a mile of northeast boulevard already constructed," says the report, "is $552,348, on which there was a loss to the city of $273,217. There are nine and a half miles more of it laid out on the maps. If completed at contract prices the additional cost to the city will be about $6,500,000, and the additional loss at least $2,250,000.

"On the southern boulevard, amount paid to date is $286,389, on which the loss on the one and a quarter miles built has been $89,128. To complete at contract prices would cost $350,516, and the additional loss would be $85,555. In other words, the total cost of both boulevards as planned at contract prices would have been $7,636,000, and the total loss to the city $2,750,000."

Carefully Spuelch Competition.

The report goes into the faults of work sketchily, showing it good on top and bad where covered, and then exposes the gang's system of throttling all competition. The first step was in the advertising of bids. This was done in few papers, most of small circulation, inconspicuously. It says:

"A careful analysis of all the filtration advertising indicates that everything possible was done to avoid any real publicity without letting the fact appear too prominently in the records. Had the bids been itemized, as they should have been, the bidders could have made intelligent bids upon different classes of work at unit prices, and the period allowed would not have been unreasonably small. This was not permitted, except for the pipe lines.

"Lump sum bids were required, and it was demanded that the bidder make careful detailed estimates of quantities. The bureau's preliminary estimates, instead of being freely furnished to bidders, were rigorously guarded secrets, so far as the general bidder was concerned, except that they were furnished in the specification for filtering materials, where they were little needed.

Bidders Had no Chance.

"The specifications in many particulars were unfair to bidders and gave excessive and unnecessary power to the city officials. For example, in the contract of Belmont see paragraph gives the engineer power in his discretion to require the contractor to do more than $100,000 worth of extra work, for which he would receive no pay whatever. It was provided that if the earth foundations, when uncovered, were not "satisfactory" to the engineer, he could require the contractor to excavate any depth he pleased and fill up with concrete without expense to the city.

"In many cases the specifications gave the director of public works authority to change the plans and specifications to an unlimited extent and to fix the price of work as changed. In one case this power was exercised to make not less than sixty-two material changes in the plans. No less than eighty-nine supplementary sheets of drawings were made after the contracts

DIE IN TUNNEL; RESCUERS TOIL.

Two Men Employed by Illinois Company Overcome by Gas—Bodies Finally Recovered.

VIEWING FLOOD DAMAGE.

Go to Investigate Effect of Burst Water Main; Shock from the Overflow Fatal to Aged Woman.

Two men were entombed in the bore of the Illinois Tunnel company for twenty hours yesterday as the result of the bursting of a water main at Eighteenth and Clark streets. Their bodies were recovered shortly after 2 o'clock this morning.

This was accomplished by sinking a new shaft to the tunnel. Efforts by employes of the company and the police, aided by a city diver, had failed before this was decided on as a last resort.

A third death occurred yesterday, caused by the flood from the broken main, and damage to property will reach $150,000. Cellars were flooded, merchandise ruined, and a section of the track of the Lake Shore and Rock Island railways was undermined, causing it to collapse, carrying down several freight cars.

The Dead.

BARRY, MICHAEL, 3218 Archer avenue; foreman of construction gang; overcome in tunnel while searching for his brother, Patrick.

HAMLIN, LOTTIE, 70 years old, 1821 Clark street; died from shock and exposure in the flood of water which entered her house.

The Injured.

O'BRIEN, ROY, 16 years old, 1732 Clark street; leg broken while removing furniture from flooded basement of home.

The first man who perished in the tunnel had entered it to see how much damage was caused by the flood. The water had poured down the shaft, which is near the center of the flooded district, forcing open the air lock gate releasing the compressed air from the tunnel. When the air pressure was taken off gas entered the bore in great quantities.

Brothers Descend to Death.

Patrick and Michael Barry reached the shaft at 7:30 a. m. Patrick immediately descended, saying that he would return in a few minutes. After waiting for the return of his brother for half an hour, Michael entered the shaft. George A. Jackson, who has charge of the work of constructing the tunnel, waited at a telephone above for word from either of the men, but none was received.

After another wait of almost half an hour, three more men were sent into the shaft. Casey and Maher were the first to enter the bore, ropes being tied about their bodies as a precautionary measure. Almost as soon as the men alighted from the elevator after the drop of thirty-five feet, they were overcome by the gases which filled the tunnel.

The ropes fastened to the men were attached to a derrick, and they were drawn up to the surface again. Casey was but slightly injured by the gas which he had inhaled, but Maher was unconscious, and it was not for several hours after his arrival at the hospital that he regained consciousness.

Seek Another Tunnel Entrance.

When it was found that the gas in the tunnel was so dense as to admit of no entrance through the main shaft a request was sent to Superintendent of Streets Doherty for permission to bore down into the tunnel on Eighteenth street, near Armour avenue. The permission was given and work was begun immediately.

As it became apparent that several hours would be required to dig through the concrete roof of the tunnel, Engineer Jackson sent for A. J. Donnovan, a diver, to enter the bore. There were only two or three inches of water on the tunnel floor, but the diver's suit was necessary to prevent asphyxiation. Donnovan descended and explored the tunnel for a distance of 300 feet, which was the limit allowed him by the length of his air hose.

No sign of the bodies was found by the diver and after several hours of work this effort was given up and all attention turned to the digging of a new shaft.

Child Comes for Father.

Patrick, the elder Barry, had told his wife when he left home that he would return before time for dinner, which was to have been served at noon. As the hours passed and he did not return one of his six children was sent to the shaft to learn the cause of the delay. As there was still hope that the men might not be dead, the child was told that his father probably would return to the house in a short time. Later in the afternoon news of the accident at the shaft was taken to the waiting family.

Source of Gas Unknown.

The source of the gas which enters the tunnel is not known, but the soil in that part of the city is supposed to be more or less permeated with it. An explosion, in which several lives were lost, occurred only a few blocks away, in a building in Archer avenue several years ago, and the conclusion then was that the gas causing the disaster came from the soil.

The air pressure in the tunnels was taken off in part Saturday night and when water poured down the shaft, forcing open the air lock, the remaining pressure disappeared. This left them unguarded against the influx of any gas that could find an opening.

Opinion of Engineer Jackson.

In explaining the accident Mr. Jackson said:

"There have been three deaths since the operation of the railroad, but these are the first deaths due to construction work. No one goes into the tunnel after the compressed air is turned off until after the ventilation of the bores. Barry apparently thought that it was safe to go in for a short distance, and, I suppose was overcome gradually."

During the afternoon City Engineer Ericson and Police Inspector Lavin went to the tunnel to ascertain, if possible, the cause of

SOLVES SUIT CASE MYSTERY.

ARREST IS ALREADY MADE.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—The victim in the suit case mystery was Miss Susanna Agnes Geary, a chorus girl, 20 years old, whose parents live at 685 Main street, Cambridge.

The identity of the young woman, who was operated upon illegally and whose body, dismembered and headless, was found in two suit cases, one in Winthrop harbor on Sept. 21, and the other near the Charlestown bridge on Oct. 27, was positively established today by Mrs. Catherine R. Geary, the dead girl's mother.

The mother and Bertha and Evelyna Geary, sisters, recognized three rings found upon the fingers of the right hand of the victim as those belonging to Susanna A. Geary. None of the women would look at the torso nor at the arms nor at the disarticulated legs, because they were satisfied that the rings could have belonged to no one else.

Miss Geary was a member of the "Shepherd King" company which played in Boston during the summer. She was engaged to marry Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of the company.

Dead Girl's Fiance Arrested.

At midnight tonight Morris Nathan was arrested in Pittsburg, Pa., where the "Shepherd King" company is now playing. His arrest was the first outcome of the identification of the girl's body.

Another arrest, it is expected, will be made in this city in the course of a few hours.

Miss Geary was a dancing girl in the "Shepherd King" company. Her stage name was Ethel Durrell. Her last appearance with the company and the last time she was seen alive by friends or family was the evening of Sept. 9. On that night, the police have learned, Morris Nathan accompanied her to the subway station and bade her good-by.

Mrs. Geary last saw her daughter at 12:40 p. m. on Sunday, Sept. 10, when she left home, saying she was to catch the 1 o'clock train from North station for Lowell, where her company was booked for a week. That day she was ill and discouraged. She did not go to Lowell.

On Sept. 11 the stage manager of the "Shepherd King" company at Lowell received what purported to be a physician's certificate, as follows:

Boston, Mass., Sept. 11.—Miss Ethel Durrell is suffering from bowel trouble, and will be unable to work for several days. P. A. SMITH, M. D.

This certificate is believed to have been signed with a fictitious name.

Later in the week Mrs. Geary received a letter at Cambridge from a young woman member of the company addressed to her daughter. Several days after the receipt the mother opened it and learned, for the first time, that her daughter had not joined the "Shepherd King" company at Lowell.

Last Letter from Daughter.

On Sept. 20 Mrs. Geary received by mail a scrawly letter, written apparently with difficulty, but in her daughter's handwriting, which, according to the envelope, was mailed in Salem at 6:30 p. m., Sept. 19. In this letter the girl said she had been sick. She inclosed $5 for her father, and asked her mother not to forward any letters.

That was the last word the mother had from her daughter. That the letter was written by her daughter the mother has no doubt, but the uncertain hand and the wavering of the strokes shows that the writer was either weak or penciling the note under great difficulty.

After receiving this letter Mrs. Geary endeavored without success to obtain trace of her daughter. She held a number of interviews with Morris Nathan, and who went to Cambridge four or five times while the company was touring New England, but he could offer no explanation of the young woman's absence.

This afternoon Mrs. Geary realized for the first time that her daughter was dead. With her two other daughters she saw in the office of Capt. Joseph Dugan three rings which she knew belonged to Susie. One of them had been worn by the daughter since girlhood, and the other two had been bought when Susie was 16 years old.

Her Mother Long Suspicious.

Tonight Mrs. Geary said that she had been strongly suspicious ever since the first dress suit case was found at Winthrop that the dismembered body was that of her daughter, but she did not announce her suspicions to the police, fearing that after all they might prove unfounded. When she read the description as outlined by the physicians, she recognized that the description agreed in almost every detail with that of her daughter. But even when she saw photographs and a description of the rings, she did not go to the police.

Mrs. Geary said that when on one occasion a girl friend of hers disappeared, her daughter said: "Mother, do not say anything to any reporter about me if I should go away any time, for if you do I shall never come back." Mrs. Geary thought the remark a strange one, but considering the girl was nervous she attached little weight to it at the time.

Nathan Collapses on Arrest.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—At midnight tonight Morris Nathan, secretary to Manager Reinhold of the Shepherd King company, was booked here on a charge of complicity in the death of Susanna A. Geary, victim in the Boston suit case mystery.

Nathan's arrest was sensational. All day long Pittsburg detectives, at the request of the Boston police, searched for him. Every hotel and theatrical boarding house in this city and Allegheny were visited, but without avail. Finally Manager Reinhold was summoned to police headquarters and closely questioned. When Reinhold left headquarters, after traveling quite a distance he entered Hotel Henry, one square from police headquarters, with a detective at his heels. In one of the rooms Nathan was found sitting on a chair in a state of collapse. As soon as the officer announced his errand Nathan burst into tears. He was unable to walk the block to police headquarters unassisted.

Faints in Police Station.

As soon as Nathan reached headquarters he was taken into the detective's office and a process of questioning began. During his examination he fainted twice, but persisted in saying that he had not seen Miss Geary since he left her at the entrance to a subway station in Boston.

Manager Reinhold has the doctor's certificate which had been received at Lowell, Mass., explaining that Miss Geary was ill and would be unable to join the company for some days yet. An expert penman declared yesterday that the handwriting was that of a man who had endeavored to disguise it.

The members of the company sympathize deeply with Nathan and believe him innocent but heartbroken over the girl's death.

RUSSIA DRIFTING TOWARD ANARCHY

ARMY READY FOR MUTINY.

CAPITAL LIKE A CITY CAPTURED.

BULLETIN.

[From the St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph.]

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—The czar has decided to yield to popular demands. He has accepted the liberal program and has formally appointed Count de Witte premier. He has resolved to grant a national assembly or a fully representative character, and he will abolish martial law throughout the empire. An imperial manifesto is expected on Monday. Presumably it will be based on those lines.

CONSTITUTION News is being taken to the czar at Peterhof by steamer, as all the telegraph and telephone lines to the palace have been cut.

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—It is rumored the advocate general is preparing to prosecute ninety-two army officers, including some belonging to the Imperial Guards, for sharing in the agitation for liberty and a constitution.

ODESSA, Oct. 29.—Reports from Kieff state that three regiments in the southwestern part of that province have mutinied. Reports are current here questioning the fidelity of three infantry battalions. Cossacks have been arrested at Kieff for refusing to fire upon the people.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 29, 10:40 p. m.—While the day passed quietly, without bloodshed in the Russian capital, and while the city outwardly is calm, today's developments all indicate that a crisis is imminent.

Although the streets are filled with troops and reinforcements are now pouring in from Finland, the government seems utterly powerless to cope with the situation, and many calm observers seem seriously to believe that the present regime is tottering to its fall.

Drifting Toward Anarchy.

The situation cannot well be exaggerated. With the present ingression of the emperor the government has neither a head nor a policy to meet the crisis, and things seem to be drifting toward anarchy.

The revolutionists openly declare that the government has ceased to exist and that nothing remains to his majesty except to abdicate. With a firm hand at the helm and a rational policy, however, all might quickly be changed.

Differences have developed between Count de Witte and Gen. Trepoff, and while the precious moments pass the emperor, surrounded by the imperial family, remains shut up at Peterhof, seemingly still hesitating as to what course to pursue.

Army Ready for Mutiny.

Grave doubts are expressed as to whether even the imperial guard can now be relied upon. Discontent is rife. Early this morning the Fourteenth equipage of sailors of the guard who have been shut up like prisoners in barracks on the Moska canal, demolished the windows and furniture.

In the afternoon a detachment consisting of four officers of the guard went to the lawyers' assembly and told the barristers that many officers and a large part of the troops were disgusted with the government and ready to enlist in the movement for freedom. They asked for aid towards effecting organization and said they had discussed among themselves the question of resigning, but decided to show that people in uniform could help to achieve liberties.

Even the Cossack patrols in keeping idlers moving in the streets today seemed careful not to use their whips and simply drove the crowds along before their advancing horses.

Strikers Present Ultimatum.

A meeting of the municipal council was held this evening at which a deputation of thirty members of the strikers' committee appeared. In an impassioned speech the leader of the deputation presented the following demands of the workmen and affiliated organizations:

First—A constitution and political liberty.

Second—That the city furnish food to the workmen.

Third—That the city refuse further supplies to the troops and the police.

Fourth—That the troops be removed from the water works or otherwise the strikers would cut the water supply.

Fifth—The immunity of the deputation from arrest.

The council granted this last demand and promised to reply to the other demands tomorrow. The council sent requests to both Gen. Trepoff and Minister of the Interior Bouligin not to arrest the members of the deputation, but the police nevertheless took them into custody. Upon urgent representations Gen. Trepoff an hour later released them.

The Russian capital is like a city in the possession of a foreign army. Tonight again the soldiers are bivouacking in the darkened and otherwise deserted streets. The DEVELOPMENTS OF THE DAY.

STRIKERS—Deputation of thirty demanded of municipal council of St. Petersburg to a constitution and political liberty; free food; that supplies to troops and police be shut off, and troops removed from water works.

MUTINY—One thousand sailors of the guard smashed windows and furniture of barracks; four officers visited lawyers' assembly and declared many officers and large part of army were ready to join struggle for liberty; Cossacks arrested at Kieff for refusing to fire on people; several regiments reported to have mutinied in southwest Russia.

BLOODSHED—Thirty-two revolutionaries killed and 108 wounded in street battle at Odessa; 19 wounded at Moscow; 1 killed, 1 wounded at Kieff; fights reported at Riga, Lods, and Warsaw.

CZAR—Remained hidden at Peterhof; no indication as to his policy; De Witte and Trepoff unable to agree on policy.

RIGA—There were several encounters between dragoons and the mobs. The dragoons were three times fired upon by the crowds. The details are not obtainable. The situation is growing worse.

HELSINGFORS—A strike has been proclaimed on the Finnish railway from St. Petersburg to the frontier station of Valkeasaari.

RIAZAN—The workmen on the Riazan, Moscow, and Ural railroad have recommenced work.

WARSAW—The employes of the Vienna railroad have resolved to continue the strike until political liberties are granted.

ROSTOF-ON-DON—The strikers and reactionaries are fighting. Attempts to pillage the Jewish synagogues and houses were stopped by the police.

GOMEL—A bomb was thrown against the police today and two policemen were killed.

REVAL—Order has been restored on the governor promising to withdraw the troops from the streets and to liberate those who have been arrested.

SEVASTOPOL—During a demonstration here today a lieutenant and a sergeant of police were wounded by shots from a crowd. Many persons were arrested, but were afterwards liberated.

NIJNI, NOVGOROD—City disturbed over rumors that the "Black Hundred," a band of roughs, was about to commence a massacre of all well to do persons. The governor, however, has issued a proclamation reassuring the people. The railway service is still interrupted.

URGING THE CZAR TO NAME DICTATOR

TREPOFF TELLS HIM "NO."

[From the St. Petersburg Correspondent of the London Times.]

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—The court is in revolt against the czar, who is vacillating between the advice of his ministers, including even Gen. Trepoff, to announce immediately a constitution, with Count de Witte as premier, and the advice of the reactionaries to proclaim a dictatorship under Count Alexis Ignatieff.

The nation is still in passive revolt and the government is incapable of enforcing even a semblance of authority.

Army Near Revolt.

The soldiers are openly murmuring at the degrading rôle they are called upon to play and the privations the have entailed.

Three hundred sailors in St. Petersburg have mutinied.

The situation in the provinces is infinitely worse than in St. Petersburg. Mock republics already have been proclaimed in various cities. The local authorities in many places are so powerless that the maintenance of order has been assumed by committees of public safety.

Ominous in Finland.

One of the most ominous factors in the situation is the sudden development of sympathy for the Russian people among the Finns. There are only 4,000 troops in Finland. The 6,000 reservists who were sent there have developed revolutionary leanings and have had to be recalled.

If the Finns revolt the government cannot reinforce the garrison there, because every soldier is needed in Russia proper, and the navy cannot be trusted.

It was announced tonight that the Finns had decided to proclaim a strike on the Finland railway. This may be the first step in an insurrection.

CZAR'S AUTHORITY IS GONE.

[From the St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—The autocracy is like a bulb of mercury fallen from a height and shivered into little globules. Russia has become an archipelago of political islands, each independent of the others, all dealing with public affairs, with hardly any reference to the will of the once all powerful monarch.

Anti-monarchical sentiments, which would have been a terrible crime two months ago, are now in everybody's mouth. The Russian people, suddenly educated by events and sobered by a sense of responsibility, is able, willing, and determined henceforth to manage its affairs in its own way and without interference from above.

Overawed by 100,000 Troops.

Gen. Trepoff's army, which it is admitted is kept under good control so far, has thus far overawed the St. Petersburg revolutionists, who recognize the futility of throwing themselves against 100,000 troops with artillery and machine guns.

There are some indications that the strike will soon end. If the authorities abstain from violence it will terminate during the week, because the socialists are desirous of avoiding a collision with the troops now. They wish to wait until December and January for the armed insurrection, when they will be fully prepared. It is their desire that the present strike should serve as the first and last warning to the autocracy.

Strikers in Dire Want.

It is becoming apparent that the strikers have no funds except a little money which they have received from the professional associations. Therefore the railway men may soon be forced by dire want to return to work. An effort will be made, however, to prolong the strike beyond Nov. 3, the anniversary of the czar's accession.

THIRTY-TWO KILLED AT ODESSA.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ODESSA, Oct. 29.—Thirty-two persons were killed and 108 wounded by Cossacks in this city this afternoon in two street fights with students and revolutionaries.

The troops fired point blank into the crowds without warning. At one place twenty persons were killed and sixty wounded.

In another fight seven were killed and thirty wounded. At another point one volley killed one student, three workmen, a girl, and wounded eighteen.

Looting the Gunshops.

It is reported that students are arming and organizing retaliatory attacks on troops. A number of students raided a gunshop today. They had partly plundered the place, when the Cossacks arrived. In the scuffle that followed three students were wounded and a score arrested.

The students and revolutionaries have erected barricades of telegraph poles and furniture at the street corners.

Doctors Refuse Aid.

At a meeting attended by 225 doctors today it was resolved to refuse aid to any soldier, Cossack, or military or civil official who is injured in fighting the people.

The city is greatly excited. Two hundred thousand people are on the streets this afternoon, but the troops keep them moving.

The employés of the street railways have refused to join the strikers. As a result the mob overturned twenty cars in Richelieu street.

Will Be Signal to Fire.

The governor in a proclamation says that the first stone thrown at the military will be the signal for the troops to fire.

The governor asked St. Petersburg for authority to proclaim martial law, but has not received an answer.

All the streets and squares are full of Cossacks and police.

Citizens have formed a committee for public defense.

Kaulbars Admits It's Serious.

In an interview earlier in the day Gen. Kaulbars, commanding the troops here, admitted that his position was grave and threatening. He said there were 28,000 troops in the city and 6,000 more were en route. His great fear was an anti-Jewish outbreak. If this should occur, he said, he would use his whole force to protect those attacked.

Referring to the socialist meeting at which he, the civil governor, the chief of police, and other officials were condemned to death, he smiled amusedly and said he had been used to that in Manchuria, where he was always under sentence of death.

Anything May Happen.

The civil governor, who also was interviewed, seemed to be anxious. He admitted it was possible for anything to happen. He deplored Saturday's collision between the police and the boy and girl students, and declared that the police had exceeded their orders, but he added that it should be remembered the students were exceedingly provocative.

Foreigners Ready for Flight.

The British consul is arranging to embark the English residents on ships in the harbor if necessary. All public resorts are closed. The university alone is brightly illuminated tonight. The students are holding a stormy meeting there, from which the public is excluded.

FIGHTING AT MOSCOW.

MOSCOW, Oct. 29.—Nineteen wounded men have been brought to the university hospital as the result of an encounter between students and royalists.

The governor general has issued a proclamation warning the royalists who wish to attack the liberals that this will not be permitted.

Near Clash in Moscow.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—According to private reports from Moscow, the real Russian capital, the municipal council and the committee of public safety are sitting continuously, and a struggle is momentarily expected between the League of Russian Patriots, a reactionary organization led by the priests, and the newly organized militia and students.

The Moscow municipal council is also reported to have sent an ultimatum to the emperor demanding the promulgation of a constitution.

Although it is impossible officially to confirm these reports, they seem to admit of no doubt that the anti-government forces have the upper hand.

FIGHTING IN TIFLIS.

TIFLIS, Oct. 29.—Complete disorder reigns here. There is rifle firing against the patrols in many quarters of the city. A bomb was thrown at a policeman.

A military train has been derailed outside the city and a number of Cossacks killed.

The strike is complete on all railroads in the Caucasus. All the stores and offices are closed. Even the employés of the state institutions and the headquarters of the viceroyalty have struck.

FLEEING FROM WARSAW.

WARSAW, Oct. 29.—The governor has forbidden the publication even of official news concerning the riots in Russia. The authorities acknowledge the situation to be extremely serious. All the manufacturers left the city today.

The theaters are closed and no newspapers are being published.

The workmen in all the factories at Radom, Kielce, and Kalisz have struck.

Disturbances have occurred at Lodz, where several persons were wounded, and in the Opatow district, where a policeman was killed and the chief of police was wounded.

COSSACKS REFUSE TO FIRE.

KIEFF, Oct. 29.—Several Cossacks who refused to fire on the crowd during the recent disturbances have been arrested.

A sergeant of police was killed and another policeman was wounded during the search of a room in a hotel today. Many revolvers and cartridges were found in the room.

Great crowds are on the streets.

FATHER GOPON MOVES.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 29.—It is reported that the Russian priest, Father Gopon, who was active in the troubles at St. Petersburg in January of this year, has left Christiania for the continent.

The Russian government has requested the Swedish government to facilitate the transmission of the most important mails for the continent, but not another steamer is available. A small Finnish pilot boat arrived here today, bringing mails from St. Petersburg.

RELIEF WORK AT KIEFF.

PARIS, Oct. 30, 3 a. m.—The correspondent of the Temps at Kieff says that the chemists and doctors have decided to resume practice in order to allay the sufferings of the people, and that they have organized flying columns for the relief of those wounded in collisions between the strikers and the troops.

The correspondent of the Matin at Tiflis says the strikers have issued a manifesto calling on the populace, the troops, and the students to unite against the aristocracy and demanding also the general cessation of every kind of work for fifteen days. The correspondent adds that military trains are bringing up reservists from the north.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Petit Parisien says Gen. Trepoff is alleged to have admitted that the minimum concession necessary for the restoration of order is the promulgation of a constitution and the maximum the abdication of the emperor.

BRIGANDS ATTACK TRAIN.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says the following telegram has been received there from Vladikavkaz, northern Caucasia:

"Brigands derailed a mail train tonight near Grozny. They fired on the passengers, killing twelve and wounding twenty, after which they looted the train and decamped with the mails."

RITES FOR JAPANESE HEROES.

Admiral Togo Stirred with Emotion While Eulogizing Noble Deeds of War's Victims.

TOKIO, Oct. 29.—Two great Shito rites in memory of the naval officers and men who were killed during the war were held today at Aoyama cemetery. Besides the admirals, officers, and sailors hundreds of civil dignitaries were present. Admiral Togo addressed the departed spirits, eulogizing their noble deeds in battle and their gallant cooperation, which resulted in the sacrifice of their lives. While reading his address Admiral Togo was seen to be stirred with strong emotion, which was in contrast with his calm demeanor while on the bridge of the Mikasa during the hottest battles.

CORNER STONE LAID BY KING.

GENOA, Oct. 29.—King Victor Emmanuel laid the corner stone of the new harbor works today. As his majesty, by aid of an electrical device, lowered the stone which weighed eleven tons into the sea, there was a scene of great enthusiasm. Over 500,000 spectators were present and in the harbor were forty-three warships, including the United States cruiser Minneapolis, and the French and British squadrons, as well as over 3,000 other craft. It is estimated that the new works will cost $15,000,000.

BULL FIGHTER FATALLY GORED.

Sought Release from Fight on Account of Father's Death, but Management Refused.

City of Mexico, Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Joaquin Hernandez was gored by the third bull today, the horn penetrating his body. After falling to the ground he again was gored in the right side. Physicians declare the wounds fatal. Yesterday the matador received a cable from Seville announcing the death of his father. He endeavored to secure a release from the contract to fight today but the management refused to comply with the request.

NEW PAPAL DELEGATE NAMED.

Mgr. Aversa Apostolic Representative to Cuba and Porto Rico, to Succeed Chapelle.

ROME, Oct. 29.—Mgr. Giuseppi Aversa, under secretary of the congregation for extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs, has been appointed apostolic delegate to Cuba and Porto Rico in succession to the late Archbishop Chapelle. Mgr. Aversa is a Neapolitan and enjoys high consideration at the vatican.

FORTY AMERICANS IN RUSSIAN PERIL

MAY SEND A CRUISER.

Secretary Root Hesitates to Take Step Which Might Offend the Czar.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Spencer Eddy, chargé d'affaires at the American embassy in St. Petersburg, cabled the state department today an outline of the desperate situation in the capital of Russia.

Secretary Root refused to make Mr. Eddy's dispatch public.

It is known, however, that Mr. Eddy referred to the necessity of taking steps to protect Americans now in St. Petersburg.

It is known that there are forty Americans in St. Petersburg, including J. Pierpont Morgan Jr. and George D. Perkins.

It is believed Mr. Eddy asked for authority to charter a steamer and moor it in the River Neva under the American flag, to serve as a refuge for Americans in case of last resort.

As to the hoisting of the American flag over a ship moored in the Neva river, that would be a grave step which this government would hesitate to take. In case the Russian bureaucracy should be able to suppress the present movement it would be disposed to hold this country responsible for an act which would be humiliating and would certainly affect Russian credit abroad.

The situation will have to become more serious before Secretary Root will countenance such a step.

In the opinion of naval authorities it would be preferable to order the Minneapolis, now in Italian waters, to Cronstadt. The appearance of this ship on a friendly visit could not be regarded as offensive.

Russia's Loss of Prestige.

The internal condition of Russia has placed the government of the czar in an embarrassing situation at home and abroad. It is the view of farsighted observers in Washington, based on official dispatches received here, that the czar can no longer delay practical political concessions of great magnitude. In order to preserve her position in the European concert and in the Balkans it is necessary that Russia shall participate with the other powers in the proposed naval demonstration against Turkey. Such a participation at this time is impossible, in view of the fact that there are no vessels flying the Russian flag in the Mediterranean, and the crews of the ships in the Black Sea fleet are in a state of discontent bordering on mutiny which does not warrant the government in sending them far from home.

To the American mind the most significant development of the situation is the formation of a provisional government in Moscow, the original capital of the empire, towards which all true Russians look, ready to take control of affairs when the moment for action arrives. Among Russians, however, no such view prevails. To them the most important aspect of the situation is the way in which popular sentiment upholds the strikers. Never before in the history of the empire has there been such a unanimous approval of the action of the employés in demanding an improvement in their condition of life.

This unanimity is more impressive because the strike began with the employés of the railroads, which are owned and operated by the government, and therefore is directed against the government.

Denies Provisional Government.

"The formation of the so-called provisional government," said a prominent Russian in Washington today, "has no importance. Who could form such a government? The liberals? But to do anything of that kind would be to declare themselves revolutionists and by so doing they would lose the support of a great number of influential people who believe in evolution and not revolution. If a provisional government has been formed you may depend upon it the revolutionists have announced an organization of that kind. There is such a strong military force in Moscow, however, that it will not have a chance to begin administration. I am satisfied the emperor will grant concessions, and that this time, instead of decrees filled with glittering generalities, there will be a rescript issued giving the people a real participation in government."

Prince Hilkoff, minister of ways and communications, who has direct charge of railroad affairs, is one of the strongest opponents of constitutional reforms for Russia, and this is one reason, perhaps, why he has not been able to hold the railroad employés in check. A short time ago he said he knew that many people believed the Russian people required a constitution, but to his mind this was premature. "Long residence in constitutional countries has convinced me," he continued, "that it does not everywhere respond to the requirements of the country. In Russia, especially, it would not meet conditions—people are in various stages of development, a vast majority are without even the elements of education. The nation also suffers from caste distinctions, which are among the greatest obstacles to the introduction of a constitution, while many nationalities, such as the Poles, Finns, Jews, Circassians, Armenians, etc., would have a special body of laws. What we need first of all is equality of all citizens, such as the emperor proposes. When that is assured other requirements and the eventual form of the government will become clear."

Cannot Stem the Tide.

This statement is worth recalling at this time because it represents the governmental view and the view of the conservatives, who have found it useless to try to stem the tide that is running so strongly for revolutionary reforms in the administration of the empire. The view of the liberals naturally is that Prince Hilkoff has not gone far enough. They not only want equality of all citizens but liberty of conscience, of the press, of public meeting, and the organization of a permanent representative assembly, which shall have the power to make laws, authorize the collection of revenue and expenditures for governmental administration, and which shall also supervise the acts of the government ministers. Equality of citizens has not been accorded, there is no liberty of conscience or of press, the threatening attitude of the people during the last few days alone has insured the possibility of freedom for public meeting, and the so-called representative assembly, the douma, which was granted by the czar, is so plainly a farce that it has deceived no one.

People Now in Earnest.

Information received here shows the temper of the people now is to continue the policy of demanding reforms, for the experience of the past has proven that patient suffering has absolutely no effect in curing the glaring defects in administration. Moreover, the declaration of martial law, which has occurred in some provinces and many districts, establishes an abnormal condition which is pressing gravely upon the people who never participated in the movement for political freedom. Military officers have been guilty of arbitrary acts of violence in cases devoid of political importance. This condition, which has such unhappy consequences, is responsible for the demand that there must be no infringement of individual rights, save in consequence of legal judgment pronounced by an independent judiciary.

The upheaval in Russia is a never ending matter of comment in official and diplomatic circles, first, because of the value of foreign, including American, interests in the empire; and, secondly, because of the effect of Russia's weakness as a power upon the international situation. The Turkish question, which has assumed fresh seriousness because of the failure of the sultan to execute faithfully the Macedonian reforms, has an added importance, because its solution will demonstrate to the world the right of the Slav government to be considered in the settlement of delicate European problems. By clever diplomacy Russia and Austria became the dominant powers in the Balkans in 1897, receiving a mandate from the European concert to deal with that explosive question.

Change in Russian Policy.

A European diplomat today described the policy of Russia in connection with the Balkan question as follows:

"A great change has occurred in this policy since 1877. Before then the mission of the Russian empire was believed to be the extension of Russian power to Constantinople, and to embrace under the rule of the czar all the Slavs of Turkey. It has since been discovered that the result of Russia's action in forcing war upon Turkey was to create Slav republics, which have become a source of what is regarded in St. Petersburg as the most dangerous malady from which Russia can suffer.

"It may be safely stated now that the sympathies of the emperor are not with the Slav republics nor with self-governments, but with the sultan. This has made it possible for Russia to act honestly in cooperating with Austria to prevent any diminution of the sultan's authority.

"The old panslavic enthusiasm of 1877 is dead in official circles. The result of this is to make an understanding with Austria, and, consequently, with Germany, an easy matter. It is based upon the maintenance of the status quo and the suppression of all revolutionary movements. The second result has given a different direction to the aggressive impulse of Russian monarchy. It has been a maxim for the last hundred years that Russia must either be aggressive or revolutionary. The outlet to southeastern Europe being closed, Russia turned to the far east. The outlet to the far east being closed, Russia is turned upon herself, and this is one of the causes of the existing internal situation."

Russian Prestige at Stake.

It is evident that Russia, in any event, would be reluctant to take part in the proposed demonstration, but she must do so in order to maintain her position in the European concert. It is believed that France and Germany will join in advising a postponement of this action. Great Britain and Italy will want to have the demonstration occur without delay in order more strongly to impress upon the sultan the fact that the powers are in earnest in their intention to have Macedonian reforms faithfully observed. Turkey is less concerned as the result of Russia's helplessness than she would otherwise be, as while she has no navy her ports are well protected by fortifications, and the powers will not go to the extent of landing troops. Russia has been the one power which could do most harm to Turkey, and with that government no longer a possible adversary of overwhelming strength, the sultan can afford, in the opinion of diplomats here, to adopt an attitude of apparent indifference in the hope of obtaining concessions from the powers.

Dispatches the next few days will be watched with keen interest here, because they will show whether Russia's weakness will be recognized officially by the remaining powers of Europe in a determination to postpone the demonstration against the wicked porte.

NOBLEMAN DIES FOR ACTRESS.

The curious are drawn there like moths to a candle, and the sidewalks are thronged, while the government clerks scurry along the roadway, threading their way through the infantry and cavalry patrols.

Streets Forbidding and Deserted.

Although electric light has been restored in some sections, the streets are dark, forbidding, and deserted by all save the patrols. Occasionally fires are kindled by janitors in the middle of the streets, which gleam red and smoky in the deep October darkness.

A train arrived tonight from Germany in charge of a railroad battalion, having been four days covering the distance from the frontier.

Many meetings were held tonight in various quarters of the city, at which the workmen, encouraged by the success of the movement, were in a jubilant and confident spirit. The better classes, as a rule, are keeping closely to their houses.

Ruled by Invisible Hand.

The government and the liberals are at a loss to know who is the contriving brain behind the great strike. The directing hand is invisible, though its workings are plainly evident.

It is thought the strike may have been directed from Switzerland or Germany and executed here through the social democratic organization in which representatives of the workmen and the students are equally active.

The organization is able to sway the great student body through its student members and everywhere today the students were seen mingling with the workmen and taking an active part in their movement.

The people are extremely nervous and bordering on panic and are easy victims of every sensational rumor. Among countless baseless reports, which received credence today, were that the emperor had embarked on a vessel and fled to Denmark; that Gen. Trepoff had been killed by a bomb, and that Vice Admiral Birileff had been assassinated by mutineers in the Black sea.

Only One Cable Working.

With a strike in the government postoffice tonight, communication with the interior practically ceased. Government troops were placed in the government telegraph office but only a few lines are working. Many lines, including the land lines to the continent and to Libau, where they connect with the cable, have been cut. At 10 o'clock, however, the cable by way of Nystad and Sweden was still open. This is now the only thread connecting Russia with the outer world.

Admiral Durnovo, superintendent of posts and telegraphs, told the representative of a European power this afternoon that he could not tell how long cable communication with the continent would last.

Foreigners Ready for Flight.

The foreign embassies have discussed the situation, but have as yet taken no steps regarding the safety of foreign residents. As a precaution the state department at Washington has been requested to confer authority for the charter of a vessel and to hoist on it the American flag as a refuge for Americans.

The negotiations for a new loan will be formally adjourned tomorrow, as neither the government nor the bankers are prepared to close the negotiations while the present situation continues.

J. Pierpont Morgan Jr. and George W. Perkins are negotiating with the Hamburg-American Steamship company for the dispatch of a vessel to take them off in case of necessity.

The university, the polytechnic institute, and all educational institutions were closed today so as to prevent further meetings being held in them. The university is surrounded by troops, who blocked all adjacent streets, and the students were kept inside.

Government Is Powerless.

Such news as comes from the interior shows no improvement in the situation. The government everywhere seems powerless to break the political strike.

At Kharkoff order was restored only after the governor had formally instructed the troops not to fire, and upon the demand of the "black heads" at Reval the soldiers were sent out of that city and the place left in charge of a local militia which had been organized by the citizens.

Strikers Without Funds.

The strikers apparently are without funds and must soon be exhausted, as was made evident by the action of the strike committee here practically being forced to hold up the city for food.

A drive through all sections of the city shows troops were everywhere in evidence as if to overawe the people, but although there were many rumors of bloody collisions, none of them could be authenticated. There were great crowds of workmen in the industrial quarters, but their behavior was orderly.

All military reserves are kept closely in barracks under arms, and at the horse guards barracks back of Gen. Trepoff's chancellery, the horses are kept constantly saddled, ready to emerge at a moment's notice.

One Train Gets Through.

A train bringing English travelers arrived here tonight. It left Eydtkuhnen, on the German frontier, on Thursday afternoon. The passengers state that the wayside stations were choked with stranded trains. No troops were guarding the tracks. Many stranded passengers were embarked en route.

A train load of returning reservists is stranded near Dvinsk. The men were without food and money, and the passengers subscribed funds for them to get food with.

The passengers with difficulty obtained a driver for an engine. They were obliged to bribe him heavily.

CHURCH AUDIENCE CHEERS FOR UPRISING IN RUSSIA.

Service Conducted by Chicago Peace Society Arouses Enthusiasm for Proposition to Abolish Armies.

The Chicago Peace society conducted the service last night at the Centenary Methodist church. When Mrs. H. W. Thomas, wife of the president of the local peace society, in opening the program, waved a salute to the success of the Russian revolutionists and exclaimed in a loud voice, "I hope they will win," the audience responded with hand clapping and cheers. Mrs. Thomas explained that the motive of organizing peace societies is to federate them permanently into a more perfect world organization.

Mr. Shimsu, the Japanese consul, talked a few minutes on the international peace movement. After reviewing the recent war, he said:

"I congratulate you on having at the head of this nation a man who is for peace, a man so noble and Christianlike as Theodore Roosevelt."

Dr. Thomas, president of the society, spoke on the possibilities of an international peace congress. In his argument to do away with warfare, armies, and navies, he said a single modern United States battleship, which is supposed to last thirteen years, costs more than all the buildings of Harvard university, and it costs $40,000,000 more every year to maintain the United States standing army than it costs to maintain all the public schools in this country. Dr. Thomas outlined an original plan for an international peace congress and court. His plan is for all nations of the world to select a "supreme court," to settle all disputes between nations and with power to enforce its orders.

JEROME SWORN TO INSURANCE FIGHT

M'CLELLAN STOCK SOARING

Speculators Predict Betting on Wigwam's Candidate Will Go to 6 to 1 Early This Week.

New York, Oct. 29.—[Special.]—District Attorney Jerome announced tonight that if re-elected he would apply to the board of estimates of New York City for money to retain Charles E. Hughes as special counsel to prosecute the insurance men if any were found criminally guilty. In a statement which he issued Mr. Jerome said:

"If reelected district attorney of this county I shall go to the board of estimate and apportionment and ask a special appropriation which will enable me to retain Charles E. Hughes as special counsel.

"I will then turn over the ordinary routine of office to my chief of staff and I will devote all my own time and that of as many of my assistants as may be necessary to assisting Mr. Hughes in prosecuting each and every person in connection with the insurance scandals who may have done anything to bring them within the reach of the criminal law."

Jerome Stirs Church Meeting.

The Church of the Epiphany, Madison avenue and Sixty-fourth street, was crowded from pulpit to door today by people who had come to lyisten to Mr. Jerome. To be sure, the Rev. Dr. R. C. MacArthur and the Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peter both said that Mr. Jerome was there not as a candidate but as a citizen; but Mr. Jerome said he was an outward sign and symbol of the fight for American independence, a cause holy and righteous as any which could be brought to the hearts of good people in a good place.

There was a quality in the atmosphere of meeting, which is almost never found in political meetings. Mr. Jerome and the two ministers had joined in asking that everybody refrain from everything in the nature of applause or cheer or stir. There was never an audience which was more moved to cheer. And the pentup enthusiasm and emotion, working inwardly, brought about a tensity of feeling throughout the proceeding which made one feel as though the air were full of lightning.

When Jerome entered the room and again when he concluded the audience rose and stood.

McClellan Stock Soaring.

Indications are that Mayor McClellan's stock is going to rise sharply this week. The betting odds began to stiffen a bit yesterday, closing a shade higher than the day before. But that is nothing to what speculators expect if McClellan's friends can be believed. There was talk today that the odds would go to 6 to 1 in a short time.

Aside from what partisans say, McClellan is unmistakably gaining day by day. The big massmeeting in Carnegie hall last night had a wonderfully stimulating effect on the campaign. The place was jammed, and the audience went wild over the mayor, cheering him for fifteen minutes. On top of this there were given out today letters from citizens of all parties, and no party at all, pledging their support to McClellan. Never before, in many years at least, has a Tammany candidate received open support of this character. Among the writers were men prominent in every walk of life, lawyers, doctors, artists, and architects being among the rest. Most of them supported Low in 1903, but they declare they have been won over to McClellan by the high character of his administration.

Wins Over Low Supporters.

One of the arguments used often against the mayor is the fact that he signed the Remsen gas grab bill. Now his managers have come out with exhaustive explanation of his action, in which it is asserted the bill conferred no new rights on the Consolidated Gas company, but merely confirmed the rights in public streets which the corporation already possessed. This is the view of the matter taken by practically every prominent lawyer who has studied it. Nevertheless the issue was used with telling effect against McClellan, although no Hearst orator has yet been heard to state specifically just what new franchises or other favors the gas company would gain had the bill not been vetoed by Gov. Odell.

Anti-Hearst Flags Swamp Broadway.

Broadway is beginning to fill up with American flags, most of them bearing legends unfavorable to Hearst. The presence of so many of them is accounted for by the fact that a few nights ago a band of anarchists favorable to Hearst paraded streets on the east side carrying nothing but red flags.

But Hearst is not a bit discouraged, although his managers have been loudly claiming a big vote among business men since the campaign started. The Hearst forces are going to turn themselves loose this week. They promise to stir up the town as it was never stirred before. They are going to hold meetings in all the boroughs every night, and the amount of red fire that will be burned scarcely can be estimated.

The campaign, which has been a pretty solemn affair up to date, is beginning to develop some faint signs of humor. At a Hearst meeting last night while a candidate was speaking he asked impressively:

"What is the one thing that we of this great community are suffering most from at the present time?"

He paused and there was deep silence.

"Bedbugs," said a man in the gallery, and the speaker hurried to another topic.

At a McClellan meeting Controller Grout referred to the other two candidates for mayor as two promising Williams.

To Prevent Corrupt Voting.

With the object of preventing corrupt practices at elections in this state, an association has been formed with headquarters in this city and at the next session of the legislature a bill governing the matter will be presented and an organized effort made to obtain its passage. The organization is known as the "association to prevent corrupt practices at elections."

Former Mayor Seth Low of this city is chairman and William Church Osborn is the secretary and treasurer. The members of the executive committee besides these men are: Gherardi Davis, James R. Sheffield, D-Cady Herrick, William Williams, Francis B. Harrison, William S. Bennett, Charles H. Young, Edward M. Shepard, Robert Grier, Monroe, Herbert Parsons, John G. Milburn, John Hill Morgan, and M. Warley Platzek.

would assist a Mississippi banker to restore a fine overcoat to its owner.

Mr. Clifton R. Sykes, Pres. of the First National Bank of Aberdeen, Miss., writes: "Returning on the Illinois Central Ry., I met in the Pullman car a party of gentlemen en route to their homes in the South. On changing cars at Durant, Miss., I took for my own what I now find to be an expensive beaver overcoat with the Gibbons label. I am much disturbed. Would like to return it to its owner. Could you tell me to whom it belongs?"

On account of the excellence of our clothes and the exclusiveness of our styles, this clothes shop is now recognized by bankers, professional men and the better class of merchants visiting Chicago as the place to buy really fine clothes. It is quite impossible to keep track of all we sell. If our patron who lost his coat see this, please communicate with Mr. Sykes. Clothes ready to wear, $20 to $50.

RATE CONGRESS EVIDENCE READY

Roosevelt to Hear of Railroads' Alleged Efforts to "Pack" Meeting.

ASKS PEOPLE TO JUDGE.

Executive Committee of Convention in Statement Defends Its Acts.

When President Roosevelt receives the resolutions indorsing his stand on rate regulation, adopted by the interstate commerce law convention, he will be told of the alleged efforts of the railroads to prevent the adoption of the measures. S. H. Cowan of Texas, who will leave the city today, says he has a mass of evidence tending to show that the transportation interests tried to "pack" the convention in Steinway hall last week.

This the notification committee will take to Washington when the president is advised of the indorsement of his policy. On the notification committee with Mr. Cowan are W. E. Hughes and Murdo MacKenzie of Colorado, S. E. Burnett of Texas, W. R. Higbie of New York, and Joseph H. Hall of California.

Mr. Cowan was enthusiastic yesterday on the result of the convention. He said he expected the house of representatives to support the president. State organizations will be formed and pledges will be sought from the congressmen.

Committee Issues Statement.

The executive committee of the convention during the day gave out a statement explaining the origin of the movement. Because of the efforts of the railroads to capture the meeting and prevent it from accomplishing the purposes for which it was called, it is told, only delegates who would agree to the declaration of principles in the call were admitted.

The statement follows:

"It is doubtless due to the public that some express statement be made of the facts leading up to and which furnish the occasion for the position taken by the executive committee of the interstate commerce law convention.

"The name was given to a convention held at St. Louis in 1900, the object of which was to bring closer in unison numerous shipping and commercial organizations in their efforts to secure such amendments to the interstate commerce law as would result in giving to the commission enough power at least to correct a rate which it found upon investigation to be wrong.

"It was thought that the expenses of the effort would be much less if the several organizations desiring this amendment to the law would act together. That meeting resulted in appointing a committee of the organizations which met to carry on the work. The committee selected E. P. Bacon of Milwaukee as its chairman, and proceeded in as inexpensive a way as possible to call to the public attention some of the abuses of railway transportation which needed correction.

Would Give Commission Power.

"The convention and the committee thought that the simple method of giving to the commission the power to correct the rate, which it was supposed to possess up to a short time previous to the date mentioned, would be sufficient, and did not apprehend serious objection upon the part of the railroads generally to conferring such power on the commission.

"Up to that time it had not been charged that the commerce commission was a menace to the public safety. Repeated efforts before congress had the effect at least to develop the fact that the power of the railroads to prevent any legislation not desired by them had grown to such proportions that the ordinary citizen had but poor opportunity to get a respectful hearing upon such a proposition.

"After Theodore Roosevelt became president, and after numerous rate advances in various parts of the country, believing that a more powerful effort must be made if anything was done, the executive committee of the law convention in 1904 called a general meeting of commercial, shipping, and producing organizations to meet at St. Louis Oct. 28, 1904.

Begin Active Agitation.

"Recognizing the honesty and capability of Mr. Bacon, he again was appointed chairman. Within the limit of such moderate funds as were provided for the purpose, the work was carried on at Washington before the committees and otherwise by the distribution of literature, and by laying before the public the necessity of remedial rate legislation as well as presenting the matter to congressmen and senators.

"The result of no legislation, the untiring efforts of railway interests and of those who received some advantage or other in the matter of their frieght rates to mold or affect public sentiment led the executive committee to make inquiry of various organizations touching the propriety of calling another convention. This was to provide the means of carrying on the work and to renew the demands concerning legislation as outlined in President Roosevelt's message and in his subsequent public utterances. Generally the replies were favorable. The convention was called to meet at Chicago.

Railroads "Get Busy."

"We expected that the railroads would attempt to discourage organizations from sending delegates. But we were astonished to learn only a short time before the date of the convention that the attempt was being made to secure enough delegates opposed to the principles and reasons for the call to vote down any resolutions favoring the legislation as outlined by the president to increase the powers of the commission. It was beyond our desire thus to fall into such ambuscade.

"In order to avoid such a calamity and in order to hold a convention which would afford the opportunity to speak our views, we were put to the regrettable necessity of requiring that all those who attended as delegates must subscribe to the principles contained in the call of Chairman Bacon and in the message of the president quoted therein.

"It was far from the intention of the executive committee to exclude any one who entertained those views. It was the intention of the committee to exclude only those who opposed those views. The committee now invites the active cooperation of every one who is in accord with the resolutions adopted at Steinway hall on Oct. 27, indorsing President Roosevelt's views respecting the needed amendments to the interstate commerce act.

"While the committee does not invite or desire to provoke the criticism of those who do not hold to those views, it does not expect and did not expect their aid.

Regarding "Gag Rule" Charge.

"Much has been charged against the executive committee, but mainly that it applied 'gag' rule and throttled 'free speech.' To this it pleads that, in order to afford 'free speech,' it was necessary to exclude those who themselves would have applied the equivalent of 'gag' rule by capturing the convention.

"The executive committee, having performed its duty, appeals to the public to stand by the principles of railroad rate regulation as demanded and outlined by President Roosevelt and the resolutions as adopted by the law convention.

"The method which the president proposes is simple. The machinery of the law exists; it simply needs the power, the strengthening of its weak points. That is what we advocate; that is what the opposition does not want. Let not those who are opposed to practical, speedy regulations dictate the law or the plan to secure it, lest when you are expecting bread you receive a stone.

"You can afford to stand firmly by the position of a president who has the moral courage to lead you, coupled with the judgment and honesty not to lead you astray.

"Let the public render its verdict."

"J. HAM LEWIS" A BLOOM.

WONDERFUL NEW CHRYSANTHEMUM LIKE PINK WHISKERS.

It Will Be Exhibited at Flower Show in Coliseum Next Month—Impervious to Frost, but Needs Continuous Supply of Light, Wilting Quickly if Left in Shade for Only a Short Time—Of Large Size and Surprisingly Little Weight.

A surprise is in store for the artistic and flower loving portion of Chicago. It is the "J. Ham Lewis," a new and wonderful chrysanthemum named in honor of the corporation counsel by an exhibiter who has been inspired by faith in his ability to reproduce the colonel's whiskers in the shape of a flower.

He has succeeded, if preliminary announcements may be believed, and has ready for exhibition at the flower show, Nov. 7, in the Coliseum, a bloom which, at a little distance, can be mistaken easily for Mr. Lewis in repose. At first this local Burbank thought he could get the best results from a sunflower, but this idea was abandoned quickly in favor of the chrysanthmum.

The horticulturist found inspiration in the name itself. Chrysanthemum, he found, means "gold flower" in Greek—"chrusos," gold, and "anthemon," flower. This fitted with his conception of Mr. Lewis' whiskers. He felt confident that if the Greeks had seen them they, in their poetic fancy, would have dubbed the luxuriant cluster "gold flower." This treat, unfortunately for the Greeks, was denied them. They had all that Phidias could do, but they never saw Mr. Lewis.

Athens' Loss Chicago's Gain.

What was Athens' loss is Chicago's gain. It was apparent, however, that the flower species originally had been named in honor of some transcendental individual of whom Col. J. Ham is the fifty-seventh variety or reincarnation, and that credit, belated as it came, still was due to the descendant of the original whiskers which had given the name "gold flower" to the bloom.

The product of this horticulturist's vision and fancy is peculiar in that its petals seem to be parted in the middle toward the base line of the bloom. They are convoluted somewhat and suggest, in a reminiscent sort of way, the careful morning gardening of an experienced horticultural valet.

Some curious horticultural facts have been revealed by a study of the new chrysanthemum. It is impervious to frost, but it cannot be left in the shade. It must have light streaming on it all day, and at night it has been found necessary to train on it the rays of a calcium. Otherwise it droops visibly on its stalk. It has been found that if it be placed in a shadow at any time it wilts away.

Great Size; Small Weight.

In size the new bloom is remarkable, but the observer is astonished on lifting it to find it light as a feather.

The exhibiter wishes to present Mayor Dunne with a specimen of the flower in bloom to be kept on the window sill of his office in the city hall, believing that with the inspiration which could be derived from it the mayor would be able to frame a municipal ownership proposition which would be acceptable to the city council.

He also believes that his new flower will have considerable vogue at afternoon teas and receptions, but does not anticipate its finding favor with coarse persons who frequent football fields.

In the city hall, as far as the rumor of the new bloom has permeated, anxiety has been caused. Whenevr anything like an aurora borealis has been seen in the corridors the employés have given the military salute, but with the introduction of a chrysanthemum which looks like the colonel they anticipate embarrassing mistakes.

CHURCH WOMAN IS MISSING.

Mary Hill Leaves Home—Fails to Return—Two Weeks' Search Is Futile.

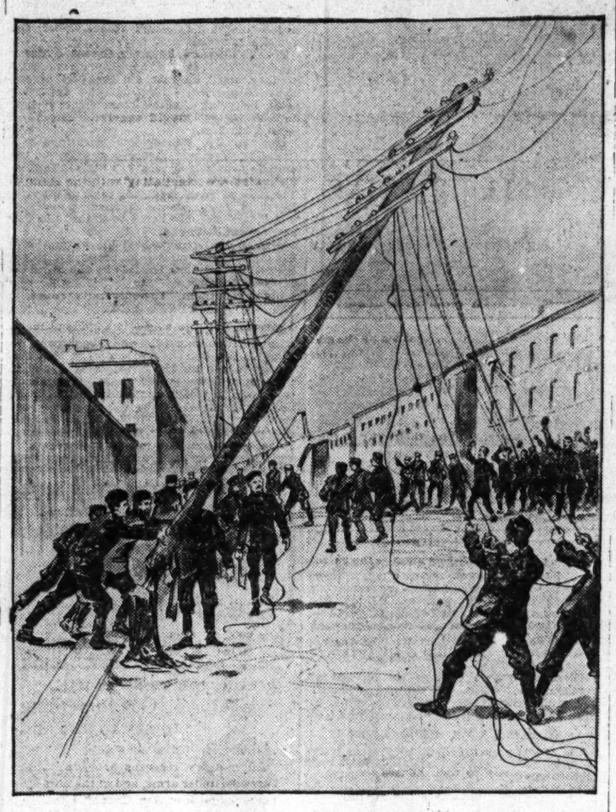

Mary Hill, 35 years old, has disappeared, and the circumstances are puzzling the police. Capt. Stephen Healy of the Chicago avenue police station, was appealed to last night by friends who are convinced Miss Hill is still in the city. She was a member of the choir at Moody's Chicago avenue church.

The missing woman, who lived at 244 Ohio street, was seen last two weeks ago when she left her boarding house, saying she would return in a few minutes.

A woman, supposed to be demented and whose identity puzzled the police of the Harrison street station during the day, was identified late in the evening by attachés of the county hospital as a nurse employed at the hospital. Her name is Tena Higbie, and she is 30 years old. Under the name of Harriet Jones she took a room at the Young Woman's Christian association home.

TRIES TO KIDNAP HIS BABY; FIRES SHOT AT ITS MOTHER.

When Resisted in Attempt to Take Child Alexander Jannsen Attempts to Kill Wife Whom He Deserted.

Alexander Jannsen, 23 years old, who deserted his wife a year ago, returned yesterday from St. Louis and attempted to kidnap his child from the residence of Mrs. Mary Griffin, his wife's mother, 461 Fairfield avenue. When frustrated in an attempt to kidnap the child he shot at his wife. The bullet grazed Mrs. Jannsen's head, inflicting a slight flesh wound, and buried itself in the side of the wall.

After Jannsen left his wife she went to live with her mother and the two women earned their living by scrubbing in the large office buildings downtown. Mrs. Jannsen's baby girl was born several months ago. When her husband learned of its birth, it is said, he wrote to his wife that he intended to kidnap the child and that he would kill her if she refused to give up the baby.

The child was lying asleep in a basket on a chair when Jannsen entered the room. Mrs. Jannsen screamed and ran to seize her baby when her husband shot her and fled. The police were notified and a search by detectives was begun.

"HONK," "HONK" OF AN AUTO ATTRACTS FLOCK OF GEESE.

Feathery Tribe Swoops Down on the Riders at Call of the Horn—Two of Birds Killed.

New York, Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Dr. Walter O. Goldmann crossed to the Pennsylvania ferry tonight with two wild geese in an automobile, conscious that he had run the risk of being held by the rapacious game wardens of Jersey City for hunting on Sunday, but feeling secure in the knowledge that he could put up a good defense, as it was not himself but the automobile that killed the geese.

He was speeding at the top of a hill just after dark, tooting his horn, when he heard an answering honk, and saw something rushing toward him through the air. "Duck," he shouted to his companions, and they ducked, as a flock of Canadian geese swept over the machine. One of the headlights was smashed.

When Mr. Goldmann went back to look for his hat he found two geese in the road. They were genuine wild geese, with black heads and white throats, and weighed about twelve pounds each.

A similar accident was narrowly avoided Tuesday night by a flock of geese which were attracted by Aaron Whiteley's automobile near Caldwell. In that case the geese got away, after giving the colored driver a scare.

THREE ARRESTED AT A WAKE.

Police Report Condemns as Insanitary a House Said to Belong to Mrs. Hetty Green.

A wake over the 2 year old daughter of Henry Flemming, who died of diphtheria Saturday night in the so-called "House of Blazes," 4656 Butler street, was disturbed last night by the police, who arrested Mrs. Bridget Sheehan and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ryan, because neighbors complained of the noise.

After making the arrests the police learned that diphtheria had existed in the Flemming family for more than a week, that four of the children are now ill, but no trace of the disease has yet appeared in the families of other tenants.

The police say the house, which is reported to belong to Mrs. Hetty Green of New York, is in such an insanitary condition that precautions will have to be taken to prevent a spread of disease.

BOTH DIE WITHIN AN HOUR

AGED INVALID WIFE KILLED BY SHOCK OF HUSBAND'S DEATH.

Thomas F. Moran, 70 Years Old, Expires Suddenly from Paralysis, and Life of Sick Woman, Whom He Had Nursed for Years, Ebbs Out When the News Is Told to Her—Both Will Be Buried Today at Double Funeral.

Mount Carmel Roman Catholic church, at Wellington and Blucher streets, will be the scene of a singular double funeral this morning.

The death of Thomas F. Moran at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, and that of his wife an hour later, in their little flat at 1436 Wellington street, just across the way from the church, where they had worshiped together for so many years, has aroused a wide sympathy and interest in the Irish colony of the far north side.

"Tom" Moran and his wife were well known, and their friends are willing to believe that when the "old man," as he was known familiarly, died from a sudden stroke of paralysis, his frail little wife did not care to live any longer. Even the doctor admits it was the "shock" that killed her.

Wife an Invalid for Years.

The couple had lived in the neighborhood for ten years. Mr. Moran was 70 years of age, and had taken no active part in business for several years. His wife was an invalid and was confined to her bed and had to have a nurse a good deal of the time, but her best and kindest nurse, so the neighbors say, was her husband. He was in the habit of saying that he "never had had a sick day in his life."

On Friday night Mr. Moran "did not feel well," but he got up early Saturday morning, as was his custom, and built the fires in the house. About 5:30 o'clock the "stroke" came. Half an hour later he was dead, with no chance to say good-by.

Mrs. Moran was weak and ill. She inquired for her husband as soon as she was awake. She seemed to feel a presentiment of something wrong. They tried to keep the truth from her, but it was useless, and when she learned it she turned her face to the wall and appeared to sink into a semi-conscious condition. Joseph, the eldest son, was sent to the drug store to get some medicine, but when he returned he found it was not needed. Life ebbed with the minutes and one hour after her husband's death, Mary Moran crossed the river, too.

Neighbors Come to Lend Aid.

And so the neighbors wondered. They did not inquire too closely into the wonderful affection that had made life useless to the woman without the man, but they crowded the little parlor and the space that was not filled with the two coffins and huge banks of flowers was taken by friends who tried to comfort the four children.

After the funeral at 10 o'clock in the morning the burial will be at Joliet.

FIRE PLATOON IS SHIFTED.

First Week of Test of New System for Department Said to Be Barren of Results.

The first week of the double platoon test in the fire department ended yesterday noon, and officials said it was barren of results. Of the four fires to which the truck and engine companies responded, only one was of any consequence, and it was extinguished after a nominal loss.

The first shift of the men in the double platoon was made at noon. Capt. T. Hackett of truck No. 6, succeeding Capt. McAuliff, who is now in command of the day force. Lieut. Bassett, who for three years has fought for the two-shift system, was placed in charge of the members of engine No. 40.

It is conceded by officers and privates throughout the department that not until a large fire is responded to by the double platoon men will the effect of the test be shown.

RIVAL SUITORS HURT IN FIGHT.

Edward Schmettue and Joseph Puchner Are in Hospital as Result of Battle.

Edward Schmettue and Joseph Puchner, rival suitors for the hand of Mrs. E. F. May, 678 Wells street, fought a fist duel and as a result both of them are in the Alexian Brothers' hospital. The men were severely beaten. When they leave the hospital they will be compelled to appear in the Chicago avenue police court to answer to charges of disorderly conduct. Schmettue and Puchner met each other in the hallway of the home of Mrs. May. Angry words passed and in a short time the men were struggling on the floor. Both rolled down the stairs and were still fighting when a policeman stopped them.

POLITICS SOURCE OF MONEY 'TAINT.'

Dr. Emil G. Hirsch Declares Responsibility Rests with State Legislatures.

FREE CHURCHES OF BLAME

Student Debaters Assert Wealth Becomes "Unclean" Only by Use to Which It Is Put.

Tainted money—what it is, its origin, and the uses by which it acquires the taint—was discussed yesterday by a pastor and by debating clubs. The pastor, Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, declared that the state legislatures were the original source of tainted money, and through their avarice the taint had spread to the great corporations. In opposition to this sentiment the debating clubs declared that the "taint" came from the use to which the money was put. One speaker insisted that the money of a small clerk could be "tainted" as much as that of the head of a great corporation.

Dr. Hirsch, in his sermon before the Sinai congregation in the morning, branded members of the legislature as a "pack of wolves whose ravenous appetites have to be satisfied by the great corporations."

"Our legislatures," he said, "are thoroughly incompetent, and the money has become tainted from the necessity of satisfying the ravenous demand of the grafters and politicians, whose creed is 'to the victor belong the spoils.'"

Corporations Are Made Victims.

"The capitalistic system naturally devolves itself into a socialistic system. Wealth has to prepare to meet the demands of the blackmailers. Like a man starting out on a journey through Siberia who takes along a calf to throw at the wolves so they may fight among themselves for the carcass and allow him to escape, so our corporations must make provision to stay the ravenous appetite of such a pack of wolves as we send to the capital city.

"'Who is responsible?' you ask. I reply we all are! Had we sent the right kind of men to represent us it would not be necessary for the corporations to buy what they want.

"The time has come for these combinations, and you must face the situation as it is. The patriarch age of industry lies behind us. Capital has had to become impersonal. The trusts had to come."

Law Students Tell of "Taint."

Tainted money was finally and definitely "O. K.'d" in the afternoon by the affirmative side of two law student debating societies. The result followed scenes of confusion, in which class yells, college songs, and other boisterous conduct shocked the judges.

The audience in Kimball hall was composed of 200 young persons, mostly law students and girls. In the debate Laurence A. Cohen of the Northwestern university and Harry A. Berger of Lake Forest represented the Polemics and had the affirmative side. The negative was taken by Emil A. Zolla and Julius J. Herzog of the De Trop club.

Criticises Conduct Severely.

A display of bills for betting purposes on the platform just before the judges gave their decision was criticised severely by Elias Mayer, who acted as spokesman for the three judges.

"This display of money," said he, "indicates that it is not entirely restricted to men in charge of large commercial interests, but is in the hands of young men working on salaries, who taint it by the uses they put it to. I have been impressed with the debate, but I have not been so much impressed with the conduct of the young men and women. This is Sunday and you should have had some respect for the day."

The points made in the debate included:

It is a violation of the obligations of the church to refuse to accept money which can be employed for the betterment of mankind.

The church has no right to declare your money stolen before the courts have passed upon it.

Henry M. Shahad and Michael Gesses were the other two judges.

Reports That Salvation Army Leader Is Suffering from Appendicitis Denied—Only in Need of Rest.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—What was to have been a great jubilee meeting here today by the Salvation army was turned into a gathering of almost funeral like tendencies by the announcement that Commander Eva Tucker, who was to have been the principal speaker, had become ill when about to leave New York for Baltimore. Col. Peart supplemented the information with a statement that her physician had been in almost constant attendance, and, while he hoped that her illness would not prove serious, would not allow her to leave her bed. Reports that she was ill with appendicitis were denied, and it was said that she was merely greatly fatigued and in need of rest.

ROASTS MUTUAL LIFE TACTICS.

Former Candidate for Congress in Wisconsin Surmises Own Money Was Used to Defeat Him.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Ald. N. C. Bachellor, democratic member in the La Crosse common council, has sent a letter of protest to Bruce Whitney of this city, general agent of the Mutual Life, strongly condemning the methods of the big eastern insurance companies as revealed by the investigation in progress. On the subject of campaign contributions Mr. Bachelier says:

"Regarding campaign contributions, I have a personal grievance. The Mutual appears to have been liberal to the republican campaign committee. In this connection let me say that I was the democratic nominee for congress in the Seventh Wisconsin district last fall against John J. Esch, republican, and I suppose some of my own money went to help defeat me and to help elect John Esch, who is, to the best of my knowledge, not insured in the Mutual at all.

"Must I contribute money to my own defeat and undoing because Mr. McCurdy wills it? Our confidence will not be restored until there are no longer any McCurdys at the helm."

TEDDY JR. HURT ON GRIDIRON.

Spectacular Tackle Made by Young Roosevelt in First Game Results in Slight Injury.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—It was learned today that Theodore Roosevelt Jr. was injured in the chest in the second half of the game between the Harvard freshmen and Worcester academy teams here yesterday, and obliged to retire. The fact that he left the game because he was injured was kept quiet. Jones, for the academy, had a clear field in the middle of the second half, with only Roosevelt between him and Harvard's goal posts. In one of the prettiest tackles of the game Roosevelt downed and kept him from scoring a touchdown, but was injured while doing it. He accompanied the squad back to Cambridge last night, and is at the academy tonight. His condition is not serious.

HARPER'S BOOK NEWS

The Debtor

Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, whose New England tales have touched the hearts of thousands of readers in a way that few books have, in this novel draws a hero of no common sort. His chequered career is appealingly portrayed. It is a searching study of character and also a well-told tale—told in the true Mary E. Wilkins style. There is here a love story of the most alluring type, while the unusual fortunes of "The Debtor" are sure to be followed with eager interest.

The Traveling Thirds

Gertrude Atherton has written no more captivating story than this. The Moultons resolve to include Spain in their European trip, even if they have to travel third class. The warm Spanish sunshine brings about a sort of love madness among them, and what would otherwise have proved a sedate romance flourishes in a most startling fashion. The climax is the most complete surprise of all. Altogether it is an unusually diverting story.

ENTERPRISE BANK FAILURE DECLARED WORST ON RECORD.

Creditors of Allegheny Institution May Realize Only 10 Cents on Dollar—Liabilities Exceed $3,500,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 29.—If every penny of the 100 per cent assessment against the stock of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny is paid, the depositors will not get more than 10 cents on the dollar. That is the opinion of the government officials at Washington to whom the corps of federal experts at work here on the bank's condition have reported.

Startling facts as to the extent of the failure have developed. The department officials brand it as the "worst wreck on record." Not only does it appear that every asset of the institution was borrowed or stolen, but that through the rehypothecation of notes and securities the bank owes in excess of everything it ever had.

Its assets of about $2,800,000 were completely wiped out. Just now the bank examiners of the controller of the currency's department and the legal experts of the national department of justice are endeavoring to ascertain how far beyond the reputed assets the bank wreckers went. For all they know the failure may exceed $3,500,000.

INSTINCTIVE ENVY PROMPTED LE DUC

RELIVE STIRRING HOURS.

Excited Villagers Crowd About Scene of Tragedy—Pall Hangs Over the Town.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Chenoa, Ill., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—With Murderer Le Duc safely lodged in the Bloomington jail the village passed a quiet Sunday in contemplation of the singular tragedy of yesterday in which Mayor Nickel and his friend, Hugh D. Jones, met death.

All day an ever shifting crowd of curious townspeople and strangers, attracted from Bloomington and Pontiac, surrounded the dismantled bank with its bullet riddled windows and blood stained floor. Mingling with the others the village leaders in the siege of the beleaguered murderer fought the scenes of the battle over again in detail.

In all the churches of the town the tragedy was the burden of morning sermons and in the German Lutheran church of which Mayor Nickel was a member, and the Congregational church with which Mr. Jones was identified, the expressions of grief in pulpit and pew were especially touching.

Mystery Still Unsolved.

Up the main street a little way from the bank a streamer of crêpe marked the house in which rested the body of the dead mayor and bank president. A block away another funeral streamer distinguished in similar manner the residence of the Jones family.

To the widow and children of the bank president the mystery of the motive for the murder is still unsolved.

"My husband and William always were good friends," said Mrs. Nickel, the sister of the murderer. "Of course lately William had been in trouble. He and his wife had separated and he had to raise money for a settlement on her. The money question worried him a good deal, I suppose, though no one thought he blamed my husband in any way.

"We just can't account for his awful deed. We think he must have been possessed."

No such mystification obsesses the minds of the bereaved family at the Jones residence. Jones was scarcely known to Le Duc. He merely happened to be transacting business in the bank when Le Duc started on his killing craze. To Mrs. Jones the murder of her husband was plainly the deed of a man who had run amuck like the crazed Malays whose language gave the word for the phenomenon.

Natural Psychological Outcome.

The more thoughtful observers see in the tragedy the working out of a simple psychological process. Imbued with all the passion and impetuosity of his French ancestry, and the boldness of a father who followed Garibaldi, Le Duc is after all a man of elementary mind.

Past 50 years of age, he had scarcely a misfortune in life until he quarreled with his wife and lost her. Making an easy going living on his little farm in this most fruitful section of Illinois, Le Duc passed his days hunting rabbits and prairie chickens and competing in pigeon and trap shooting contests.

Whether or not as the years turned round he began to grow jealous of his brother-in-law, the mayor and bank president, the coming of real trouble at last apparently turned his simple minded resentment in that direction.

Instinct Prompted Revenge.

Having once conceived a hatred for his prosperous relative his instinct prompted retaliation and revenge, and there was in his nature neither the reason nor the fear to restrain him from his deed. Brought up, as you might say, with a gun in his hand, his familiarity with weapons and his lack of intelligent realization of their power proved the major part of his undoing.

His impetuous nature urged him to the deed, and the instrument was, even at the thought, in his hand. It was to him such a little thing to pull the trigger and see men drop as dropped the pigeons in the trap shooting fests.

Out on the Le Duc farm little Ralph Christy, the 10 year old adopted child, now is left alone. When THE TRIBUNE correspondent drew up at the little farmhouse this morning the lad came running from the barn in his overalls. He took the key from behind the green shutter and opened the house.

Lad Will Stay at Farm.

"I've got to stay here and look after things," he said manfully. "Where's dad now? In jail? That's awful, isn't it? O, I don't see why he did it. I never thought he was going to shoot Uncle Charley when we went uptown. I didn't even know it until he up and fired at uncle in the bank. Then I tried to drag him back by his coat, but he just jerked away and began shooting out the window at some men. Then I ducked out the door and ran like everything."

Asked about his foster parents' domestic troubles, the boy said:

"I don't know what was the matter. I've been here four years and I didn't know they wasn't getting along all right, till about a year ago ma was sick a long time, and she said dad treated her mean. Then they quarreled awful and ma went away.

"I'm sorry for dad. Do you s'pose they'll keep him in jail always? He can't go hunting any more then, can he? Dad liked to go hunting. Most always he took me with him. He said I was a all right shot fer a kid."

The lad was moving toward the door.

"Would you mind going out with me, mister?" he asked. "I've got to look after the windmill."

The funerals of Mayor Nickel and of Mr. Jones will be held tomorrow afternoon.

RACE PROBLEM IN AFRICA DUE TO WHITES, SAYS BOOKER.

Negro Educator Declares Native Land of Black Man Almost Taken from Him.

Booker T. Washington, in a speech at a massmeeting yesterday afternoon at the First Regiment armory, in connection with the national convention of negro Baptists, blamed the white man for the existence of a race problem in Africa. He declared it was created by "not allowing the black man in his native land to ride on passenger trains, but forcing him to ride in freight cars."

Continuing, Mr. Washington said:

"The European nations almost have taken Africa from us. I am not discouraged when I hear your reports. Sending missionaries to Africa shows an advanced step, for only progressive and intelligent peoples send out missionaries. Did you ever hear of a Chinaman or an Indian sending out missionaries? You are not only sending to Africa the bible, the spelling book, and the gospel, but you are uniting the people."

The Rev. Dr. E. C. Morris, president of the convention, preached yesterday morning at Olivet Baptist church. The convention will close today. Los Angeles was selected for the next annual meeting.

SHOOTS A JEALOUS WIFE

SHOTGUN RETALIATION BY HUSBAND OF ACCUSATIONS.

James P. Cummings Fires Both Barrels of Deadly Weapon at Spouse Within Narrow Confines of Boat's Cabin — Woman Unconscious on Floor Three Hours While Man Stands Off Crowd with Gun—Victim Probably Fatally Wounded.

Because she had scolded her husband and accused him of paying attention to other women, Mrs. James P. Cummings, wife of the captain and owner of the lumber schooner Henry Cowles, was shot and probably fatally wounded by him yesterday with a shotgun. He discharged both barrels of the gun at her at short range while in the cabin of the boat.

Mrs. Cummings lay unconscious on the floor three hours while Cummings held a crowd at bay by threatening to shoot the first man who tried to board his vessel.

The shooting occurred at 4 o'clock in the afternoon while the boat was tied up in the Mason slip, at the foot of Quarry street. The sound of the shots attracted a crowd of men and boys, who started to clamber on board. They stopped when they heard Cummings shout: "Keep off. I will kill the first man who comes aboard."

The venturesome ones then retired to the dock and stood watching the vessel till Austin Kohler, a watchman, employed by the Commonwealth Electric company, passed. After making inquiries he notified the police of the Deering street station. A patrol wagon was sent to the boat landing and Cummings then quietly surrendered to Policeman Bernard Brady.

The wounded woman was taken to the People's hospital, where she later regained consciousness and declared her husband had shot her. Several shots entered her hand and a number struck her near the heart. She is 40 years old.

Howard Jones, a negro, died at the South Chicago hospital from the effects of a bullet wound in the left lung, inflicted, the police believe, by Martin Desmuth Friday night. Jones was thought to have been attentive to Desmuth's wife.

INVESTIGATION OF DEATH ASKED BY THE FORESTERS.

Housekeeper of Deceased Beneficiary Asserts That She Became His Wife Six Weks Ago in Iowa.

A committee from the Independent Order of Foresters called at the Chicago avenue police station yesterday and requested an investigation of the sudden death of William Feller, 47 years old, the owner of an employment agency at 586 North Clark street.

The committee told the police that about two weeks ago Feller had applied to have his housekeeper, Mrs. Fredrica Schaffer, and his sister, Matilda Feller, made part beneficiaries of a policy for $3,000 which he held in that order. Mrs. Schaffer told Detectives Buttiner and Rohan of the Chicago avenue police station that she was married to Feller six weeks ago in Fort Dodge, Ia. His first wife died eighteen months ago.

Feller was taken ill a week ago and died on Saturday at the German-American hospital of what was diagnosed by Dr. Kreye as sclerosis of the liver.

Dr. Carl Wagner, 625 La Salle avenue, who was Mr. Feller's physician for years, says there is nothing irregular about his death.

"Mr. Feller had suffered from liver trouble for years," said Dr. Wagner, "and recently lung difficulty developed, bringing on complications that caused death."

The coroner was notified, and he issued orders that the body be held by George Klaner, 580 North Clark street, to whose undertaking rooms it was taken until an examination can be made by the coroner's physician.

GIRL IS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS.

Elizabeth Conroy, 15 Years Old, Taken to County Hospital—Two Companions Are Arrested.

A 15 year old girl, Elizabeth Conroy, 86 Leavitt street, was found unconscious in the office of a coal company at 264 Winchester avenue yesterday afternoon, and two men are being held by the police of the Desplaines street station, pending an investigation. The police were notified by an anonymous telephone message that burglars had entered the coal office. When they arrived they found the girl and the two men, all of whom are said to have been drinking. The girl was taken to the county hospital and did not recover consciousness until early this morning. Although urged to speak, she refused to answer any questions. The men arrested gave their names as Albert C. Coleman and William Norton.

Choir and Sanctuary Dedicated.

The new choir and sanctuary of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston, were dedicated yesterday with ceremonies conducted by Coadjutor Bishop Weller of Fond du Lac, Wis., assisted by the rector, Dr. A. W. Little. The choir and sanctuary are the gifts of William C. Comstock, a former member of the congregation, in memory of his wife, Lenora Comstock, who died three years ago.

$6,000,000 GRAFT IN QUAKER JOBS.

Harass the Independents.

"In short, the specifications were so drawn that the engineer could harass an unwelcome contractor to almost an unlimited extent without the contractor being able to prevent it or secured legal redress. It is estimated that the engineer, acting within his rights under the specifications, could add 25 per cent to the cost of the work of the contractor, or, on the other hand, to lessen it 25 per cent. Under the circumstances it was not to be expected that much real competition would exist, and little do we find.

"The two million job competition was limited to only two firms, Ryan & Kelley and D. J. McNichol. In four other contracts, totalling $7,400,000, three brought only two bids, the same firms, and the fourth only McNichol."

Tricks in advertising them were taken up, and it was shown that only McNichol had a lookin. The aggregate loss to the city under the bids for six filter contracts Gillette estimates at $140,000.

Cuts in on Limit Clause.

The time limit clause was a great help to McNichols, who always cut under the others by giving ridiculously low estimates, which never were adhered to and never were expected to be.

In the aggregate, the report says, McNichol could have been assessed for liquidated damages for over time about $532,000. He actually was assessed $3,255.

"We find," says the report, "that when all methods failed to furnish a pretext for giving the work to McNichol it was given to him anyhow. This drastic process only was necessary on one occasion, but the contract was a large one, amounting to more than half a million. The loss to the city on the face of the bids was $28,000, and that after McNichol was permitted to reduce the bid by $8,000."

The report then goes on with technicalities. It is shown that other contractors were threatened with $500 to $1,000 a day penalties if they did not finish the work in schedule time, although McNichols was never less than 50 per cent and sometimes 200 per cent longer than the bids had provided, but the penalty never was enforced with him.

Hounded into Bankruptcy.

The Dietrich case, in which the contractor who dared to bid against the gang and secured the Lardner point pumping station contract, is a romance in itself and is fully treated by Gillette and MacLennon. Ex-Chief of the Filtration Bureau John W. Hill acted as persecutor extraordinary. For instance, through a mistake of one of Mr. Hill's own drawings a gate had to be moved several yards, but this was not done until Dietrich was forced to spend several months trying to accomplish a physical impossibility.

They even kept him from getting to his work by closing up the streets leading to Lardner's point. Then they fined him for the delay. Numerous changes were made in his plans. The condemnation of a shipload of cement that afterward proved to be of excellent character caused a delay and Hill's failure to give prompt notice of the alleged defects. Delays were cause by requiring needless changes in concrete mixers, demanding a roof over mixing boards, preventing the use of derricks. A delay was caused by waiting for Mr. Hill to get well enough to decide a useless question of grillage under the engine beds.

All these were a part of the system of persecution. When the contractor finally was ruined strenuous efforts were made to have him assessed $78,000 for overtime.

Charged with 1,200 Lives.

The report says the filtration system ought to have been completed on Jan. 1, 1904; that since June 6, 1904, when the West Philadelphia district began receiving filtered water, there have been only ten deaths from typhoid fever out of a population of 41,000.

At the same proportional rate, the deaths from typhoid fever in the whole city since Jan. 1, 1904, when the filtered water system ought to have been completed, should have been 57 or less, whereas 1,257 have died from that disease. The difference between 57 and 1,257, the report says, represents the loss of life due to the methods that have been employed in conducting the filtration work.

McNichol tonight denied the allegations in the report, declaring that instead of $5,000,000 his profits had been only $300,000.

James J. Ryan also denied that excessive profits were made.

Republicans Confer on Report.

A conference of republican leaders and others which did not end until after midnight was held at the Hotel Walton tonight. Among those present were Senator Penrose, Mr. Durham, State Senator McNichol, John W. Hill, former chief of the bureau of filtration, and the latter's son; William C. Haddock, who was director of the public works under Mayor Ashbridge, and an attorney.

The nature of the conference was not disclosed by any of the participants, but it is presumed that one of the subjects discussed was the filtration report made public tonight.

DRAMA INSPIRES NEGRO LYNCHING

RAIDS JAIL AT MIDNIGHT.

Takes Colored Prisoner to Bridge and Leaves Body Hanging to Beam All Day.

Bainbridge, Ga., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Wrought up to a high pitch of anger against negroes by the presentation of Thomas A. Dixon's play, "The Clansman," last week, a mob of 300 men stormed the jail at midnight, took out Gus Goodman, a negro who had fatally shot Sheriff Stegall, and lynched him. The lynchers were not masked.

Dragged Through Streets to Bridge.

The terrified captive was dragged through the streets to the Flint river bridge in the suburbs and suspended to a beam, where the body remained hanging all day, an object of grim curiosity to hundreds.

Goodman yesterday afternoon shot and killed a negro woman, and when Sheriff Stegall attempted to arrest him, wounded that official. Another officer arrested the negro. A number of men held a meeting and determined to lynch the negro if the physicians found the sheriff's wound would be fatal.

Mob Awaits Doctors' Verdict.

A mob formed, and when at midnight the doctors declared Stegall would die, it moved on the jail at once, and thirty minutes later the negro was lynched. The sheriff died as the negro was suspended.

The feeling against negroes, never kindly, has been imbittered by the Dixon play, since when stories of the deeds of negroes during the period of reconstruction have been revived, and the whites have been wrought up to a high tension.

DEATH COMES TO ARTIST WHEN WORK IS FINISHED.

Roberto B. Rascovich Succumbs After Prophesying That He Would Live Until He Completed Carved Chest.

"I will not die until I have finished that chest!" was the prophecy made a short time ago by Roberto B. Rascovich, water color artist and wood carver, who died yesterday morning of a stroke of apoplexy at the house of a pupil, Mrs. C. Harsch, 3003 Calumet avenue. The chest referred to was an ornately carved piece of furniture, designed to contain a bridal trousseau. It was started a few months ago, and shortly after the artist was stricken.

True to his word, however, the wood carver stuck to his task, although growing daily weaker, until he saw his creation practically completed. Then he laid down his tools, believing that his masterpiece in that branch of art would survive. The work proved his last.

One of Mr. Rascovich's paintings, "A Canal in Venice," received a prize at the world's fair in 1893. He was born in Dalmatia in 1838, studied art in the schools of Vienna and Paris, and then took up his residence in Italy, where he made a study of wood carving. He came to Chicago in 1893 and opened a studio.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE C. BAILEY, general western manager and secretary and treasurer of the John A. Roebling Son's company, who died Friday night at his house, 5224 Jefferson avenue, will be buried today. Mr. Bailey was born in 1848 in Lambertville, N. J., and became connected with the Roebling company in 1881. Since 1886 he has been in charge of the western branch of the firm's business with headquarters in Chicago.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

TALK ON WEALTH BY HALL CAINE.

Novelist Tells Rockefeller Bible Class Riches Make Salvation Harder.

PROBLEM FOR COMSTOCK.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Oct. 29.

Standing under a tablet containing the ten commandments, in the assembly room of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church this afternoon, Hall Caine, the novelist, playwright, and Manxman, read an essay to John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s bible class which considered from various points of view the story of the camel and the needle's eye. Mr. Caine wore a sack suit of gray and a black puff tie, into which a pearl stickpin carelessly was thrust. The most of the auditors wore frock coats.

He leaned in an easy attitude over the reading stand, turned the pages of the manuscript with his right hand, and rarely allowed his voice to rise above a conversational tone.

Referring to a recent remark of Joseph H. Choate, he said he not only lamented the pace that kills the body, but also the pace that kills the soul. The soul as well as the body wants a resting time, needs its hours for recuperation, he said, and in connection with this he deplored the loss of Sunday as a day of rest all over the civilized world.

Coming down to the subject of wealth, he said no one with a knowledge of the symbolism of the east would understand the parable of the camel and the eye of the needle to mean, according to the teachings of Christ, that it is impossible for a man to be rich and yet to live a Christian life.

"But any one may see," he said, "that it was the intention of Christ to say that it is harder for a rich man to be good than it is for a poor man to be good. The worldliness of wealth, the temptations of wealth, the heavy load and responsibility of wealth, and the danger of the wrongful exercise of power which wealth gives are forces which make wealth a doubtful blessing."

The speaker praised President Roosevelt for the part he took in bringing about peace in the far east. He also said a good word for King Edward, but the kaiser, he said, while a Christian man, was a pagan monarch and a peril to the peace of the world because of his faith in the power of the sword.

Oscar Wilde's "Salome" is to be presented under the auspices of the Progressive Stage society at the Berkeley Lyceum, beginning Tuesday evening. Julius Hopp of the society has expressed a fear that Anthony Comstock might interfere with the production if it got into the papers that it was an immoral play.

To Bravo Comstock with Oscar Wilde's "Salome."

"Mercedes Leigh, who is to play the part of Salome, has been notified of an attempt which Comstock proposes to make to interfere with the play," Mr. Hopp said.

The play has a rare poetic beauty, and the theme in some respects is similar to Maeterlinck's "Monna Vahna," and to many other plays which have been presented in this city without question.

"Mr. Comstock and any one else in the theatrical world is requested to attend the rehearsals of 'Salome,' and he will be convinced of the rare poetic qualities of the play, although it deals with the sex question."

Woman Still Holds Fort in Hotel.

Mrs. Howe, stepdaughter of Mrs. Margaretta Todd, who was killed by a train near Philadelphia Friday night, still held the fort with detectives today at the Von Hoffman hotel, 29 West Twenty-sixth street, against Ingersoll Lockwood, the attorney who tried to take possession of the place on Saturday under a deed of trust, and who gave up the attempt after an encounter with W. F. Heal, one of the tenants.

Mrs. Howe remained in Mrs. Todd's rooms all night and did not leave them even for meals. She had one detective stationed at the desk in the office and another in the rooms with her. Her friends said she intended to remain in possession of the place at any cost until her stepsister, Mrs. Frank Tousey, who is in Europe, and who is the only daughter of Mrs. Todd and her sole heir, returns to claim the property. Cable messages have been sent to Mrs. Tousey, who is supposed to be in Vienna, but no responses have been received.

Mr. Lockwood remained today in his rooms in Fourth avenue. He refused to be interviewed. The detectives said that if he came around to the Von Hoffman again they would throw him out. Mr. Emory denied Mr. Lockwood had the books of the place or could get them.

Irish Singers Pack Galleries; Parquet Empty.

Twenty-three young women with shamrock in their hair and long green streamers on their shoulders sang before their first American audience at the Academy of Music today. They were the Irish ladies' choir of Dublin. The audience packed the galleries, almost filled the balcony, and just sprinkled over into the main floor. The Irish ladies are a good deal like a college girls' glee club. The numbers on the program that weren't Irish were familiar classics.

The choir sang "The Wearing of the Green," "The Harp that Once," "Let Erin Remember," "Kathleen Mavourneen," "Donnell Aboo," "The Irish Reel," "Shule Agra," and most of the others, just as the galleries hoped they would.

Miss Madge Murphy, who wasn't afraid of an American audience, played something on a violin that the galleries suspected was a jig. Mme. Cosslett-Heller, the leader of the choir, provoked the next most noise with another patriotic air.

Gallantry a Cloak for Robbery, Girl Says.

Albert Ullmen was arraigned in the west side court today on complaint of Miss May McEntree, 516 West Fifty-first street, who said Ullmer was one of three men who robbed her of her jewelry Saturday night. Complainant said she was hurrying through West Thirty-eighth street, when a dog ran in front of her and she tripped over the chain. The fall stunned her for a moment. Three men ran to her assistance, and, after picking her up, disappeared. When she had recovered she discovered there had been taken from her two rings worth $30 each, a watch and chain worth $45, and $4 in money. One finger, on which she wore a $75 diamond ring, was torn and bleeding, but the robbers failed to get the ring off.

Teamsters Will Strike if Plan Is Not Signed.

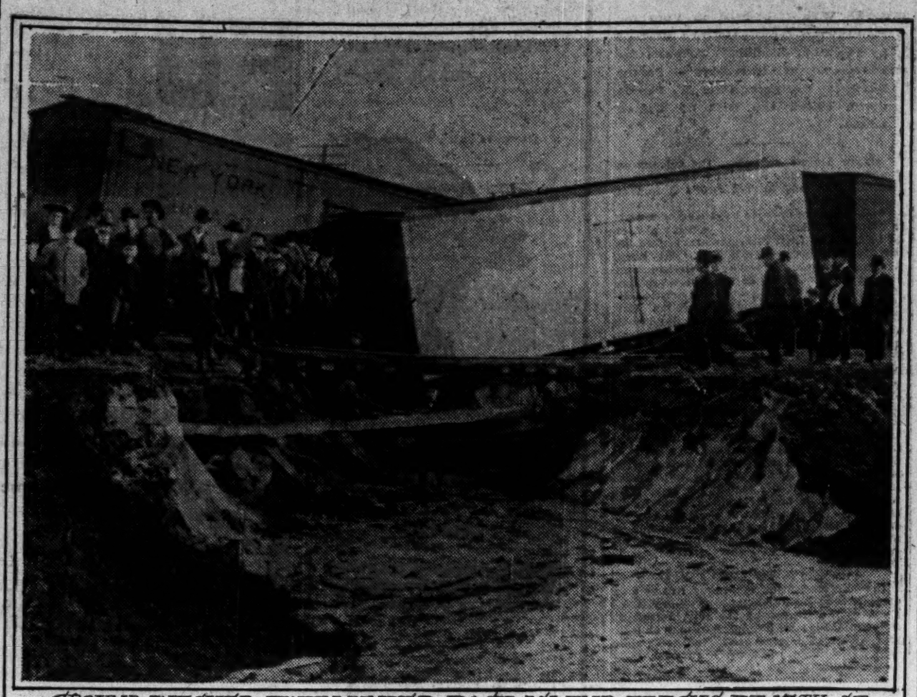

At a meeting of local union No. 708 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters today it was decided that the organizations should stand by the agreement submitted last week to the employers. About 300 teamsters were present, and all announced their intention of striking whenever called upon by the union. Valentine Hoffman, president of the union, said after the meeting that if the agreement was not signed by all employers before the week is ended a strike probably would be declared against those refusing to do so.

MRS. WARREN IS EDITED.

Indecencies Carefully Cut Out of Production Which Was Squelched in London and New Haven—Expurgated Piece Will Be Presented to Record Breaking Audiences in Metropolis Under the Surveillance of Expert Critics and Police.

New York, Oct. 29.—[Special.]—New York will not see and hear an unexpurgated presentation of Bernard Shaw's play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession."

It has been cut to the decency demanded by the management of the Garrick theater, where it will be acted tomorrow night for the first time in this city.

Arnold Daly denied that Mr. Shaw himself had ordered by cable that the play be edited into a condition of respectability and declared that Samuel Gumpertz, his manager, and also the manager of the Garrick, was wholly responsible.

"I still stand by my original opinion," said Mr. Daly, "that Mrs. Warren is fit for any society. She is not a social outcast.

"Her expulsion from the theater in New Haven Friday night was due entirely to the fact that an ignorant official had it in his power to sit on an artistic creation. He got on it and we could not produce it there even a second time.

Mrs. Warren to Have High Neck.

"It is not our desire, however, to flaunt even the most perfect literary effort of the season in the face of the public, so after a conference it has been decided to cut out all the objectionable lines and present Mrs. Warren in what I might term a high neck and a long sleeve gown. If the public on Tuesday morning think that the play is not fit for the audiences that all the Shaw plays command in this city then it shall be taken off.

"If the critics pass it in its new dress then it stays, Comstock or any narrow minded official to the contrary."

Into the early morning Daly and his company, with the exception of Miss Chrystal Herne, who has the part of Vivian, Mrs. Warren's daughter, rehearsed over and over the lines that will take the place of those that have caused the play's suppression both in London and New Haven.

The rival managers said that Mrs. Warren's change in attire will not make her wholly unrecognizable. They thought the last minute decision to paint out the more glaring parts of the production was but a sop to arouse public opinion, but that there will be little actual cutting.

Easy on the Blue Pencil.

"If they cut the indecencies out of 'Mrs. Warren's Profession,'" said one Broadway theatrical producer tonight, "there will be no Mrs. Warren left; therefore, there will be no play. That is why I believe that the brutally truthful characters in this latest of Shaw's sensations will not suffer much from the blue pencil."

The piece has been put on at a cost of $19,000. The house has been sold out for two weeks solid.

The production tomorrow night will be under the eyes of the entire literary and theatrical world—also under the eyes of the police.

Commissioner McAdoo will be there at the head of a squad of specially drafted men to see what happens to the audience when "Mrs. Warren's is at her naughtiest, and also to take care of the crowd that is expected to be on hand.

First nighters, actors, managers, society women, and just plain theatergoers mobbed the box office of the Garrick on Saturday, and the tickets for tomorrow night's production cannot now be bought for love or money.

GUILTY OF PLAGIARIZING PLAY.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—The first conviction since the new copyright law was amended by congress to make plagiarism a crime came in the United States district court here this morning when the jury found James L. Glass guilty of producing for profit a play on which Dick Ferris, theatrical manager, of Minneapolis, holds the copyright. The maximum penalty is one year, but the jury recommended Glass to the clemency of the court.

FIVE MEN BLOWN TO DEATH FIGHTING BLAZE IN A MINE.

Bosses at Hazel Kirk, Pa., Colliery Killed by Explosion in Shaft Which Had Claimed Two Other Victims.

Hazel Kirk, Pa., Oct. 29.—John Hornical, superintendent; Daniel Griffith, foreman; Joseph Hunter, John Lavey, and Henry Clayborne, fire bosses, all employés of the Pittsburg and Westmoreland Coal company, lost their lives this morning in an attempt to ascertain if a portion of the mine was still burning as a result of an explosion two weeks ago in which two men were killed.

The men found the water had not extinguished the blaze and decided to tear down the bulkhead erected to confine the fire to one entry of the mine.

Just as the covering was removed there was a terrific explosion, and the five men were blown in different directions, all being instantly killed. Andrew Roder, who was some distance behind the others, was badly burned.

The whole mine now is burning, and those in charge say the damage will reach thousands of dollars and the mine may be doomed.

DIE IN TUNNEL; RESCUERS TOIL.

Work on Flood in Houses.

While the work of trying to recover the bodies from the tunnel was going on several fire engines and hundreds of men, women, and children were working in the tenement buildings and business houses in the neighborhood in an effort to pump the water from the flooded basements. In some of the buildings the water had risen through the basement to the first floor, driving out the families living on both floors.

In one of the basements of a tenement house Mrs. Hamlin, sick and enfeebled by age, occupied a room alone. When the water slowly began to rise shortly after midnight the woman was asleep. It was not until it rose to a level with the bed which she occupied that she was awakened. Then, springing from the bed, she fell headlong into the water in a faint.

Her cries attracted the attention of persons in the street, and she was carried out of the building and taken to the People's hospital, where, after a short time, she died.

In the basement of a three story building at Nineteenth street and Archer avenue lived twenty-three families of Italians. The men, women, and children were forced to flee to the floors above. Last night was spent huddled in the already overcrowded rooms of the flats above.

Washes Out Railroad Tracks.

The sudden rush of water from the burst main played pranks along the right of way of the Lake Shore and Santa Fé roads that could not be explained by experts. The tracks have a three foot surface of cinders and clay, which was believed to make them proof against washouts.

A short distance from Seventeenth street, however, the sand and dirt below the tracks of the Lake Shore had been washed completely away for more than twenty-five feet, causing a collapse of the upper surface and the track. Three cars, which formed a part of a loaded freight train, rolled from the track into the ditch. A similar collapse of the tracks of the Santa Fé road took place, but no cars were upon the part destroyed.

The Standard Oil company's warehouses, situated between the tracks, were flooded, and many barrels of oil were lost in the collapse of a platform. The Heinz Pickle company's warehouse was attacked by the torrents of water.

Water Attacks Church Bazaar.

The displays of the women of St. John's Roman Catholic church, who were conducting a bazaar in the basement of the church, were destroyed by the water. The bazaar had been in progress a week and many articles made by the women had been placed in the decorated booths for this week's sales. When the Rev. Father J. M. Scanlan entered the church in the morning, the basement floor was floating four feet above its accustomed place, with a miscellany of bedraggled goods lying upon it.

Estimates of the losses to the wholesale houses in the district were as follows:

N. K. Fairbank & Co., Eighteenth street and Wentworth avenue	$ 60,000
Standard Oil Co., Eighteenth street and Santa Fé tracks	27,000
Paragon Oil Co., Eighteenth street and Wentworth avenue	3,000
Nickel Plate railroad, tracks	2,000
Santa Fé road, tracks and cars	17,500
Lake Shore, cars and freight	11,000
Albert Dickinson company, Sixteenth and Clark streets	2,800
Sherer Gillett company, flavoring extracts, 1708 Clark street	6,000
St. John's church, Eighteenth and Clark streets	1,500
Standard Glass company, 1817 Clark street	750
Heinz Pickle company, 1822 Clark street	55,000
A. M. Rothschild & Co., 1824 Clark street	2,200
Total	$198,200

Two Horses Drown.

The Rothschild barns housed nearly 200 horses when the water filled the basement. Two animals were drowned in the stampede when the employés tried to rescue the stock.

Street car service on Clark street was at a standstill until 6 o'clock in the morning. The cars on Eighteenth street could not be operated through the viaduct until in the evening.

NOTES INCREASE IN DIPHTHERIA

City Health Department Finds, However, That General Conditions Are Favorable.

An increase of diphtheria in Chicago, especially on the south side, is noted in the weekly bulletin issued by the city health department. The report reads in part:

"The increase of diphtheria continues to be most marked in South Chicago, Kensington, and Burnside. Of the 118 cases reported during the week 33 were on the north side, 52 on the south side, and only 28 on the vast west side.

"Nevertheless, the fact that 16 deaths from the disease were reported during the week—only 8 during the previous week and 10 during the corresponding week of last year—induces the department to repeat: 'There are too many unnecessary deaths from diphtheria in Chicago.'"

To Investigate Woman's Death.

A coroner's jury will investigate the death of Lizzie Biasili, 1231 West Thirty-second street, who died at the Presbyterian hospital yesterday a short time after arriving at the hospital. Dr. Howard made an examination of the woman, but could not say what caused her death.

CABMAN IS AUTO VICTIM.

C. A. TUTTLE DECLARES COLLISION WAS UNAVOIDABLE.

William McBurty, Driving One Horse Vehicle Along Michigan Avenue, Said to Have "Zigzagged" Near Fourteenth Street and to Have Driven in Front of Machine—He Is Slightly Injured—Spectator Asserts Car's Speed Was Fast.

Clarence A. Tuttle, 3207 Michigan avenue, his wife, and a friend, returning from the Chicago-Northwestern football game on Saturday in a large touring car, crashed into a cab at Fourteenth street and Michigan avenue. The driver of the cab, William McBurty, 1911 Wabash avenue, was thrown out and received slight injuries about the head and shoulders.

McBurty's recollection of the accident is indistinct. He said he saw autos on all sides that appeared to be chasing him and he couldn't get away. The stories of John Blumberg, a teamster, and Mr. Tuttle vary. The police made no report of the accident until yesterday.

Speed Is Fifteen Miles an Hour.

"We were running at twelve or fifteen miles an hour," said Mr. Tuttle, "but I could not have avoided that accident if I had been standing still. The driver was intoxicated and drew around directly in front of me. There was another automobile coming north and I almost ran into the curb. There was a wagon behind me.

"McBurty tumbled off the box and hurt his head. I jumped out and picked him up. A park policeman appeared in a minute and we took the man to the hospital."

Chicago Scorchers Arrested.

All those arrested are from Chicago. They are Charles Johnson, 1502 Michigan avenue; E. S. T. Woods, 1413 Michigan avenue; Frank Westerman, 1629 Briar place; C. W. Zeiss, 5409 Indiana avenue.

Woods and Westerman pleaded guilty and were assessed the minimum fine of $10 and costs. The case against Johnson will be heard today and that of C. W. Zeiss tomorrow.

Horse Dashes Into Barber Shop.

A horse, frightened at an automobile at Thirty-first street and Calumet avenue ran away and dashed through the window of a barber shop at 213½ Thirty-fifth street yesterday afternoon. Patrick O'Connor, the driver, was slightly cut. The horse is owned by F. E. White, 499 Forty-second street.

HOTEL MAN IS AUTO VICTIM.

W. E. Hildreth, Vice President of Breslin Company, Crushed Against Curb at New York.

Shotgun Patrol for Autos.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 29.—A force of deputies armed with shot guns and appointed by the sheriff under authority of the St. Louis County court patrolled the St. Louis county roads for the first time today to prohibit automobile scorching. Several arrests of prominent automobilists were made.

Pythians to Choose Meeting Place.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 29.—Officers of the supreme lodge Knights of Pythias will meet in Indianapolis tomorrow to select a meeting place for the next encampment of the uniform rank and meeting of the supreme lodge.

SECRET SOCIETY STUNT KILLS BOY

BODY FOUND ON BRIDGE.

Tragedy Palls the Members of D. K. E. and Other Fraternities.

Gambier, O., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—While keeping a lonely vigil, awaiting initiation into the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Stewart L. Pierson, a freshman of Kenyon college, was killed by a Cleveland, Akron, and Columbus train last night.

The exact circumstances of his death cannot be ascertained, but it is known that he was keeping his post by the railroad track as ordered to do by members of the fraternity into which he was about to be initiated.

The theory advanced by the students and members of the faculty is that young Pierson sat down on the end of a railroad tie to wait and fell asleep. He had been up all the previous night awaiting his father's arrival and was worn out.

Find Body on Bridge.

According to the statement of members of the fraternity, Pierson had been told to station himself at the foot of an abutment of the railroad bridge and await the coming of a committee to take him to the fraternity house to initiation. When hey went to the spot an hour later Pierson was not there.

A hurried investigation resulted in the finding of the student's mangled body on the railroad track on the bridge. How he came to be on the bridge the students are at a loss to understand.

Rumors were afloat that Pierson had been tied to the railroad track by the initiators, but the fraternity men emphatically deny that such a thing was done or even contemplated.

Father Takes Body Home.

Young Pierson was a son of L. N. Pierson, a business man of College hill, Cincinnati. Mr. Pierson Sr. is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and had come here to attend the initiation of his son. The body of the student was taken to the home of President Pierce of Kenyon and prepared for burial. It was taken to Cincinnati this morning on a special train by the father.

Before leaving Mr. Pierson notified the members of the fraternity that he did not attach any blame to them.

The event has cast a gloom over the entire college community. Expressions of sympathy for the family and fraternity have come from all sides. All the other fraternities at Kenyon have adopted resolutions of sympathy.

ROBBERY OF SHOW WINDOW OF STORE IS FRUSTRATED.

After Thief Smashes Glass Frank Troner Prevents Him from Carrying Off Watches and Jewelry.

Frank Troner, 1185 Blue Island avenue, prevented the robbery of the jewelry store of the Potter Watch company, 88 Madison street, last evening. Shortly before 6 o'clock, while many persons were passing within a dozen feet of the store, a man broke the glass show window and was reaching for the watches and jewelry which were displayed inside, when Troner hurried towards the thief, who struck at him and ran west in Madison street. The robber was pursued by several persons, but he escaped. Last December a thief was shot by a private watchman when he broke the glass and secured several hundreds dollars' worth of watches and jewelry from the same show window.

The

GIANTS

By MRS. FREMONT OLDER.

This is a novel by Mrs. Fremont Older which deals with the colossal fight of a community with a huge trust. Like "The Octopus" the scene is laid in California and the author describes with startling vividness the struggles of individuals to stand against a trust. But, unlike "The Octopus," the scene moves to New York and ends in a conviction of that giant of commerce, the head of the Trust.

CHURCHMEN OPEN BIG CONFERENCE.

Bishops and Others Speak in Support of the Laymen's Forward Movement.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN.

Banquet for Delegates to Be Held in Auditorium Hotel This Evening.

The third conference of the Layman's Forward movement began yesterday with sermons in forty-four Episcopal churches of the city by prominent bishops and clergymen urging the churchmen to unite in carrying on a campaign for church extension. The congregations at all of the services were large, the combined attendance perhaps reaching 30,000 or 35,000 men and women.

The conference will hold a banquet tonight at the Auditorium hotel at which Judge Jesse Holdom will preside and toasts will be responded to by bishops, clergy, and laymen. The banquet will begin at 6:30 o'clock and will be preceded by a half-hour reception.

The conference will close tomorrow night with a massmeeting in Orchestra hall. Delegates are in the city from all parts of the middle west.

Need of Mission Work Urged.

Strong denunciation of the self-centered interest of the Episcopal church in America and a stirring appeal for the awakening of a true missionary spirit were the notes struck by the Rt. Rev. Boyd Vincent, bishop of southern Ohio, in his sermon at St. James' church.

"The spirit of the church has too long been one of interest merely in itself," the bishop said. "Our sense of missionary duty has been too long dead. We have failed to perceive that Christianity is in its essence a missionary religion.

"My brethren, we must get this larger idea concerning our religion. The gospel is not, in spite of our strange notions to the contrary, to be kept within narrow bounds. All this ought to be changed. This is the meaning of this meeting of the laymen's forward movement."

Business Methods in Church.

George C. Thomas, a member of the Philadelphia banking firm of Drexel, Morgan & Co., in an address at Trinity church, said:

"It is a common excuse that business men have not time for church work, but I believe differently. Every man should find some time to devote to God's work."

Mr. Thomas is treasurer of the Domestic and Foreign Mission Society of the Episcopal Churches in the United States. His introductory words were: "I am just a plain business man, and my religious views will be plainly expressed from a business man's standpoint.

"It isn't money we ask for. I believe in the efficacy of prayer. What we want is sympathy and interest. They will bring money. Some people have donated to the mission work as high as $50,000. Others who are not well off in the goods of this world have offered only their prayers. In many cases I believe the latter have done the greater good."

For a Better Civilization.

The Rev. Dr. Henry D. Robinson of Racine, speaking at the Church of the Atonement, said in part:

"Do you not think that America is capable of a better civilization? Of one thing we are sure, we cannot assert without much qualification that America has a Christian civilization today. The man who is to give the greatest uplift to civilization in the future will not be he who discovers a new law of nature, or finds the unification of all elements, or even a chemical source of life; it will not be he who devises great laws and drafts great treaties; it will not be he who conquers disease and pushes back death, but it will be that man who, by the power of his splendid imagination, by the power of his words, and the power of his life shall lead his fellow men into the civilization of Jesus Christ."

Praise for the Missionaries.

The Rev. Dr. H. A. Percival of Peoria, Ill., preaching in the Church of the Annunciation, said:

"Is not the missionary's business as legitimate as the traders? Shall we protect the man who goes to sell opium and rum and forfeit protection to the man who goes to preach the gospel of temperance and peace? The missionary is a soldier; his station is the post of duty. They are the true heroes and heroines of our modern life."

Talks to Swedish Churchmen.

Bishop Mott Williams of Marquette, Mich., addressed the congregation of St. Ansgarius church on the relationship between the Swedish and English churches. Bishop Williams is the only bishop of the English church in this country who speaks and writes the Swedish language. He declared there is such a slight difference in the churches that a native of Sweden coming to this country has little difficulty in becoming a member of the congregations of the United States.

Preaches to Former Flock.

Bishop M. E. Fawcett of Quincy, Ill., preached in the evening to his former congregation in St. Bartholomew's church, of which he was rector two years ago. The theme of his sermon was "Missions and Missionaries." The scope of the former and the needs of the latter were set forth thinkingly. At the close of the service Bishop Fawcett greeted the members of the congregation in an impromptu reception that continued for half an hour after the benediction.

Work of Universalist Church.

At Unity church, Oak Park, Dr. R. F. Johonpot spoke on the "Work of the Universalist Church." He said:

"The refusal of the federation of churches to include the Universalist church among the denominations invited, on the ground that it is not evangelical, is evidence that much remains for it to do. The churches of the federation still insist that men are saved only by pleading "the blood of Christ." The Universalist church has still to preach that men are saved by obedience to God's will as Christ was obedient."

Sermon to Baseball Nine.

In recognition of the fact that the baseball nine of the Lexington Avenue Baptist Sunday school won the pennant of the Junior Bible Class league of Cook county, the pastor, the Rev. M. P. Boynton, preached a special sermon to young people upon the theme "Winning." The ball nine was present in a body.

"Evidently you esteem this banner worth winning," the pastor said, "and it was, for it stands for other things than itself, and it is more significant than simply a baseball pennant. In striving for two years to win this banner, you won self-control, you secured the suppression of matters that otherwise would have claimed your thought and attention."

Lecture to Aid Temperance Work.

A biographical lecture on "Father Matthew, the Apostle of Temperance," will be delivered this evening by the Rev. Duncan C. Milner, pastor of the Logan Square Presbyterian church and chairman of the temperance committee of the presbytery of Chicago, in the Third Presbyterian church, Ashland boulevard and Ogden avenue. It will be given under the auspices of the Young People's auxiliary.

SAYS J. HAMILTON LEWIS MADE UNTRUE STATEMENTS.

Dr. W. A. Bartlett Declares Criticism Offered by Corporation Counsel Is Fabrication from Beginning to End.

Accusing Corporation Counsel Lewis of making false and libelous statements in regard to the observance of fire regulations in the First Congregational church, the Rev. W. A. Bartlett, its pastor, last night answered the city official from his pulpit with the declaration that the attorney's remarks "were a fabrication from beginning to end." The minister declared also that Chicago was governed by emissaries from the "evil one."

Dr. aBrtlett referred to the alleged statements of Col. Lewis before he began his sermon on "Heaven and Hell."

"I wrote Mr. Lewis a letter asking for an explanation of his charges," said the minister. To the letter, Col. Lewis replied saying in part:

"I have been at Springfield and have not had the pleasure of reading anything that you might have said or that I am reported to have said. I deeply regret that anything passing between either of us should be the subject of any personal feeling in any respect whatever. I had assumed that your sermon was delivered in Don Quixotic strain, being intended something as a parable to point out what might or could be. Whatever I have had to say was, of course, in the same vein.

"Nothing could induce me to permit myself to be put in a position of antagonism to you or your church. My own knowledge of the good intent of your own service makes any further reference to the incident unnecessary."

When the minister finished reading the document he paused and then said: "What a wonderful letter! The mayor and counsel must have sat up all night to compose it. Col. Lewis was not present at our church last Sunday and what he said was a fabrication from beginning to end."

Then the pastor began his sermon.

"I cannot bear to live in a city governed by emissaries of the evil one. Yet I am here and I stand aghast when I realize that I live in a municipality whose officials fail to enforce the laws," he said.

In his sermon he scored the greed, selfishness, and graft to be found in the city.

ROOSEVELT RUNS INTO GALE AT SEA

Encounters Storm Off Savannah While on Voyage Up Atlantic Coast.

ENJOYING LIFE AS TAR.

Vessels Break Naval Speed Records Despite Extremely Rough Weather.

St. Augustine, Fla., Oct. 29.—The wireless station on Anastasia island has been in communication with the cruiser West Virginia at intervals all during last night and today.

Messages during the night conveyed the news that the president was well and thoroughly enjoying the voyage, with fine weather up to that time. The cruiser had not encountered rough weather until shortly after noon today, when nearing Savannah it ran into the storm which is prevailing along the coast.

Banquet in Honor of President.

Last night Admiral Brownson gave a banquet to the officers of the West Virginia and its consorts in honor of the president. The usual Saturday evening band concert aboard was also an enjoyable feature for the president.

The West Virginia and its consorts passed by St. Augustine shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. The vessels were nearly 100 miles off the coast. Mayor Boyce, in behalf of the citizens of St. Augustine, sent a message to the president from this station, offering congratulations and best wishes for a safe and pleasant voyage. The message was received and acknowledged.

Messages of Congratulation.

The station here picked up a number of messages which were being transmitted to the president, most of which were words of congratulation and best wishes from governors and high officials all over the country. The presidential fleet was reported off Savannah about 2 o'clock this afternoon. The ships were well out to sea and making remarkable speed, notwithstanding the high winds.

Chief Electrician Elkins, in charge of the station here, states that the weather, while cloudy and blustery, has been ideal for transmitting and receiving the wireless messages. He has had no difficulty in receiving and sending messages at distances ranging from 100 to nearly 1,000 miles.

Vessels Break Speed Record.

United States Flagship West Virginia, off Savanah, Ga., Oct. 29.—A strong breeze from the northeast has kicked up a heavy sea, but notwithstanding these unfavorable circumstances the squadron has maintained an average speed of twenty knots from Jupiter light to the present point, thus breaking all records for any squadron in our navy. This morning the entire crew was mustered aft and President Roosevelt delivered a short address to them. The president had spent most of the day on the forward bridge with Admiral Brownson.

KILLED IN QUEST OF SPORT.

Franklin, Pa., Boy Touches Knife to Electric Wire to Make Sparks Fly and Is Electrocuted.

Franklin, Pa., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Eugene Roach, 15 years old, today climbed an electric light pole to show a younger brother how the sparks flew when he touched his knife to the wire, and received a fatal shock. In falling the back of his neck struck the wire and the current nearly severed his head.

MAYOR IS PULPIT THEME.

Citizens Who Neglected to Vote for Prohibition Candidate Are Blamed by the Rev. Joseph A. Milburn for Existence of Barrooms — Pastor Bartlett Declares Church People Could Check the Evil by United Effort.

"Mayor Dunne can close the saloons on Sunday in obedience to the law," said Bishop Fallows yesterday in St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church.

"Wherever the people have elected a man to office they have the right to demand that he be loyal to their interests and regard his oath," the bishop continued. "He may, however, be so hampered by his environment that he cannot ideally do what he would like to accomplish. Chicago has fifty nationalities within its borders and 7,000 saloons. Can the mayor close the saloons on Sunday in obedience to the law? It is a hard thing to do in the circumstances, I know, but he, with Supt. Collins of the police force, can accomplish it. It may cost the mayor another election as mayor. It may in the future, however, inure to his personal benefit.

"Roosevelt carried out an unpopular law in New York City. Gov. Folk has enforced the Sunday closing law in St. Louis, Kansas City, and St. Joseph. The police records of St. Louis show a decrease of arrests for drunkenness on Sunday of over 40 per cent. In Kansas City it has been 18 per cent. The result has been beneficial in many other directions. But leaving out personal considerations, let the mayor close the saloons on Sunday and he will win the approbation of all good citizens."

Mayor Praised from Pulpit.

The administration of Mayor Dunne was commended in a sermon on "Municipal Morality," delivered by the Rev. Joseph A. Milburn of Plymouth Congregational church, who declared a weakened state of public conscience was responsible for the nonenforcement of the Sunday closing ordinance, and asserted that it is "up to the people" who failed to vote for the prohibition candidate for the office and who now seek to put it "up to the mayor."

"Mayor Dunne, I am certain, is trying to do what is right," he continued. "My observations have shown to me that the city is now morally cleaner than it has been at any previous time since I have been a resident of it, which I have been for almost five years. There is less crime, less drunkenness, and less vice of all descriptions. This is in the greater part due to the administration of Mayor Dunne, and I honor him for it.

"It should be the work of the church to close the saloons, not alone on Sunday but on Monday, Tuesday, and every day in the week. Only divine grace, that can reach both the saloonkeeper and his victims, and that will result in an awakened state of public conscience, will result in the closing of the saloons, not only through the law but without its aid."

Contrasts Folk with Dunne.

"Chicago Gin Mills" was the subject of the Rev. Frederick E. Hopkins' sermon in Pilgrim church. The minister said there is a large proportion of the population which favors Sunday saloons, but this faction should not be permitted to dictate the policy of the city administration.

"One needs a telescope," he added, "to see the distance between a Jerome and a Lewis and between a Folk and a Dunne."

THREE ARRESTED AS 'SPITTERS'

Three men were arrested by the police of the West Chicago avenue station yesterday afternoon charged with spitting on the sidewalk. The men were arrested at Milwaukee and West Chicago avenues. They gave their names as Lawrence Carlson, John Crimmion, and Michael Cervenehi.

DEMOCRATS HOLD 'QUIET' MEETINGS

Speakers Indulge in Autobiographies and Ignore Campaign Issues.

WENTER TELLS OF RECORD

Is "Pained by Criticism"—Addresses Made in Several Wards by the Candidates.

Several "quiet" meetings were addressed yesterday by the democratic candidates. The largest meeting of the day was held at Sixty-first and Morgan streets. The affair was scheduled by the Thirty-first Ward Democratic club as a genuine campaign meeting with practically all the candidates present, but something in the atmosphere gave it a different tone. Personalities were eliminated and the speakers, led by Frank Wenter, turned it into the most literary occasion of the campaign. The republicans held no meetings.

"I have been pained to notice," said Mr. Wenter, "that the republicans have centered all their shafts at me. I am the only candidate on the ticket whose record should be punctured. Not a word of criticism do you hear, gentlemen, of my colleagues. Are we not, then, forced to the conclusion that if I can establish my own merits there is nothing to prevent the election of the entire ticket?"

After outlining his record to the satisfaction of the club, Mr. Wenter continued:

"Think what it means, gentlemen, to have one's name honorably linked to the creation of this great canal. The ages will pass and this great waterway will still remain. Am I not justified, having in a sense made it my life's work for the last fifteen years—am I not justified, I ask you, in wishing to round it out with the presidency of the board?"

Other Speakers Follow Example.

Mr. Wenter pointedly omitted any reference to his opponents, and the other speakers followed his example. William A. Doyle, candidate for the unexpired term of Judge Dunne, did literary work in the form of his autobiography.

"Twenty-three years ago, gentlemen, I was a farmer's boy. In the spring, I followed the plow; in the summer I split rails, and during the long fall days I cut and housed the grain and shocked the corn.

"But my great ambition was to become a lawyer, and I became one. Now, you all know that the great ambition of a lawyer is to become a judge. And now you ask me what kind of a judge will I make. My answer is that, if elected, I hope to be a 'square' judge."

Candidates Fail to Appear.

None of the candidates appeared at the meeting of the Twenty-fourth ward democrats in Stearn's hall at Fullerton avenue and Ward street in the afternoon, and the speakers included only two of the workers of that portion of the city. Judge W. J. Gibbons and James J. Gray were the speakers.

Personal attacks upon Judge C. C. Kohlsaat, Senator William E. Mason, Robert McCormick, and Frank X. Cloidt were the theme of an address by James Maher, an attorney, at a democratic meeting at Dewey hall, Twelfth street and Fortieth avenue, in the afternoon. About eighty democrats had gathered to hear Corporation Counsel J. Hamilton Lewis, but Mr. Lewis failed to put in an appearance.

County Democracy Is Stirred.

The County Democracy in the afternoon not only pledged itself to do what it could for the democratic ticket but voted to do it its own way. It decided that the regular democratic organization was lukewarm in its management of the campaign, and it was time for volunteers to take hold.

Vincent H. Perkins intimated that the democratic county central committee is not doing its full duty in the matter, and a resolution that the members of the club man the polls as far as they can was passed.

Ald. Coughlin Holds Meeting.

Ald. John Coughlin had a meeting of the democratic "workers" of the First ward at 70 Washington street yesterday. There were about seventy present. The gathering was addressed by Maj. Edgar B. Tolman and Stuart G. Shepard, candidates for judge, and Edward J. Kelly, who wants to be a drainage trustee.

CANDIDATES ANGRY AT WENTER

Dissatisfaction Expressed Over His Methods at "Family" Meeting Following Club Luncheon.

Dissatisfaction among the democratic candidates on the sanitary district ticket over the "independent" methods used by Frank Wenter, candidate for head of the ticket, was expressed during a sharp "family" debate after the luncheon given the candidates by the Iroquois club Saturday afternoon.

The veiled references made to conditions during the harmony speeches at the close of the luncheon were brought into vivid play in the "aftermeeting." Those present were Mr. Wenter, William G. Legner, George J. Thompson, and Henry M. Shabad. Thomas J. Webb sent his card and said he was ill. The other candidates who were at the luncheon left immediately after.

"Why do you run this campaign as if you were the only man on the ticket?" Mr. Wenter was asked.

"Because I appear to be the target for the republican guns and the only one who is able to get out and make a fight," was his reply.

Then the others tried to show Mr. Wenter how he was hurting his own chances and the party by his attitude. He did not change his attitude.

PAPERS "GREATEST FORCE" IN MAKING CHICAGO IDEAL.

Dr. A. Arnold Ross Declares Press Does Much Work in Lifting City to a Higher Religious Plane.

The Chicago newspapers are among the chief local forces making for the realization of Christ's ideals in Chicago, according to the Rev. A. Arnold Ross in his sermon last night on "Christ in Chicago" at the Ryder Memorial chapel, Sixty-fourth street and Kimbark avenue.

"Sometime I mean to devote an entire sermon to the Chicago newspapers and their work," he said. "You have heard me speak of them before. I doubt if we give them all the credit they deserve for their brilliancy and wholesomeness and fearlessness.

"On the whole, they are discriminating and vigorous in their exposure of wrong and are sincere in their efforts to improve the community. In this respect I personally would place THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE first. Nearly all of them are generous in their charitable work. The hospital at Glen Ellyn, the ice fund, and the fresh air fund are examples."

JEST NEARLY ENDS BOY'S LIFE.

Antone Hansen Shot in Lung with Rifle Which His Chum Didn't Know Was Loaded.

"I didn't know it was loaded" was the explanation given by Charles Kasdors, 17 years old, 2060 Hermitage avenue, after he had been arrested yesterday for shooting a playmate, Antone Hansen, 15 years old, 1899 Ashland avenue.

The boys were returning from target practice when Kasdors pointed a rifle at Hansen and pulled the trigger. The bullet entered Hansen's right lung. Hansen was taken to the Alexian Brothers' hospital, where his condition was said not to be serious.

Kasdors was grief stricken and told the policeman to whom he surrendered that he pointed the weapon at Hansen only in jest.

AGAIN SEEKING A COUNCIL TEST.

VOTE SOUGHT ON ORDER.

Will Be Asked to Take Steps at Once for Acquiring Traction Lines.

What Mayor Dunne thinks should be the test of the position of the aldermen as to municipal ownership is a special order for the council meeting tonight. It is subject to amendment, and there is a chance that a direct vote on it will not be had. Under any conditions, however, the possibility of a lively debate over the traction situation is excellent.

The order which the mayor wants the aldermen to vote upon, and which he says will put them "on record," reads:

"It is hereby ordered by the city council of the city of Chicago that the local transportation committee, in coöperation with the legal advisers of the city, are hereby instructed to proceed without delay to prepare an ordinance for the purpose of acquiring ownership of the street railways of Chicago under powers conferred by the Mueller law, and that the matter of the preparation of said ordinance take precedence over all other matters now under consideration by the local transportation committee."

Put In at Last Meeting.

It was put in at the last meeting as the addenda to a message in which the vote at the last election on the municipal ownership question on the "little ballot" was given, and the argument made that the aldermen were bound to follow the vote and declare for the city control and operation of street car properties.

The position of the mayor is that if the aldermen vote down the order they thereby will say they are opposed to municipal ownership of any kind and favor the passage of a franchise ordinance. Some of the aldermen disagree with him on this, asserting that they have to meet conditions as they find them, and while they might be good enough municipal ownership people as a general proposition, they easily can differ with him as to its advisability or practicability now.

Seeks Support of Aldermen.

All the week the mayor has been working to secure aldermanic recruits. He has had talks with a number of democrats who voted against him on the two former test votes and with some republicans. He thinks he has got the support of Ald. Stewart and Butler of the Twenty-seventh ward, who are republicans, and of Ald. Conlon of the Eighteenth, Ald. Ryan of the Nineteeth, and Ald. Harkin of the Fourteenth, democrats. He is hopeful of carrying a majority of the council for his order.

On the other hand the major faction in the committee on local transportation is convinced that if the question comes to a test vote tonight the mayor will be beaten again, and by such a vote as to demonstrate that the council intends to uphold the committee and leave it free to go ahead on the lines on which it is now working.

STORY OF FILIPINO WIFE.

MRS. SIDNEY BURBANK DESCRIBED AS EDUCATED AND PRETTY.

Native Negros Woman, Who Established Her Status Through Successful Divorce Suit Against American Army Officer, Declares He Deserted Her After She Had Married Him Against the Wishes of Her Family and Had Paid His Debts.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TRIBUNE.]

MANILA, Oct. 1.—The life story of Conception Vasquez, the native wife of Lieut. Sidney Burbank, Sixth infantry, U. S. A., who recently was granted a divorce from the American, with allimony of $50 a month and the custody of their child, is recounted by a newspaper correspondent just returned from a visit to Valladolid, Oriental Negros, where he had a long talk with the woman.

His description of the conditions under which the woman and child are living, her appearance and character, and a photograph of the Filipino, which he brought with him, tend to disprove the story circulated in the United States that Mrs. Burbank is a black woman of low mentality and doubtful reputation.

From a native standard, he says, Mrs. Burbank is a handsome Mestizo-Spanish and Tagalog, with possibly a trace of the Mongolian, 28 years old, with liquid black almond shaped eyes, a wealth of glossy black hair, the full red lips of the oriental, and the graceful form of her Spanish ancestors.

Convent Bred and Speaks English.

She has been educated in the convent of her native town, and speaks fair English, most of which she says was taught her by the lieutenant during the happy days of their courtship and short married life.

Mrs. Burbank's first husband was a staff officer of Aguinaldo and was killed in battle about a year prior to her marriage to Lieut. Burbank. Her family is one of the best in the province, her father being the presidente (mayor) of Valladolid and quite wealthy. Her brother is a justice of the peace in the same town.

The baby looks much like any little dark eyed, plump American baby, showing only a trace of the Malay blood of the mother, and is said to much resemble her American father. Mrs. Burbank says that her family strongly opposed her marriage to an American officer on the ground that if she accompanied him to America, as was intended, her color would bar her social recognition by his family and friends. This argument the handsome lieutenant overcame by citing the cases of the Ahfong sisters of Honolulu, who are married to officers of the United States army and navy.

Divorce for Sake of Daughter.

Mrs. Burbank says she married Lieut. Burbank because she loved him and that she furnished money with which to pay his debts when his regiment sailed for the States. It was, she says, for the sake of the little daughter, Nina, that the divorce proceedings were instituted.

She said she will continue to live with her parents and devote her life to the care and education of her little daughter, who will bear her father's name.

CLEVELAND PLANTS A TREE.

Nebraska City, Neb., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Former President Grover Cleveland and Mrs. Cleveland and the party of distinguished guests that attended the unveiling of the monument to J. Sterling Morton, left for Chicago this evening on a special train over the Burlington. Mr. Cleveland planted a white maple tree at noon in the southeast corner of the plot of ground in front of the monument. Mr. Cleveland placed the tree in the hole and threw the first shovel of dirt. Each of the guests threw additional shovelfuls of dirt, several making brief addresses, and the company joining in a song.

The West and Northwest

ONE of the biggest crops the West ever knew has been harvested this year along the lines of the Chicago and North-Western Railway.

The fertile fields of Illinois and Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northern Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota are supplying grain, dairy products, and live stock enough for the whole world.

The Land of Plenty

Prices are good, and there is work for all; towns and cities are growing, the price of land is advancing; work is abundant, and poverty is unknown.

New Railroad Lines

The Chicago and North-Western Railway's new lines now under construction across Wyoming to the Shoshone Reservation, open for settlement next June; from Pierre, S. D., by a new route to the Black Hills; and in Northern Wisconsin, through the heart of the hardwood region open up to settlement new and live western towns that need general merchandise stores, new banks, lumber dealers, hardware stores, produce buyers, implement dealers, hotels, drug stores, creameries, canneries and other industries. Write J. F. Cleveland, Land Commissioner, Chicago, for details concerning new towns.

COUNCIL PROCEDURE.

Possibly the last year has witnessed a greater number of intelligent and creditable discussions in the city council than any previous year in the history of the city. Under controversial pressure the forensic standards of that body have, perhaps, wavered somewhat of late. But, on the whole, those standards have been persistently rising, and the council's capacity to analyze and handle public questions deliberatively has been rising also. It would seem, however, that the city council could undoubtedly economize its time and enhance its efficiency by certain practical improvements in procedure.

In the first place, some mechanical method of conducting a roll call would save from ten to thirty minutes in time at each meeting. The voting machine suggests the feasibility of such a method. It ought to be possible, by a dial over the president's chair connected with a "yes" and "no" button at each desk, to register, foot, and exhibit a roll call in twenty seconds, whereas the process now takes several minutes. If no legislative body has ever yet called upon the practical science of today for the convenience of an electrical roll call, then the Chicago city council might well lead off by doing so.

In the second place, the council's time could be saved if certain permits which are now acted upon by the council itself, and which thus become political favors to be doled out—or sold out—to constituents, were issued directly, under proper regulations, by the proper departments.

In the third place, the time of the council would be saved and the character of its work enhanced if it had better methods of preparing and presenting the subjects to be considered at its stated sessions. British municipal bodies have long ago discovered the value and economy of making such preparation systematically. Their practice is to have the clerk arrange and mail to each councilor a day or two in advance of the meeting an "agenda paper" on which appears, in the order to be followed, the entire program of business. It contains in full the precise measures—communications, orders, ordinances, resolutions, with proposed amendments thereto—which are to come up for consideration, and both committees and members must have their reports or proposals in the clerk's hands in season for this purpose. Members can thus know beforehand just what matters—including their exact form and language—are to be considered at a given meeting, and can give special study to those in which they are interested.

The last of these three suggested improvements would certainly conduce to intelligent and exact public action, and all three would effect economies in the council's time. Such economies would secure for subjects really demanding it that deliberation which is sometimes wanting at present for lack of time.

CONGESTION OF STREET TRAFFIC.

The problem of relieving the congestion of traffic in streets which rapid growth of population and business in late years has caused is being wrestled with more or less earnestly in many of the large cities of Europe and America. Nowhere, perhaps, are more systematic efforts being made to solve it than in London. An advisory board of engineers, which was appointed in 1903 to coöperate with the royal commission on London traffic, after making a thorough investigation, has prepared a report in which interesting and valuable suggestions are made looking to the abatement of the traffic congestion evil.

Conditions in London are, of course, in many respects widely different from what they are in Chicago. Many of the principal streets there were laid out without any conception of the size the city would attain and they are now altogether too narrow. The only way to remedy the narrowness of streets is to widen them or make new ones. The engineers advise that both these things be done in London. Chicago being a much younger city, its streets are wider and consequently do not so much demand enlargement. Some of the suggestions made could be adopted to as good purpose here, however, as in London.

The London engineers recommend a larger use of pneumatic tubes for the dispatch of light and small parcels. There is a vast quantity of such parcels sold at the retail stores of a large city daily. They now make a great part of the goods delivered. More extensive use of pneumatic tubes would therefore largely reduce the number of delivery wagons used. The construction of shallow subways in London for cars, cabs, and pedestrians also is proposed.

Another suggestion which is applicable in Chicago relates to the loading and unloading of vehicles. It seems the English metropolis also is troubled by having its walks and streets filled with skids, boxes, delivery wagons, and trucks over which the public skins it shins or which virtually deprive it of the use of its own highways. It is recommended that regulations be adopted compelling all business firms which now use streets and walks for purposes of loading and unloading to provide property of their own on which this work shall hereafter be carried on. The adoption of such regulations in Chicago would much improve traffic conditions. Private concerns have taken almost exclusive possession of certain streets in the wholesale districts.

There is no doubt as to the legality of regulations restricting the use of the streets for private purposes to the prejudice of the rights of the public. Owners of property have certain recognized rights in adjacent streets, but they grossly exceed their rights when for hours daily they render streets almost impassable.

Chicago should follow London's example and take up the matter of traffic reform vigorously on a large scale. Conditions here are already extremely bad. Unless something is done to remedy them they will fast grow intolerable.

CHICAGO IS PROSPERING.

The last number of Harper's Weekly has a long article on "Chicago—The Evolution of a Great City." It is written with the enthusiasm of a man who has studied for the first time the statistics of the growth of Chicago, and is full of wonder at the tale they tell. He is surprised to learn that the population of the city exceeds 2,000,000, that its annual wholesale trade has grown to $1,781,000,000, and that the annual value of its manufactured products has come to be $1,314,000,000. The mere handling of merchandise through the streets last year cost Chicago merchants $65,000,000. In ten years the bank deposits have grown from $196,000,000 to $593,000,000.

The article in question with its magnificent array of figures may serve to enlighten some residents of other cities and states as to the material progress that Chicago is making. Its citizens do not need enlightenment, for they are witnessing daily with their own eyes the manifest signs of the rapid growth of their city in population and productivity.

Near the center of the city dwelling houses are being torn down to make room for new factories. Near the outskirts large tracts of unimproved land are being covered with extensive manufacturing plants. In the suburbs and in the city there is incessant activity in the building of flats and houses to make homes for the new workers who are swelling the ranks of the industrial population.

All except the blind must be aware of the increase in population. The street cars are more crowded. The throngs on the downtown streets are denser. There is bustle and activity on streets in the outlying districts which a year or two ago were empty of teams and pedestrians. The increase in transient population is surprisingly large. There are not enough hotels to accommodate those who come here on pleasure or business.

The places of amusement are crowded in spite of their number. There is an apparent demand for more theaters, and more will be built. The crowding is due not only to the larger number of people living or visiting here but to the prosperity the city is enjoying. Its people are, on the average, better off than ever before. The factories are running. The men in the building trades have had profitable employment. The wholesale and retail merchants have no cause to complain of a lack of business.

Unless all signs fail, the coming year will be one of unabated prosperity for the nation and the city. During the twelvemonth Chicago will increase and expand. At the end of the year there will be a new series of statistics of trade and commerce for the writer of the article in Harper's Weekly to dwell on for the edification of the outside world.

It is to be hoped that when he makes his next report he will be able to announce that "the traction question is settled." With it disposed of the comfort and well being of Chicagoans will be greatly promoted. The statement in Harper's Weekly that "there is no questioning the contentment of Chicago's citizens" is not quite accurate. They will not be contented or as prosperous as they should be until they get decent transportation facilities.

THE KILLED AND INJURED.

During the year ending June 30 last 350 passengers were killed in train accidents on American railroads and 6,498 were injured. As compared with the preceding year there was an increase of 117 passengers killed and of 1,963 injured. Travel was heavier in 1904-'5 than in 1903-'4, but that does not account for the increase. It was due to the occurrence of a number of extremely bad wrecks last year.

During that year 798 employés were killed and 7,052 injured in train accidents. In other than train accidents 2,463 employés were killed and 38,374 injured. The total number of killed and injured was 48,687. It was supposed that the substitution of automatic for hand coupling would bring down the number of accidents to employés to a small figure, but it does not appear to have had that effect. Presumably there is much carelessness on the part of employés. They may be reckless where they ought to be cautious. Legislation can do little to protect men who will not protect themselves.

The collisions and derailments of the year involved a total money loss to the roads of $9,700,000 on account of damage to cars, engines, and roadbed. That is only a part of what the collisions and derailments cost. The freight destroyed had to be paid for. There had to be large disbursements on account of killed and injured passengers. The net earnings of the roads were large, but they would have been larger if it had not been for the damage bills. They were so large that it is singular the railroad men do not make effective efforts to reduce them.

American railroad management, with all its good features, is far from having attained perfection. Too many passengers and employés are killed and injured annually. There is too much destruction of property. It would be true economy to use a part of the money which goes to pay losses for the prevention of collisions and derailments.

ELIMINATING POLITICS FROM CITIES.

Mayor Sweet of Grand Rapids is advocating a plan the adoption of which in cities would, he believes, eliminate partisan politics from municipal affairs. He proposes that all candidates shall be nominated by petitions signed by a fixed percentage of the voters. No party conventions or primary elections will be held. The names of all the candidates nominated will appear on a single ballot, and there will be nothing on the ballot to indicate the parties they belong to.

The absurdity of dividing on party lines in municipal affairs is widely recognized. It is questionable, however, if Mr. Sweet's scheme, if adopted, would produce the result he aims at. Republicans could get up petitions nominating republicans and democrats could get up petitions nominating democrats, and they could vote on election day for their respective nominees. And this probably is what would be done in most places.

Partisanship cannot be and will not be eliminated from municipal affairs by changes in the machinery of nomination and election. It must be done, if at all, by changes in public sentiment. The people have a legal right to divide in municipal affairs on partisan lines if they wish to and will continue to do so as long as they please. Fortunately the signs are that they will not choose to do so many years longer. The number of voters in cities who vote at municipal elections for what they deem the best men and the best local policies regardless of party is rapidly growing. At the present rate of increase in the independent vote, while party names may continue to be used, they will soon cease to carry preponderant weight or significance in the affairs of most large American cities. It is not necessary, as Mayor Sweet seems to think, to abolish formally the use of party names to get the effects of nonpartisanship.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1905: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

AFTER a career almost as stormy as that of her husband, Princess Pierre Bonaparte, daughter of a journeyman plumber, name Ruffin, and whose girlhood had been spent in the most abject poverty, died the other day in the Parisian palace of her son, surrounded by every kind of pomp and of luxury, her career furnishing another chapter to the long list of romances furnished by that wonderful house of Bonaparte. As long as the third Napoleon remained on the throne she was never permitted to cross the threshold of the Tuileries. In fact, the existence of her marriage to Prince Peter Bonaparte was denied. Although the Almanach de Gotha intimates that an ecclesiastical marriage took place in March, 1853, there is absolutely no record thereof.

It is not the only mistake made by the Almanach de Gotha in connection with Princess Pierre Bonaparte. For, instead of being born, as asserted, at Rome on the 1st of July, 1832, there are records to show that she was born in a porter's lodge at Paris, in the eighth municipal district, on July 2, 1832. Her father, as I have said above, was a plumber, and her mother the cook of Prince Peter Bonaparte, a cousin of Napoleon III., and who had been compelled to flee for his life from Italy owing to his having killed a gamekeeper who had endeavored to arrest him for poaching. The Almanach de Gotha, moreover, states that Prince Peter had but two children by his cook's daughter—namely: Roland, who is now one of the part proprietors of the gambling establishment at Monte Carlo, and Jeanne, married to the marquis de Villeneuve. In reality there were five, the first three having died in infancy. Roland and Jeanne were born in 1858 and 1859 respectively, and it was not until ten years later that Prince Peter married their mother ecclesiastically, the civil marriage following at Brussels on the 30th of December, 1871, that is to say, more than a year after the fall of the empire.

Prince Peter was a man of such brutal and violent character that neither the emperor nor the empress would hold any intercourse with him. He never figured at any of the court ceremonies, and was given an allowance by Napoleon III. on condition that he remained in the background. This he did until January, 1870, when he shot down in the drawing room of his house in the Rue d'Auteuil the unarmed and defenseless Victor Noir, who had called upon him with Ulric de Fonvielle, at his invitation, in order to arrange for a duel between him and their principal, Paschal Grousset. The murder was such a particularly brutal and cowardly one that it excited a storm of indignation throughout France, and of course entailed the publication far and wide of all the unsavory incidents of the prince's career in Italy and France, as well as in America. Tried for his life at Tours, he was acquitted of the charge of murder, but sentenced to pay heavy damages to the family of his victim, which they refused to receive. This outcome of the trial gave great popular dissatisfaction. Indeed, the entire affair created such an outburst of animosity and of denunciation not only of the prince himself but of the entire Bonaparte family that it has generally been regarded as having been one of the chief contributory causes to the downfall of the empire in September of the same year.

Prince Peter was ordered by his cousin, the emperor, to leave the country and withdrew to Belgium, where the outbreak of the war found him. After Sedan his allowance stopped, and, finding his appeals to Napoleon III. ignored, he proceeded, with his wife and his two children, to England. On one memorable occasion he made an attempt to secure an interview with the ex-emperor of Chiselhurst, but was met in the grounds by Empress Eugénie, who not only ordered him off the place but threatened to invoke the aid of the police unless he quitted England at once.

Having quarreled with his wife, he withdrew once more to Belgium, abandoning her as well as the children. Nor did he ever live with her again. Thrown upon her own resources, she thereupon started a millinery establishment at 91 Bond street, in London, with the imperial arms of France and the name of "Princess Pierre Bonaparte" figuring conspicuously over the door and on the shop windows, the object of the venture being, of course, to induce either the ex-emperor or Empress Eugénie to make some allowance or to buy her out at a large sum. As no attention was paid to the matter by the imperial exiles of Chiselhurst, and as the English public chose to see in the enterprise an attempt to extort money from the unfortunate ex-emperor rather than a bona fide commercial venture, it was not long before the princess became involved in bankruptcy. And when she further associated herself with some dishonest promoters of a London concern entitled the "Comptoir d'Escompte de France," of which she accepted the presidency, and which necessitated the intervention of the police, she was compelled to make a hasty and secret departure, and to seek refuge in France. Prince Peter at the time wrote some uncomplimentary letters concerning her to the English papers not merely denying all financial responsibilities for the liabilities which she had incurred but even questioning her right to use his name and the title of Princess Pierre Bonaparte. When he died in 1881 it was found that he had left all his belongings to the dame who had taken Princess Pierre's place in his affections and to his son by her.

It is not generally known that Prince Peter not only lived but also fought in America. He spent a considerable time at Bordentown, N. J., with his father's brother, ex-King Joseph Bonaparte of Spain, and where he was in frequent trouble with the local authorities, and then took part in the wars in Central America, seeing a good deal of service under the Colombian general, Santander. After his subsequent killing of the gamekeeper in Italy and his escape from the prison into which he had been thrown on the charge of murder, he again came to the United States, a fugitive from justice, and led a precarious existence here until the overthrow of King Louis Philippe and the election of his first cousin, Napoleon III., to the presidency of the republic.

Princess Pierre, after returning with her children to France, lived to a great extent on charity, and in 1874 was reduced to such a state of destitution that she dispatched her son Roland to Marshal MacMahon, at that time president of the republic, with the pawn tickets of everything belonging to her children and herself, entreating him to help her. MacMahon, who was generous to a fault, not only redeemed all the pawn tickets but likewise gave young Roland a couple of thousand francs, and managed to bring the matter to the knowledge of the late Princess Mathilde Bonaparte. The latter, while declining to do anything for Princess Pierre or to hold any communication with her, undertook to contribute 2,000 or 3,000 francs a year to the schooling and maintenance of the two children, and Roland, who was a good looking lad, after graduating in due course from school and winning a commission of sub-lieutenant in the Thirty-sixth regiment of infantry, managed to secure the hand of Marie Blanc, one of the two daughters and heiresses of old Blanc, who founded the great gambling establishment at Monte Carlo. It was an American woman, whose French husband, the count de Trobriand, took part in the civil war here, who was largely instrumental in bringing about this marriage. She knew Marie Blanc and liked the girl, and her sympathies had been since several years actively interested in behalf of Roland Bonaparte and of his sister, to whose maintenance, indeed, she had contributed.

Roland Bonaparte left the army on his marriage, which transformed him from a penniless man into a multimillionaire. His wife died a few days after giving birth to a daughter, now grown up, and who bears, like her mother, the name of Marie. It cannot be said that the late Princess Pierre showed any overwhelming sorrow at the death of her daughter-in-law, who had thus placed her son and herself above want. For it seemed at the time to pave the way to the realization of her ambitions, which were that Roland should marry Princess Letitia Bonaparte, widow of the duke of Aosta, and by buying off her brothers, Victor and Louis Bonaparte, with his wealth obtained from Monte Carlo, to put himself forward as a pretender to the imperial throne of France. That Roland was a suitor for the hand of Princess Letitia is well known, and it is equally positive that King Humbert, King Victor Emmanuel, and the princess' two brothers prevented the marriage from taking place.

Sermons in Song.

"And ye shall be sorrowful, but your sorrow shall be changed into joy."—The Gospel according to St. John, xvi., 20.

I drove Sorrow out one day—
  This was long, and long ago—
Fiercely thrust her far away;
  Her I would no longer know.
I called Pleasure to my side,
  Trolling forth a jolly song.
"Well done!" Pleasure gayly cried,
  "Gray garbed grief was ever wrong."

Feast, and jest, and song, and wine,
  Laughing shout, and ringing toast
Pleasure had of me and mine—
  He the guest and I the host;
Till the years had gone their gait
  And I halted, old and tired,
Wondering by dawn and late
  What it was that I desired.

Then the candles guttered down
I saw Pleasure's tawdry crown
I saw Pleasure's lying eyes—
  This I saw; all this and more—
And I thrust him varletwise
  From my house, and closed the door.

Then I sat, and sat alone
Hungering for touch or tone
  From an one who was my friend;
There I sat—and from the road
  Rang a laugh that gave me word
Pleasure had a new abode;
  'Twas his hollow laugh I heard.

There came one full silently,
  Calm of face and sweet of eyes,
Came and stood and gazed on me
  While I looked up with surprise.
"Stranger," begged I, "linger here
  For your heart alone is true."
  Smiled the Sorrow I once knew.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Von Fielitz Recital.

The composer recital given at the Illinois theater yesterday afternoon by Alexander von Fielitz attracted an audience of fair size and kindly disposition. The German composer, who recently has become a resident of Chicago, has long been known to vocalists, and through them to the concert goers of the country. His songs have enjoyed widespread popularity, his cycle "Eliland" having for a number of seasons been sung with frequency both in public and in private. The opportunity to hear not only this familiar cycle but eleven other of the Fielitz compositions given with their author at the piano, and therefore in the spirit and manner which meet his approval, was attractive.

Mr. Von Fielitz had as his assistant Hans Schroeder, the young German baritone, whose appearances here last season in recital won him a place in the esteem of the admirers of artistic lied interpretation. Mr. Schroeder was in better vocal condition than when heard here last year, and the taste, nice discrimination, and fine musical intelligence and feeling shown by him in his delivery of the twenty-one songs the program contained commanded for him the merited approval and admiration of his every auditor. His voice is sympathetic in quality, and in the obtaining of delicate effects is especially serviceable and obedient.

In the "Eliland" cycle, Mr. Von Fielitz employed a pronouncedly quiet, dreamy style of treatment. The monk who sang of his love for the fair Irmingard was no impassioned male who longed for freedom and enjoyment of what love could bring. He was a celibate quite content with his fate but enjoying the contemplation of a pale affection he once had felt, the memory of which afforded him a pleasure since it had about it a tinge of romantic sadness. He was a man happy in thinking himself unhappy. The interpretation was carried out consistently, and the cycle was beautifully sung and beautifully accompanied. It was enjoyed thoroughly, even though a somewhat more robust and virile reading heretofore had seemed desirable and still is thought admissible.

The eleven other songs discovered no qualities possessed by their author which had not been brought to light in the cycle. Refinement, touches of delicate, sane fantasy, abundant sentiment of a gentle, clear kind, a feeling for sadness, longing, and disappointment, although not sufficiently big and virile to become tragic, and a neat appreciation for the humorous are discoverable in Mr. Von Fielitz' writings. He never is dull or commonplace and he pleases, interests, and usually convinces. His songs are essentially singable; their harmonization is tasteful, carefully varied, and effective, and the spirit of the poem is caught and reflected with skill. Especially satisfactory yesterday proved the "Waldmarchen," with its atmosphere of mystery and enchantment, the dark colored "Ja, du bist elend," and "L'Echo"—the latter one of the most original compositions contained in the list—the finely pathetic "Vom Berge" and the delightfully humorous "Vogelweisheit."

"The Belle of the West," a comedy with music, came to the Great Northern yesterday afternoon for a stay of one week. The book is by Harry B. Smith and Karl L. Hoschna is responsible for the music. The company presenting the piece is headed by Florence Bindley, a dainty little woman who sings agreeably in a light soprano voice, and who by a winsome personality and the displaying of a neat sense of refined humor, succeeds in pleasing those who watch her. She is about the one redeeming feature of the performance, so far, at least, as the first two acts of it are concerned. What the third act may have amounted to is not known to the present writer. The first two acts were found to be about as weak and sorry a concoction as Mr. Smith has manufactured in some time, and that is saying considerable. The third may have been better or worse—yes, that is possible, albeit, difficult—but the first two sufficed for one afternoon. The comedy is old as the hills, and the plan of presentment includes all the musical comedy tricks that have been used time and time again. The company is weak in vocal talent, Miss Bindley and Jack Henderson being the only two persons in the cast who can sing in even pleasing fashion. Several of the numbers yesterday passed by without so much as a single round of applause.

Tonight at the Grand, Mr. Mansfield will present for the first time the "Don Carlos" of Schiller. It is made known that the performance will last till close upon midnight. At the Illinois this evening, Olga Nethersole will make her reappearance after an absence of four years. She will be seen in an Anglicized version of Paul Hervieu's "The Labyrinth."

Saturday evening at the concert of the Thomas orchestra in Orchestra hall, the organ was on its good behavior, and the symphonic poem "Easter," by Fritz Volbach, was heard therefore in its integrity. It proved a composition which, while of no vast musical significance, is nevertheless interesting and enjoyable. Its thematic material is extremely light weight, none of the subjects save that of the chorale showing any traces of inspiration. But the composer has employed this material, poor though it be, with surprising skill and no small effectiveness. By piling up orchestra and organ he has procured abundance of solid coloring, and several telling climaxes. The result is impressiveness.

A delightful feature of the concert, which space needs caused to be overlooked in the review on Saturday, was the orchestral accompaniments written by Mr. Stock to the Schumann and Schubert songs sung by Mme. Homer. The Schumann "Der Nussbaum" has been instrumentated with the most exquisite taste and skill, all the delicacy of the original having been retained and given captivating variety by the ingenious employment of different combinations of the strings, harp, oboe, and flute. "Er Ist's" of the same composer offers less chance but has been done with admirable discrimination, and in the Schubert "Die Allmacht" Mr. Stock has given us an orchestral setting which should displace the one Liszt supplied and which has had to be used. The Liszt version is unduly ponderous and makes the taxing song unnecessarily difficult for the singer. Mr. Stock has lightened his setting and has introduced a number of effects which add materially to the fitness and dramatic power of the accompaniment.

Mabel Hite, the diminutive, eccentric comedienne, who first came into notice when "The Girl and the Bandit" was brought to the Studebaker last winter, still provides the lion's share of the comedy in that piece, which is now at the Garrick, and leaves to her associates the task of holding up the musical end. And they acquit themselves with much credit, for there is not a poor vocalist among them. There are several new people in the cast and some new songs in the musical score, and in each case they add to the enjoyment to be derived from the "comedy opera," which is uncommonly pleasing of its kind. John G. Clancy is excellent as the Irish-American, and Frances Ann Ware and Marion Wilder are attractive vocally and otherwise as his daughter and sister. The Garrick held a capacity house last evening to welcome "The Girl," and it is likely that there are enough people left in the city who have not seen the show to crowd the theater for the next fortnight.

Blanche Ring and Mabel Barrison are expected to arrive in Chicago this morning and will at once commence rehearsals with "The Pink Hussars" company at the Chicago opera house. Miss Ring will have the rôle now being played by Miss Findlay, and a new part has been written in for Miss Barrison. They are expected to make their first appearance within the next ten days.

Crowded houses were the rule at the downtown theaters last evening. "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" began its fifth week at the Colonial with popularity undiminished; Eddie Foy, in "The Earl and the Girl," gave a farewell performance at the Grand before a sold out house; "The Pink Hussars" filled the Chicago to its last available place; and "The Woman in the Case" at McVicker's began its fourth and last week with the "Seats all sold" sign in front of the theater. It is estimated that the month's stay here of Miss Walsh in the Fitch play will represent an intake of $50,000. "The Heir to the Hoorah" completed its two weeks' stay at the Illinois last evening. The Armstrong play is one of the cleanest, most sweetly human, and most thoroughly delightful that has been seen here in a long time, and it has known steady increase in popularity. The performance given by Mr. Post and his associates is of the best, and the return of the play for a run is said to be certain. "Humpty Dumpty" had an audience at the Auditorium which would have burst any other theater in town, and which made a fine showing where it was. Innes and his band at the Orchestra hall had a topheavy house. The concerts gradually are becoming known and the patronage is increasing.

JAPANESE WOMAN ENTHUSIASTIC OVER MISS ROOSEVELT'S VISIT TO TOKIO.

Writes Letter Telling of Surprise, Expectancy, and Pleasure as Result of Meeting President's Daughter in Imperial City—American Visitor Apt Student of Native Tongue.

New York, Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Matsunaga Junkichi of Tokio, wife of a Japanese who has taken the trouble to write letters to his friends here describing events in Tokio, herself has got the news gathering habit and writes the following, just received here, telling of Miss Alice Roosevelt's visit and Mrs. Matsunaga's impressions of her:

"TOKIO, Oct. 2.—My Dear Mr. Hashiguchi: My husband has left for Corea this morning. Before he left he told me to be on the lookout, if your telegram should reach here in his absence. Your telegram, in which you requested my husband to describe how Miss Alice Roosevelt was received by the people here, has just reached our house this afternoon. As my husband requested, I tried to write all that I can think about the matter.

"I used to know, do you know, some American ladies, some wives of missionaries, other wives of those who came to this country for pleasure. So I know a thing or two about how American ladies fare. But I never knew until last June, when Alice Roosevelt arrived here in Tokio, how lively and self-confident a person an American girl is. You see, I belong to one of the women's leagues here. And in one of our special meetings—we hold our regular meetings four times a year—we voted that we go to Shimbashi station to meet our distinguished visitor when she arrived. My husband didn't object to my going, so I went. Of course, I didn't expect to come close to Miss Roosevelt at the station. Only I hoped I might be able to see her from a distance.

Expectancy at High Pitch.

"Half an hour before the time set for her arrival there was a large crowd of men and women—mostly women—gathered about the station. Some of them high officials and their wives. I believe two imperial princesses were there, if I am informed right. Our women's league was represented by a dozen of us.

"My heart was beating violently in expectancy. When the whistle blew my heart ceased to beat so violently, for with that signal the train carrying Miss Roosevelt had arrived. Then my heart began to beat again, as I thought with what courtesy and respect I should greet the daughter of the American president, whether I should bow my head as we do in our own society or look at her straight in the face and boldly shake her hand when it was offered, according to American usages.

"Suddenly I awakened from my meditations when Miss Alice Roosevelt came, accompanied by her girl friends from America. I believe the gentlemen with them were persons of distinction. But they looked all alike to me, and I could not tell which was who. Only I could tell Miss Roosevelt as she walked straight towards us like a princess, although her whole expression appealed to me rather as that of just a woman than as that of a princess. Perhaps that is because in America everybody is supposed to be as good as anybody.

Surprised at Democratic Spirit.

"Miss Roosevelt doesn't want to be too well conscious of the fact that she is the daughter of the president. Be that as it may, I was surprised when she came in front of us and greeted us, or rather replied to our greeting, in a most democratic fashion, with a smile on her face, nodding her head all the while. Of course you must understand that I could not greet her in the American way, much as I may have wished to, although I learned the American way during the years while I was in school.

"Well, I simply bowed my head as low as possible in the natural way, as it is done in this country. But she didn't bow her head in response. But she kept her head as high as possible, all the while nodding her head in woodpecker fashion. You see I couldn't help feeling a little shocked. But I was compromised in my mind, remembering that that is the natural way in America as I learned at school, as bowing is in this country.

"But what was more surprising was that when she was greeted by the men she held her head higher than she did when she was greeted by us. Then I recalled that in America women take precedence of men in the social arrangement—so I read in books. I think it is right that women take precedence, although I don't want to pick a quarrel with the men. We wouldn't for the world forget our good qualities. But I should think we ought to do something to improve our opportunities. You will help us in that when you go back, I trust.

Greeted with "Banzais."

"When Miss Roosevelt walked out of the station she was greeted by the crowd outside with shouts and banzais. And in a few minutes she had taken her temporary abode in a cab. I judge from the expression of Miss Roosevelt's face that she is a charming young lady, intelligent and warm hearted. As far as her prettiness is concerned, it is out of place here for me to say a thing. But you must understand that personal appearance, whichever way it goes, will amount to little. I wouldn't give you a lecture on that point, as I fear I may be overstepping the bounds of propriety. But allow me to tell you this much, that prettiness of woman is more often the cause of limitless trouble than anything else.

"I heard Miss Roosevelt had been entertained by our empress. As to that, I will not go into detail, as it will take a long time, and the mail for America will close at 5 o'clock. It is 4 o'clock now, and I have to get our supper ready.

Learns Japanese Quickly.

"In closing my letter I want to say that Miss Roosevelt has gone to Corea and China. She expected to be in Yokohama soon. In fact, dispatches say that she left Nagasaki on Sept. 30 and at Moji left her steamer and boarded the Minnesota on Oct. 1, and is bound for Yokohama as fast as possible. She was greeted by fifty Shimonoseki girls, school students, high officials, and others of Shimonoseki and Moji. Gov. Watanab of the province of Yamaguchi also was among the party. When he said to her that he was grateful to her father for his service in bringing about the peace between Japan and Russia Miss Roosevelt replied in Japanese "Do Itashimashite" (don't mention it) with a bow which she seems to have learned after she has been in this part of the world. It is remarkable how she picked up our language so quickly.

"I believe my husband will write to you from Seoul. While he is away I will ask his friends whether they would not go about the city in their spare hour to watch what is going on. Wishing to hear from you any time you care to write, I remain

"MRS. MATSUNAGA JUNKICHI."

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS.

The only possible objection to David Graham Phillips' "THE DELUGE" (Bobbs-Merrill company), is that the daily newspapers have made us so familiar with the details that we appear to have read it before. Taking advantage of Mr. Lawson's recent exposures of "frenzied finance," and the development of the insurance scandals in New York City, the novelist has adroitly woven a bit of fiction about the chief characters with an undercurrent of love and human interest.

The financial battles which he depicts in the book, the treachery, the chicanery, and double dealing, the ruthless dealing with millions of the money of others form a series of terrible pictures, but not more terrible than those to be seen on Wall street every day.

There is now a long list of novels on this and kindred topics, and Mr. Phillips has contributed his share. Nearly all of them were written with considerable skill and an admirable fidelity to the probabilities, but if they have begun to pall upon the readers it is not to be laid to any lack of force or merit on the part of the novelists. It is because the revelations of the daily newspapers have made such events seem common to those who read, and because the wildest flights of the novelist's imagination have been equaled and even surpassed by actual facts.

It would seem as though there was something left behind when they pulled Wallace Irwin up from his native California and tried to transplant him in the rocky soil of Manhattan. He has never done quite so well. A book of his occasional newspaper verse written since he went east is published by Fox, Duffield & Co., under the title of "THE SIGN OF THE DOLLAR." As a rule, the contents do not compare in spontaneity, freshness, or the mechanism of verse with his former work. Mr. E. W. Kemble has supplied a number of illustrations.

It would be indeed a strange Christmas for which some publisher did not offer us a holiday edition of some of Dickens' tales, and it is not astonishing therefore to find "CHRISTMAS CAROL" and "CRICKET ON THE HEARTH" put in one volume by the Baker & Taylor company, with illustrations by George Alfred Williams. He has supplied a colored picture as a frontispiece for each of the stories and scattered a number of black and white drawings through the book. The colored illustrations are much better than the others.

"THE BEST POLICY," by Elliott Flower (the Bobbs-Merrill company), is a series of stories, in each of which the interest gathers about an insurance policy. The stories were written and most of them published in the Reader Magazine before the recent exposures of the methods of management of the great companies. A sense of humor is not Mr. Flower's strongest characteristic or he would have seen the advantage of omitting or changing some of the stories in which the officials of the companies are represented as great moral powers, public benefactors, and so on. Even the pathos of the situation of the family of the uninsured makes no impression in a book so devoted to a glorification of insurance that it suggests a manual for the guidance of agents more than anything else. Singly, some of these stories were readable, but a volume of them is too much.

"CONCERNING BELINDA," by Eleanor Hoyt Brainerd (Doubleday, Page & Co.), is another collection of lively sketches by the author of "The Misdemeanors of Nancy." Belinda is a western girl who has become a teacher in a New York boarding school for girls. There she becomes interested in the contrasted types of feminine foolishness gathered together. Some of the sketches are light and humorous, one or two are pathetic, all are lifelike and pleasant reading. Belinda herself is good company, and it is to be hoped that her later adventures may be told.

Francis Miltoun's "CATHEDRALS AND CHURCHES OF THE RHINE" (L. C. Page & Co.) is a choppy and uninteresting sort of guide book, wholly unsatisfactory whether you know the subject or don't. Blance McManus' illustrations are uneven, but some of them are excellent.

The centenary of the great author and some excellent colored and black and white pictures by M. H. Squire furnish excuse, if that were necessary, for Moffat, Yard & Co. issuing a new edition of "THE UGLY DUCKLING." Most of the stuff made for children nowadays is stale and flat compared with such a masterpiece.

STORK BUSY IN NEW ORLEANS AFTER ROOSEVELT'S VISIT.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt came, saw, and conquered New Orleans in a way not hitherto made public. The president is an avowed enemy of race suicide and an advocate of large families. The more children a father has the easier it is for him to obtain a presidential portrait and a presidential autograph. The same is true of mothers. Women are as ambitious to get presidential recognition as men, as the moral of this story shows.

How many demands will be made on the president for photographs, autographs, etc., as a result of his visit to New Orleans only time will tell, but it is a fact that following President Roosevelt's visit the stork has been more busy here than ever before in the history of New Orleans. This means a great increase in the number of happy fathers and mothers, and it has resulted in general rejoicing.

Friday's record of births was the largest ever recorded in this city. The number of births has averaged about twenty the year round, but thirty-six children were born the day after President Roosevelt arrived here, seventeen boys and nineteen girls.

During the last year there was a material decrease in the birth rate for Louisiana. A comparative statement of statistics shows that the number of deaths exceeded the births and few births have occurred compared with marriages.

GO TO STUDY 'MODEL FACTORY.'

University of Chicago Professors Leave for Dayton, O., to Examine Labor Conditions There.

Over 100 faculty members of the University of Chicago left on a special train last night to inspect the "model" factory of the National Cash Register company at Dayton, O. Four of the university trustees and a number of business men accompanied the professors.

The trip is of a sociological nature, many of the faculty members being interested in the "welfare" work introduced in the factory. The methods of the company in dealing with the labor unions in disputes will be studied.

The professors will be the guests of the National Cash Register company. They will be entertained at the country house of President J. H. Patterson of the company. They will return tonight.

HYDE PARK GOAT STOLEN THAT STARTED NEIGHBORHOOD ROW.

Francis Leary, 5483 Madison Avenue Loses Pet Which Police Had Been Asked to Kill.

"Billy," the Hyde Park goat which the police have been asked to kill because of his roaming propensities, has been stolen.

"Billy" was the property of Francis Leary, the 12 year old son of Mrs. E. M. Leary, 5483 Madison avenue. The lad had endeavored to keep his pet in the back yard. "Billy," however, often "butted" into other territory, and to this some of the residents of Madison avenue, between Fifty-fourth place and Fifty-fifth street, objected in the form of the following complaint to the police, written on a postal card to Inspector Hunt:

Cannot the goat that roams Madison avenue from Fifty-fourth place to Fifty-fifth street be taken care of? Stray dogs are picked up, but this untamed nuisance is permitted to roam around our lawns, eating plants and flowers. Kindly cage him and greatly oblige

THE WHOLE BLOCK.

The sequel is the disappearance of "Billy." Mrs. Leary says she will get the goat back again and that it was stolen "for spite," and that she will keep it "just for spite."

A little 6 year old girl said "Billy" wasn't "a bad goat, but he is learning how to buck just a little."

The police express ignorance of the goat and the neighborhood residents are divided as to its merits.

PLAY A WAITING GAME.

Stagg and Yost Conserving Power for Decisive Game—Northwestern Grit.

With the championship of Chicago settled, the first climax of the western football season has been passed and the next three weeks will see a gradual leading up to the climax of the year, both in the east and west. Coach Stagg's veterans, having disposed of two of their rivals for gridiron honors, have a period of rest coming to them and Chicagoans will not be directly interested in the battles of the near future, except in so far as they affect the chances of the maroons for final honors.

These chances are what now possess the greatest interest for Midway sympathizers. For the first time in several years the maroon is conceded better than a fighting chance with Yost's scoring machine by unbiased authorities. Last year and the year before Stagg's men had only an outside chance at best, and the attitude of local gridiron fans in advance of the annual Michigan game has been one of hope, without confidence. This year there is confidence mixed with hope.

No Chance to Compare Teams.

Thanksgiving day is too far away, however, to allow anything but the vaguest guesses to be made, for none can tell even the probable makeup or the physical condition with which these two rivals will meet each other next month. Nor has there been any way to get a comparative line on the two elevens up to date.

The first game yet to be played which will have any bearing on the western championship is that of next Saturday in Minneapolis between Wisconsin and Minnesota. On the result of that will depend something of the Gophers' claim to gridiron ranking. If Coach King's men should defeat Dr. Williams' eleven it will be accepted generally as an indication of Chicago's superiority to the Gophers. There is nothing convincing, however, in such a basis of comparison, for Minnesota might lose to the Badgers next week yet beat Chicago a fortnight later if the Gophers met the maroons, which they will not. In the same way if Minnesota trims Wisconsin this week by a larger score than Chicago did, Gopher sympathizers will claim a superiority to the maroon on comparative scores. There will be the same lack of convincing power in the argument because the supremacy of the gridiron can be established definitely only by actual battles between all the claimants.

Only One "Big" Game for Minnesota.

It is unfortunate in that respect that Minnesota plays only one "big" game annually, that against Wisconsin, and does not meet either Michigan or Chicago.

Michigan will play Illinois on Saturday, and the Illini will face Chicago a fortnight later, but in neither of those games is there expected to be any showing of hands by Stagg or Yost which will give a direct line on their Thanksgiving day battle. Illinois is not believed to be strong enough this year to force either the maize and blue or the maroon to anything like its limit to win. The game between Wisconsin and Michigan at Ann Arbor on Nov. 18, coming as it will so near the Yost-Stagg battle, will give a better line, although King's men may not force the Wolverines to uncover any more of their strength than it did the maroons.

Concealment Policy to Be Adhered To.

The policy of concealment will be rigidly adhered to by both Stagg and Yost right up to the final game of the year beyond all question. This is the first year of recent ones in which the Chicago "wizard" has not been compelled to disclose most of the strength of his offense in order to win the games which preceded the Michigan battle, while Yost has been able to keep his rival guessing up to the last minute as a rule. Now the Chicago eleven has come through the hardest of its preliminary battles without apparently being driven near its limit. The only thing Stagg has shown definitely is that his team is versatile and can use a widely varied offense, suiting it to the occasion.

When it was found straight football on a sodden field would not gain against Wisconsin's defense, a few tricks were resorted to which gave Eckersall the chance to win the game in spite of the handicap put upon his speed and kicking by the poor field. It was then said Stagg's whole team was built around Eckersall and the latter's toe.

Eckersall Kept in Background.

In the game against Northwestern on Saturday Eckersall was subordinated wholly to the team and never carried or attempted to carry the ball from scrimmage. He allowed himself to shine only in running the team and carrying back punts, in which latter department De Tray and Bezdek were allowed to share a large measure of the honors, too. The one field goal which the little quarter kicked was lost sight of to some extent in the larger score made, while at Madison the week before Eckersall's one goal was the whole victory in itself.

Against the purple Stagg's team played straight football of a simple but varied style. Every point in the purple defense was tested and made to feel the weight of the sledge hammer, which Bezdek, De Tray, and Walker, or Boone were able to wield in combinations with each other. Catlin again demonstrated his ability to gain ground from his end position, an art that was supposed to be almost lost when Rothgeb left the gridiron. Occasionally linemen changed places with the backs, but there was not a complicated trick or play shown.

Purple Beaten, but Not Disgraced.

Defeat, but not disgrace, was Northwestern's lot in that game. It left a far different taste in the mouths of purple fans than the game of the year before, when a plain case of quitting dashed the high hopes held out in the first half. On Saturday McCornack's men were fighting harder at the end than at any other time, and there never was a time when Chicago was not forced to earn every inch of ground it made, except through penalties and fumbles, of course, which are incidentals in any game.

The Evanston men did their best against odds which they could not hope to overcome, and in the fight against certain defeat men show a greater gameness than when buoyed up by the hope of victory. McCornack got all there was out of the material he had. The purple offense was concentrated and fast. The men worked together and held together to the end, but they did not possess the strength necessary to drive back the far heavier defense of the maroon.

Weight Batters Northwestern.

The difference of over a dozen pounds to a man between the two teams naturally battered up the purple before the finish, yet only two touchdowns were scored in the second half, one of them something of a fluke, against three in the first half. It is true the maroon lads did not extend themselves to run up a big score, playing on the defensive much of the time, but they found it just as hard to gain ground in the second half as in the first. Northwestern was outclassed by a team in wonderful condition for so early in the season, and won honors for itself in defeat. The purple has a chance to retrieve itself at the end of its schedule when it meets Minnesota.

Yost's Criticism Disproved.

Coach Yost's criticism of the officials of Saturday's game for giving the ball to Chicago just before time expired is disproved by the chart of the game. The Michigan coach asserted the play on which a bad pass prevented Blair's punt and enabled Chicago to down him close to his own goal line was the third down and not the fourth. He said Northwestern was penalized for offside play on the second down instead of the third. The chart shows the penalty was inflicted on the third down instead of the second, hence that the attempt to punt was also made on the third down, and that it was the Michigan coach who lost count of the downs in the darkness instead of the officials.

Chicago has nothing to prepare for this week, but next week will tackle the Purdue team, which has been making football enthusiasts sit up and notice. Purdue's defeat of Illinois by a margin of 29 to 0 caused some fear in the maroon camp, but Saturday's tie game with Indiana, which Chicago defeated without its full strength, brought a considerable measure of relief. It is recalled, however, that Indiana was able to score on Chicago, and that it was only a fluke which kept Purdue from winning on Saturday. The game with Purdue is expected to give the maroons a harder fight than Northwestern's, but Stagg's men have a fortnight in which to rest up and prepare for it, and that without any discouraging hospital list as a result of the two "big" games just played so close together.

Calculations Nearly Correct.

Aside from the game at Indianapolis there was nothing in Saturday's results which was out of line with expectations in the west. In the east Yale's defeat of West Point by 20 to 0 after the soldiers, only a week before, had played Harvard to a standstill, losing to the crimson on a fluke touchdown from a fumble punt, gives the New Haven team a long shade the better of it in the advance dope for the Yale-Harvard game. In the same way, Harvard's victory over Brown by a clean cut 10 to 0, whereas Pennsylvania had difficulty in winning from the Rhode Islanders by a score of 8 to 6, indicates Pennsylvania is either a weak member of the "big four" again, or has not been put in condition fast enough to hope to beat Harvard a week from Saturday.

Princeton put Columbia out of the argument, but there would have been no surprise unless the Tigers had failed to do so. Princeton has now to play Dartmouth and Cornell before the Yale game on Nov. 18, and in the same time Yale will play Columbia and Brown. After the Yale-Princeton game the Elis have only one week's interval in which to prepare for Harvard, giving the blue two hard games close together, as always has been the case. From every indication in the east Yale men are confident of making a clean sweep of the gridiron there and that confidence seems to have good basis up to date.

MAROON TEAM TO REST TODAY.

Light Work the Order for This Week—Stagg Talks of the Michigan Game.

Capt. Catlin and his teammates will celebrate today. Stagg has given them a day off and no one but the ambitious freshmen and the scrubs will tramp about on the old stamping grounds. The regulars will be allowed a slight change of diet and free rein until tomorrow afternoon, when Stagg again will call them together. The work for the greater part of the week will be extremely light, as no game is scheduled for Saturday.

Attention is now focused on the Michigan game Thanksgiving day, just four weeks away. Purdue and Illinois, the only teams to appear on Marshall field before the deciding battle of the season, will not be overlooked, but the maroon team will, from now on, be pointed for the fight with the champion Wolverines.

Stagg holds that Yost's men are again practically unbeatable. He figures his team has no more than a fighting chance to wrest the championship away.

"I cannot figure more at the present time," he declared yesterday. "Of course, developments may change my opinion. Michigan is heavier than ever and is just as fast. It is my candid opinion Heston will not be missed greatly.

"Many people think we are completely out of the running. I do not believe so. We have a chance. The game is four weeks away and so there is plenty of time for much to be done. Perhaps, if Chicago had played Michigan on Saturday we would have been whipped."

Members of the Midway team take a more optimistic view. Capt. Catlin believes his men have the best chance in four years, while Eckersall holds the score at the most will be small. De Tray declares the maroon offense will prove the equal of the Michigan offense.

Many of the men who played against Northwestern on Saturday are suffering from bruises and cuts, but none is seriously injured. Walker is the only hospital recruit. His weak knee was wrenched badly and he is barely able to walk. Catlin's wound over the eye is mending rapidly and his work will not be handicapped. Parry turned his ankle, but is as fast as before. All the other members of the team came out of the battle without anything more than the usual bruises.

MICHIGAN WAITS FOR YOST.

Wolverines Want to Know What Coach Has to Say of Chicago-Northwestern Game.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Michigan is waiting to hear what Coach Yost has to say about the Chicago-Northwestern game. Of course, it is not expected the coach will hand out the best things he knows about Stagg's play, but it is thought he will have a word or two to say about the Wolverines' chances against the maroons.

The players for the most part are anxious pending the coach's return. They know Trainer Fitzpatrick will tell him Saturday's game was unsatisfactory, and that Yost probably will remark thereon.

Before he left for Des Moines Willie Heston expressed the belief that Michigan again would win the western championship. The great half back said: "Michigan's line, especially, is excellent. The whole team is strong enough, I believe to get away with both Chicago and Wisconsin. I myself think Wisconsin will give the Wolverines the harder rub of the two."

OFFICIAL FIELDING AVERAGES OF NATIONAL LEAGUE.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL GAMES WON BY SMALL MARGINS.

Hyde Park Blues Score Solitary Point of the Contest Against Pullmans After Thirty-five Minutes—Calumet Reds Beat Metropolitan Rangers and the Wanderers the Lake Shores, Each Being a One Goal Victory—Other Results.

Division A.	W.	L.	T.	P.	Division B.	W.	L.	T.	P.
Calumet Reds	4	0	0	8	H. P. Albions	3	1	0	6
H. P. Blues	4	0	0	8	Met. Rovers	2	1	1	5
Pullmans	3	2	0	6	Celtics	1	1	2	4
Met. Rangers	2	3	0	4	Reserves	1	2	0	2
Wanderers	1	4	0	2	Greens	0	2	1	1
Lake Shores	0	5	0	0

Close scores marked the games in the Chicago league of association football players yesterday, only one game, the Metropolitan Rovers and Hyde Park Albions, in division B, having more than one point's difference in the counts.

The Calumet reds, Hyde Park blues, and Wanderers were the winners in division A, while the Metropolitan Rovers and the Pullman Reserves won in division B.

The Hyde Park blues defeated the Pullmans in one of the fastest games of the season by a score of 1 to 0. The blue forwards were too fast for their opponents and good runs down the right wing gave them many chances, but wild shooting near the goal cost the points.

Score in Thirty-five Minutes.

In the first half, playing towards the south goal, the Hyde Parkers rushed the ball down repeatedly and were awarded six corner kicks, while their opponents made none. After thirty-five minutes of play Hyde Park counted its point. Scott centered the ball to Carnegie, who tipped it towards the goal, Wettengel fumbling his kick and the ball bounding from the post through for a point.

Blues [1].		Pullman [0].
Roberts	Goal	Wettengel
Archibald	Right back	Napier
Rogers	Left back	J. Shallcross
Parker	Right half	Williamson
Scott	Center half	Ferrier
Evans	Outside right	S. Govier
Thompson	Inside right	B. Govier
Newton	Center	J. Watt

Calumets, 1; Metropolitans, 0.

The Calumet Reds beat the Metropolitans at American League park 1 to 0. Platt scored after ten minutes of play, the Rangers' goalkeeper being out of his position. J. Hurd also kicked a goal, but it was ruled out for offside play. Lineup:

Reds [1].		Rangers [0].
Myer	Goal	A. Buchanan
Bowman	Right back	Cuthbert
I. Hurd	Left back	Dixon
Beaton	Right half back	Briscoe
Courtice	Center half back	Brown

Jackson	Inside left	J. Buchanan
Platt	Center	McAleer
J. Hurd	Inside right	Wright
Stevenson	Outside right	Davis

Rovers, 8; Hyde Park Albions, 2.

The Metropolitan Rovers defeated the Hyde Park Albions 8 to 2 at Sixty-ninth street and Ashland avenue, in a game which the Hyde Parkers may protest because of alleged unfair decisions and wrong marking of the grounds. Lineup:

Rovers [8].		Albions [2].
Light	Goal	Edwards
Spiers	Right back	Heale
W. Brown	Left back	L naker
McKinzie	Right half	D gman
Granel	Center half back	Sperry

Manwell	Center	Sharples
H. Brown	Outside left	McLeod

Wanderers, 2; Lake Shores, 1.

The Wanderers defeated the Lake Shores 2 to 1 at the foot of Indiana street. The Wanderers scored during the first half and each counted during the second half, the Wanderers' point being made on a free kick. Lineup:

Wanderers [2].		Lake Shores [1].
Lindsey	Goal	McMahon
James	Right back	Brudell
Spencer	Left back	Flynn
Peel	Right half back	Brennan
Waller	Center half back	McDermott
Adams	Left half back	Carroll
Hull	Right outside	J. W. Warde
Smythe	Right inside	Curtis
Elmsley	Center	Dockery
Jeffrey	Left inside	J. M. Warde

Pullman Reserves Win.

The Pullman Reserves defeated the Calumet Greens, 3 to 2, in a slowly played game at Pullman, in which the home team had all the better of the play. Lineup:

Reserves [3].		Greens [2].
H. Walker	Goal	Woods
Sutton	Right back	Anthony
Erickson	Left back	Darby
Bergquist	Right half back	M. J. Donnelly
A. Walker	Center half back	Coventry
Carroll	Left half back	Aishton

Wettengel	Inside right	Winslow
J. Shallcross	Center	G. J. Donnelly
Osborne	Inside left	C. Bowman

Goals—Cottrell [2], Kasza, Bowman [2].

Celtics, 4; South Chicagos, 0.

Celtics [4].		South Chicago [0].
Coghlan	Goal	W. Wrompa
P. Cunningham	Right back	Block

All arrangements have been made for the international match between the Galt (Can.) team and a picked local team on the Wanderers' ground on Saturday. The local lineup will be practically the same as that which played the Pilgrims.

Cincinnati, 4; Muncie, 0.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Before a large crowd the Shamrocks association football team won the "socker" championship of Indiana and Ohio from the Muncie [Ind.] team at League park this afternoon by the score of 4 to 0. The ball was continually in Muncie's territory. The Shamrocks completely outclassed their opponents in team work.

PLANS FOR FORMATION OF ALL STAR ELEVEN FAVORED.

Arrangement of Western Football Team to Tour Country Proves Popular—Fifty Players Want to Make Trip.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—The proposed formation of an all-western football team to make a three weeks' barnstorming tour of the country, is being received with great favor, if the replies received by Manager Thomas Purtell can be taken as an indication. Already over fifty stars on the western gridiron have signified their intention of making the trip, and the only difficulty, as far as the players are concerned, is to select the proper men.

There is some question as to just which players will form the team. So many of the ex-Badger stars are anxious to make the trip that there is some talk of having it a Badger aggregation exclusively. This, however, is not definitely settled. Today Manager Purtell received a letter from F. J. Crolius, former captain of the Dartmouth team and now director of athletics at Villa Novo college, asking to arrange games with the Homestead and Pittsburg professional teams. He also stated he felt confident Connie Mack's Philadelphia professionals, made up mostly of University of Pennsylvania stars, would be anxious for a game with the westerners.

Manager Purtell will leave for New York tomorrow to arrange the eastern schedule. If the proper games can be scheduled and guarantees made, the trip is assured.

The selection of officials for the Minnesota-Wisconsin game is causing no end of trouble to the management of both institutions. Lists of names have been exchanged, but no decision has been reached. It seems likely the officials will not be selected without a bitter controversy.

BRUISED SQUAD AT EVANSTON.

Nearly All of the Northwestern Football Players Are More or Less Battered Up.

Most of McCornack's men suffered severely in Saturday's game. Nearly every member of the squad is covered with bruises from the maroon's bruising attack, although none received serious injuries. Athletic hall, the training quarters of the team, was thronged with visitors yesterday, who expressed approval of the game fight put up by the team against overwhelming odds. Turner and Jenkins especially were commended.

McCornack spent the day with Trainer Holland looking over the injured. "I am proud of every man in the team," he said. "While Stagg's team is a wonder, he will have to fight for his life when he meets Yost. 'Hurry up' has a heavier team than last year and if it isn't swift now it will be when it meets Chicago after another month of Yost's training."

Hope of holding Minnesota to a low score was expressed by the Northwestern supporters who recalled the plucky recovery of their team last year after the crushing defeat by Chicago. Illinois was defeated when the odds were three to one against the purple.

The games scheduled before the Michigan game, Marquette college, Ohio Northern, and Michigan agricultural promise to arouse but little interest, but they will keep the purple players fit.

Illini Preparing for Michigan.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Head Coach Lowenthal has gathered his rejuvenated team under his wing in the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house, which they will occupy all week to prepare for the Michigan game. The Greeks offered their big residence and moved out. Lowenthal thinks the training quarters will be excellent and will greatly improve the team spirit. Every effort is being made to strengthen the Illini for the Michigan game and the latest idea is pressing into service Bundy and Wagner of the Physicians and Surgeons' team, as the medical college is a part of the university. Bundy is an old Illinois tackle having played three years here. Wagner is a guard. A feature of Saturday's game was the showing at quarterback of Brooks, hitherto known to fame as second baseman of the ball nine.

GATES TO HAVE GREAT STABLE.

Chicagoan Is Bound to Secure Powerful Racing String Next Season.

AFTER STAR PERFORMERS.

"Boots" Durnell, Acting for Turfman, Buys Lotus—Fails to Get Kuroki from Keene.

New York, Oct. 29.—[Special.]—John W. Gates evidently is bound to have a powerful racing stable of his own next year. He will have a number of high class 2 year olds in valuable stake engagements together with some good 3 and 4 year olds already in the stable of "Boots" Durnell who will train for the Chicagoan. Gates bought the 2 year old Watercress filly Lotus the other day for $10,000.

Gates, after consultation with Durnell, some time ago decided he would like to buy the 2 year old colt Kuroki by Commando-Rhodesia from James R. Keene. Accordingly he made an offer of $25,000 cash one day last week, but was quickly informed Kuroki was not for sale at any price. Gates was greatly disappointed, it is understood, for if he had been able to secure Kuroki he would have had a strong card to play in the 3 year old specials next season. But Keene is not selling real race horses. In fact, he never did let go of a good colt or mare that gave as much promise as this particularly fine son of Commando.

It is said Durnell, acting in the behalf of Gates, has made a proposition to the owner of Disobedient and also is negotiating with T. J. Gaynor for the crack filly Whimsical. Durnell has received absolute authority from Gates to act in such matters and "Boots" therefore, can be expected to pull off several important transactions between now and the windup in the east.

Jockey Wiley will ride for Gates and Durnell next season, as they have first call on his services. John A. Drake has second call and with another powerful string of horses in the care of Enoch Wishard it readily can be appreciated that Gates and Drake probably will succeed in making things hum.

Gates never has been a real turfman before. He has played the races on a large scale with varying success, but he had no idea of racing horses in his name and colors until Durnell convinced him it would prove a good investment. Gates, therefore, will go into racing not in a half hearted manner but with a splurge. He already has made application to the Jockey club for the use of "All Scarlet" silks used for so long by A. H. & D. H. Morris. The Morrises are not racing now, although the Barbarity stable in which they have more than a passing interest, won a race at Brighton Beach this fall with Lotus Eater in the famous Morris jacket. Gates simply dotes on the scarlet, and if the Barbarity stable and the Morrises will consent he will take over the popular jacket even as a loan.

Latonia, Ky., Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Thanksgiving day finally has been announced as the date for commencing racing at City park, New Orleans. The Latonia meeting will close next Saturday, and Cumberland park, Nashville, will open next Monday for a meeting of three weeks—which is regarded as a doubtful experiment by a good many turfmen.

Apparently it also is settled that William Shannon and Humphrey Devereux, who were granted dates about two months ago for a December meeting at Essex park, are thrown into the discard. Students of turf politics are wondering what they think now of the new ruling turf body for which they clamored so loudly last winter. It strikes every one as a merry jest that they should be left high and dry by the American Turf association.

If the latest reports are true, it appears the American Turf association has found itself where it has to turn to Judge Murphy again. It is said that owing to Harry Kuhl being indisposed, Murphy is needed as racing secretary at City park, and actually has been offered the management of the meeting—that is, purely the racing end of it. But in the stand Francis Trevelyan will preside.

Rumors of friction between Ed Corrigan and the Latonia management will not down. He is not running any horses, though he did start three early in the meeting, and keeps himself away. He arrived on Thursday to attend the meeting on dates, but as soon as that was over he disappeared again.

William O'Brien of the Worth Jockey club, treasurer of the American Turf association, has been here for two or three days, but all he has to say on the turf situation is that it would be a great thing if all parties could get together. Some one suggested it was a pity he did not look upon it in that light last winter and spring.

It is reported Secretary Nathanson may come here from Chicago early this week in the interest of the Crescent City Jockey club's meeting.

The John J. Ryan affair—it is alleged he has welched in regard to certain markers he bet in the Latonia ring last July—still hangs fire. At that time he made a lot of bad talk because Judge Trevelyan disqualified the horse Garner after winning a steeplechase heavily backed by Ryan, and it looks as if the time is at hand when he must settle or be ruled off the turf. Trevelyan says he is giving Ryan a fair chance, but will have to take decisive action if the plunger does not make good. It is alleged Ryan owes Bookmakers McManus and Fred Pesch nearly $2,000 between them.

NATIONALS WIN GAME, 5 TO 4.

Defeat Gunthers in Their Final Contest of Season—Ryan's All Stars Beat West Ends 7 to 3.

In their last appearance in baseball for this season the Chicago Nationals trimmed the Gunthers yesterday at Gunther park in a good game before a fair sized crowd by a score of 5 to 4. Neither team did any sensational work in the field. Score:

Good Bowling by Goodwin.

Charley Goodwin's bowling with the Chronicles in the Newspaper league was easily the feature of the work yesterday in local bowling leagues. The crack anchor who won the championship of the Newspaper league two years ago put up scores of 231, 248, and 182 for an average of 220 1-3. His team won three games from the Journals. In the other series the Heralds dropped two games to the Examiners. Patterson of the latter team dropping the pins for 256 in the second game and averaging 204. The Gunthers were beaten two games by the Sterns in the Lake View league on Saturday night, the last by one pin.

WORK OF LOCAL BOWLERS.

CHANGES RESULT IN THE CHICAGO LEAGUE DURING WEEK.

Clashing of Leading Teams Gives Brunswicks Chance to Increase Their Lead Over Bensingers by Two Games, the Latter Being Tied with Howards for Second Honors—First Nationals Now Fourth and Hofmanns Fifth—Leffingwell Leader.

A few changes resulted in the standings of the leading teams in the Chicago Bowling league last week when the leading teams clashed. The Brunswicks through their defeat of the Bensingers in two games increased their lead over Flenner's men to two games, the latter aggregation being tied for second honors with the Howards. This team, which won three games from the Hofmanns, has been coming a fast clip, having won fourteen out of the last fifteen games, and looks like the one the champions will have to beat. The First Nationals are fourth and the Hofmanns fifth.

Earl Leffingwell, who last week had the highest average in the city with a fraction over 207, took an awful drop and now has but 201 flat. Brill and Bartsch are tied for second honors with 198 11-21, 5 points ahead of the next men.

In the Monroe league the Sunsets increased their lead over the Blue Islands by winning three games from the All Malts while the Blue Islands were dropping one to the Hofmanns. The O'Learys are one game behind the south end men, with the Centurys in fourth place. Phil Wolf now leads in the individual race with 202 12-24, while Steele has 201 17-21.

Birk Brothers in Lead.

The Birk Brothers are leading the Lake View league with the national champion Gunthers second and the Quirks third. Wernie Schneider still leads the individual race with 192 3-18, although having a hard luck series during the week. Hartman of the Golden Rods is second, and Faetz of the Paul Pohls third.

The Pinzons now have a lead of one game over the Gunthers in the Coöperative league through winning three games while the candymakers were dropping one. The Difficulties are third and the Columbian Knights fourth. Edwin Peifer of the Columbian Knights leads the individual race, with Thompson and Ed Stolke next.

Ben Steel of the Halcyons in the Southwest league has the highest individual average of any man in the city, his figures for twenty games being 208 11-20. The Halcyons lead the league by a good margin.

In the Sheridan league Illinois leads, with the Washingtons and Weinders next in order. L. Leffingwell of the Washingtons leads the individuals, but has played only three games.

The Rarebits lead in the Hemmer league, followed by the Hemmers and the Lipmans. Bruck of the Hemmers leads among the individuals, with Colliers of the Lipmans second.

Centurys Are First.

The Centurys are showing the way to the Malt Sinews and Rivals in the Tournament league; Rosenthal of the leaders having the best individual average, with Geroux and Dunton some distance behind him.

Pinzons No. 1 have one game advantage over the Orientals in the Columbian Knights league, with the Libertys another game away. Hawley of the Pinzons heads the individual stars.

In the Greenlight league the Peerless have a four game margin over their nearest rivals, the Gold Bricks, although the latter have the two individual leaders in Karlicek and Kupfer.

The Standards, Veronas, and Websters are in a tie for first places in the North Chicago league. Feel and J. Shaw of the Veronas and Burkhardt of the Crescents have the best individual averages.

In the West End league the Hacketts and Winthrops have one game advantage over the Crawfords. Ditt, Hacketts, and Johns, Oak Park, are leading the individual race.

The Argyles have not lost a game in the Argyle league, but Weber of the Pastimes has the best individual average.

Close Race in Belmont.

The leaders are closely bunched in the Belmont league, Wetterhahns, Lotus, and Schiller being single games apart. Schneider of the Wetterhahns leads the individual race.

In the Birns league the Nectars have the call, with Armitages second. V. Kaad of the Wahoos has the best average to date.

The Stehnas and Popvichs are neck and neck in the Bohemian National league, with the Havorkas one game away. C. Hlava of the Stehnas leads the individuals.

St. Johns No. 1 and St. Lawrence are tied in the Diocesan league, with W. Burbach of the St. Georges first in the individual race.

The Cizeks and Bull Heads are only one game apart in the Troy league, the other clubs being some distance behind. Stehno of the Cliftons has a good margin in the individual race.

In the Prima Tonic league the O'Learys have two games' start on the Owls and Twenty Mules. H. Wolf, F. Weeks, and J. Goodwin lead in individual work.

Among the leagues which have started their races comparatively recently the leaders are as follows: West Chicago, Waiss and Grands; Kloempken, Rovers; Paint, Oil and Varnish, Heath & Milligan and Standard Oils; Jefferson, Wilsons, Le Gors, and High Lifes in a triple tie; Wicker Park, Golden Oaks and Eskimos; Humboldt, Jailburgs and Globes.

TYPOS FIGHT COURT RULE.

PRINTERS' UNION AMAZED AT SCOPE OF INJUNCTION.

Labor Organization Members, After Being Told by Attorney That They Are Powerless Before Judge Holdom's Order, Plan Agitation Against This Method of Procedure—Case Will Be Carried to the Highest Tribunal.

Typographical union No. 16 discovered yesterday that it may have been "injunction checkmated." The court order issued recently by Judge Holdom, it was learned, has tied the union so completely hand and foot that the strike for the eight hour day is in great danger. As a way out of the predicament the union decided to expend its last resource, if necessary, in a public anti-injunction crusade.

Agitation calculated to show that injunctions are imperiling the existence of labor unions will be undertaken on an unusually large scale. The initial move will be in the form of a demonstration to be held probably next Sunday either at the Auditorium or the Coliseum. Massmeetings in various parts of the city will follow.

The typographical union also will appropriate money to carry the injunction case to the Supreme court of the United States and thus secure the first decision from that body on the legality of "blanket" injunctions.

Attorney Stirs Printers.

Former Judge W. H. Barnum was instrumental in stirring the printers to the proposed war on labor injunctions. In an address delivered before a massmeeting in Brand's hall he asserted that the order issued by Judge Holdom in favor of the Chicago Typothetæ practically nullifies the functions of the union and renders its existence futile.

Striking.
Working.

"I would advise the officers and members of the typographical union who do not wish to be in contempt of court, to refrain from doing any of the above things," he said.

President E. R. Wright of the union reported that aside from the injunction trouble the eight hour strike was progressing satisfactorily. He said that 650 men now are out, and that 694 are being paid "benefits" from the union treasury. He asserted that 330 new members have joined the union since the strike was called.

The teamsters and freight handlers, in their new combination, the Transportation and Shipping Workers' alliance, evolved at Wosta's hall, 122 West Lake street, a new plan to permit sympathetic strikes. The scheme is incorporated in a bylaw which declares that "members will not consent to work under police protection."

Switchmen Discuss Strike.

Switchmen in two massmeetings discussed the advisability of calling a general strike to aid the men who are out in the Grand Trunk yards at Elsdon. Action was postponed on the advice of Grand Master Frank T. Hawley, who addressed the meetings, until after the session of the central committee of the union on Wednesday at the Kaiserhof hotel. The first gathering was held at Western and Grand avenues in the afternoon, and in the evening the second massmeeting took place at Nineteenth street and California avenue. Another meeting is scheduled tonight in Blue Island.

RUSSIAN BONDS A MENACE

POSSIBILITY OF FRENCH HOLDERS BECOMING AFRAID.

Should They Begin to Sell Their Vast Holdings the Slump Would Be Felt in London and New York — Large Interests Hold Aloof from the Market—Bank Statement a Little More Favorable in Its Character—Financial Notes.

Conditions in Russia and possible exports of gold form the immediate factors in the stock market. The menace in the Russian situation lies in the possibility of a government which might repudiate many of the existing Russian loans. France holds Russian bonds for an amount estimated to be at least $1,500,000,000. Should these French holders become apprehensive and begin to sell their securities their action would be reflected in London and New York.

The export gold movement, if it should occur, would be temporary, but would still have a depressing effect on sentiment. Until there is more clearness on these two points the market should reflect uncertainty.

Large Interests Hold Aloof.

No disposition on the part of large Wall street interests to favor an advance in stocks has yet been evinced. Interest rates are moderate, and the demand from the west for funds has slackened materially. But in the last three years interest rates have averaged higher in New York in the latter part of November and in the month of December than for preceding months. There was an exception to this temporarily in 1902, which, however, did not disturb the matter of average as a rule.

Some large speculative interests were considerable purchasers of specialties last week, but such activity was significant only of individual opinion in particular instances. The so-called makers of markets on a large scale in New York have done nothing. It does not appear that New York banking people are in a mood to discount the return of funds from the west. This return will be no earlier in 1905 than it was in previous years, and, as before pointed out, the highest interest rates of the year have prevailed in the last six weeks thereof.

New York Banking Position.

The bank statement on Saturday was a little more favorable from the viewpoint of easier money. The cash gain was $4,406,000. More than half of this was specie. The increase in deposits was $18,232,900. There was, however, an expansion in loans of over $15,000,000, which may have accounted in a large measure for the gain in deposits. The increase in the latter is the first recorded in weeks. Up to last Saturday the decrease in deposits had been $174,850,500 from Aug. 1, a record. The figures:

Reserve decreased	$ 152,225

Local Traction Issues.

In Chicago market affairs last week traction issues continued to show strength. The buying was credited to New York, though there is probably some local speculation. Those intimately connected with the traction situation naturally take a more hopeful view of the outlook than others not so interested. If the question of a franchise is to be referred to a referendum vote at the spring aldermanic elections, there will be presented a situation not calculated to help street railroad legislation. The aldermen who seek reelection will be guided, first in their campaign by the law of self-preservation, which heretofore has involved denunciation of street railroads. The potency of this attitude in the matter of vote getting is a simple matter of municipal political history.

Carter Harrison was elected mayor several times, and then Mayor Dunne succeeded him, on an anti-franchise platform. One of the mayoralty candidates last spring abandoned his campaign for a franchise to become more radical than his anti-franchise opponent. Unless aldermen are more courageous than they have been in the past, none will care to be known in a campaign as a friend of the street railroads. So far as can be seen, therefore, at this time the traction question will have a severe ordeal next spring.

This is merely set forth as a condition, regardless of what may be wisdom, equity or expediency in the situation.

There was small but good buying in Chicago Edison. The purchases appeared to be for account of an American-British investment company, which took on the stock for its earnings, and because of its position. Canal and Dock company shares were in demand, owing to negotiations for a sale of $450,000 worth of the company's property. It is assumed that a part of the proceeds will be distributed in the form of a dividend to shareholders.

Results of Manipulation.

Chicago Subway stock was sparingly dealt in. In view of the fact that an uncalled for campaign in the shares engineered by insiders resulted in various exposures, a cessation of such methods would seem to be suggested as the part of wisdom. However, having once got "easy money" out of the uninformed, the temptation still further to work the process was great. It was only when the eastern stockholders, who control a majority of the stock, began to depress the price in order to stop the manipulation that business prudence took the place of riotous ballooning. The desire to get other people's money for an unproductive stock has resulted in discrediting all the securities.

Chicago Bank Stocks.

The market for Chicago bank stocks was steady throughout the week. Transactions were few, but prices were well maintained.

LONDON MARKET GETS NERVOUS

Convulsion in Russia Starts a Stampede by Which Bears Benefit—Conservative Brokers Optimistic.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1905: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Nearly every section of the stock exchange is plunged in the deepest gloom or something akin to nervous prostration. The attack was sudden. The trouble commenced with the opening of the unfortunate nineteen day period, and a heavy dose of liquidation from Paris set everybody in a fluster. On the top of this came disquieting news from Russia, and when, to wind up with, it was found that Wall street also had an attack of the nerves, the fat was all in the fire. If one were to believe or take into consideration most of the talk heard at the close of the week he might have imagined a terrific slump.

What are the reasons for this state of nerves? Judging from all the talk, they are as old as the hills. On hears on all hands the old argument that the convulsion in Russia is bound to be accompanied by a financial panic in Paris, in the course of which every foreign security held in the French capital will be flung overboard in a wild scramble for money.

PRESSURE ON STOCK ISSUES.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—[Special.]—Trading in stocks yesterday showed the effects of pressure, particularly after the bank statement was given out. Foreign issues reflected the crisis in Russia.

A further advance in sterling exchange here and a fall in Paris strengthened the conviction that gold will go out to Paris this week, and estimates current pointed to the possibility of a heavy outward movement. By reason of hasty covering of shorts by the successful bears the closing of stocks was unsettled and irregular.

RUSSIAN NEWS IS FELT.

Foreign Markets Are Excited and Advance Sharply—Export Demand for American Wheat Not Yet Large, but Requests for Offers Are More Common—Trade Broadens Out—Sharp Foreign Demand for Coarse Grains Is Reflected by Prices.

Progress of events in Russia the last week, rapid, sensational, perhaps epoch making, has controlled the action of the grain markets of the world. The strike of railroad employés hampered or entirely shut off the movement of grain from the interior and finally, according to late advices from Black sea ports, has prevented the handling of grain and practically shut off exports, although shipments for the entire week, it is estimated, will be liberal.

The strike at its outset was principally important, as a factor in the grain markets, in calling attention to the great shortage in the estimated yields of cereals in Russia as outlined by the government's estimates. For some weeks the Russian crop shortage had seemed to have more effect as a price factor in the Chicago market, through the efforts of the strong bull interest which exploited it, than in the markets of the importing countries of Europe, to which it is a far more vital concern. Local bulls, however, had no reason to find fault with the action of European markets last week. Berlin was the most excited, with a gain of over 6c.

This is partly due to the fact that higher import duties on grain go into effect in the German empire on March 1, and Germany has not only been a large buyer of foreign grain the last few months, but is expected to continue a large purchaser, with a view to securing ample stocks before the import duties are advanced. Other foreign markets, however, responded with good advances to the danger of the shutting off of supplies from the largest exporting country of Europe, as the effect of the Russian news and the strength of wheat abroad excited the fears of shorts in home markets and encouraged the bulls to more vigorous efforts.

Export Demand Not Yet Urgent.

Wheat prices in Chicago advanced as much during the week as any of the foreign markets except Berlin. There has as yet been no definite indication of a material spurt in the export demand for American wheat. Moderate quantities of hard winters are still being taken from the gulf by Germany, which would take more if more were available, but the demand for Durum wheat from the Mediterranean has been lessened by the relative advance in the price of wheat of that quality and spring wheat is still too much above the level of values of Manitoba grain to be marketable abroad. There has been, however, some increase in the sales of flour for export from this country, and as the domestic demand is large, the production of the mills is still of the record breaking order.

The foreign situation led to a sharper export demand for Manitoba wheat, sales of which were large, according to advices from the seaboard and from Canadian points. If Russian exports should actually be shut off or nearly so, it would not be necessary to wait for the exhaustion of the Canadian surplus before American wheat would be in active demand abroad, even if prices this side the boundary line should continue higher, for transportation facilities would not be equal to the task of getting Manitoba wheat to the seaboard fast enough to supply the void in European supplies, occasioned by the shutting off of the usual contribution from Russia.

Russian Ukase Possible.

A little added excitement was given the local market by the rumor that the czar would issue a ukase entirely prohibiting grain exports, but the czar apparently has other troubles to distract his attention from the question of keeping Russian grain at home for the benefit of the large districts where crops were shortest and famine threatens. Any farther spread of the railroad strike would have all the effect of a ukase, practically, if conditions are the same at other Russian ports as at Odessa, where twelve steamers had to sail empty, because it was impossible to load them, traffic on the railway lines connecting the railroads with the harbor having been suspended.

The situation in Russia seems to be so bad, however, that it may get better and Russia has so often shown the ability to ship large quantities of grain, following years of short crops, that there is still some indisposition on the part of wheat traders as a class to give to the Russian situation all the weight to which on the face of things it seems to be entitled as a factor making for higher prices. This condition of mind was encouraged by the estimate that Russian and Danubian shipments for the week would be 6,500,000 bu. So far this season, however, the speculator who has been skeptical of the Russian crop shortage has not made much money. Trade in the local pit broadened materially and the week closed with net advances of 3¼c in the December and 4¼c in the May.

Foreign Demand for Corn.

Corn scored good advances, with December relatively easy because of the indications of an early movement of new corn to market and because the bull support and the effects of large prospective exports were felt more by the deferred month. May closed 1⅝c higher, and December ⅝c-¾c higher for the week. Sales of new corn for export were heavier than before the Russian strike took on a serious aspect, and this foreign demand and alleged overestimation of the domestic crop is the basis for the accumulation of a heavy line by the bull interest in December wheat. The bears were playing the larger crop estimates, which are popular, and the larger country sales.

Oats and Provisions.

Oats gained 1⅝c-1⅝c on the indications of a big shortage in European feedstuffs shown by the heavy sales abroad. While the demand was shifting a little from oats to barley, oats sales made a handsome total. A good many of the oats appearing in the stocks here and elsewhere are sold to go out, but it has been impossible to get cars. Stocks, however, still were increasing and receipts were holding up well.

Provisions ruled irregular and quiet with January product 2½@5c higher at the end, October pork 37½c up, and October ribs 40c off. Sharp declines in hog prices in anticipation of larger receipts were counteracted by good cash demands, which were rapidly reducing stocks of product.

DEBS RAPS THE JUDGES.

DENOUNCES THOSE WHO ISSUE INJUNCTIONS AGAINST STRIKERS.

"Immediate Municipal Ownership" Also Is Scored by Speaker at Opening of the Socialist Judicial and Sanitary District Campaign—Declares "Writs Are Issued on Any Excuse and Courts Are Mere Puppets of the Capitalists."

Scathing denunciation of judges who issue injunctions against strikers was made by Eugene V. Debs yesterday in speeches marking the opening of the socialist judicial and sanitary district campaign. He also took a sharp rap at "immediate municipal ownership," which he declared to be a "capitalistic middle class scheme with which to befuddle the workers from the real issue."

The "real issue," he said, was for the workers to capture the means of production and distribution. He characterized judges elected on the republican and democratic tickets as "puppets in the hands of the capitalist class."

As the greater part of the local socialist activity is carried on on Sundays, the opening of the "campaign" was no exception to the rule, and Debs began with a meeting at Schlitz's hall, Kensington, in the morning. This was followed by a meeting at Bohemian School hall, Forty-eighth and Honoré streets, in the afternoon, and closing in the evening with a meeting at Oakland Music hall, Cottage Grove avenue and Fortieth street.

Workmen Cheer the Speakers.

All the meetings drew large crowds of workingmen, who cheered and applauded the speakers. At the afternoon meeting more than 1,000 persons were present, mostly stockyard employés.

"Whenever there is trouble the capitalist can press the button and a judge appears," said Debs. "You elected him. What does he do? He issues an injunction against you which forbids you from doing everything. The judges all are at the beck and call of the capitalist.

"Should the injunction prove futile, you soon hear the tramp of the militia and regular army, who come ready to shoot you down. Whether a republican or democratic judge, the result is the same.

Brands Judges as "Puppets."

"You workers in Chicago have had so much experience in these matters that you ought to know how it works. Don't you know that republican and democratic judges are mere puppets in the hands of the capitalist class, and that when you vote for them you vote to lock yourselves up in jail?"

Stillwater Gas & Electric Light Co.
First Mortgage Gold 5's, Prior Lien Bonds, and
Apple River Power Company
(St. Croix County, Wisconsin).

Principal payable serially from 1 to 25 years, thus reducing the indebtedness each year.

The net earnings at the present time, plus present contracts for water-power, are more than twice the interest charge on First Mortgage Bonds.

The Company has entered into a contract to sell power to the St. Paul Gas Light Company at a minimum charge of $15,836.75 per annum, and the amount will probably exceed $20,000.00. They also have a contract to light the City of Stillwater, which aggregates over $6,000.00 per annum. There are also several contracts with manufacturing concerns already made and more under negotiation.

The Company owns all the gas and electric business in the City of Stillwater. These properties have been entirely rebuilt with new up-to-date electrical machinery and distributing system and a new gas plant throughout, which is modern in every particular. Franchises are for thirty years from 1903.

The Apple River Power Company consists of two water powers on the Apple River, which are developed and now in operation, 1,296 H. P., minimum, and 1,700 H. P., maximum. The Apple River has its source in twenty-one lakes in Polk County, Wisconsin, and its flow is remarkably even throughout the year, the lakes forming natural storage reservoirs.

The population of Stillwater is estimated at 15,000, and the population within twenty miles of the Apple River Power Company—which includes the City of St. Paul—is over 200,000, which affords a large market for the water power.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS.
Clerk's Office, City of Butte, Montana.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1905, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m., the City of Butte, in Silver Bow County, State of Montana, will sell at public auction at the City Council Chamber in the City Hall in said city, to the highest bidder, that is to say to the bidder offering the highest price for them, for cash, funding bonds of the City of Butte in the sum of four hundred thousand ($400,000) dollars, and bids will be received by said city therefor in pursuance with the provisions of Section 4800 of the Political code of Montana, 1895, as amended by the fifth legislative assembly, House Bill No. 203, approved March 8, 1897, Session Laws of 1897, pages 203-212, and House Bill No. 206 of the session Laws of the fifth legislative assembly of Montana, entitled "An Act Relating to Municipal Indebtedness," approved March 6, 1897, Session Laws of 1897, pages 226-228, and in accordance with the ordinance No. 731 passed by the City Council of the City of Butte, August 16, 1905, entitled, "An ordinance to provide for the issuance and sale of Four Hundred Thousand Dollars ($400,000) in bonds of the City of Butte to borrow money for the purpose of funding the present indebtedness of the city of Butte, to redeem outstanding bonds and warrants, and for the calling of an election for the submission of said question to the qualified electors of said city," and by virtue of a special election held in said city of Butte on the 12th day of September, 1905, at which a majority of the qualified electors of said city voted in favor of issuing said bonds.

Said bonds are of the denomination of one thousand (1,000) dollars, bear date December 1st, 1905, mature December 1st, 1925, and are redeemable December 1st, 1915, with interest at the rate of four and one-half (4½) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually. Interest and principal payable at the office of the treasurer of said City of Butte, or in the City of New York at such bank as shall be designated by the treasurer of said city.

No bid will be accepted for less than par, and cash, or a certified check, in the sum of twenty (20) dollars on each one thousand (1,000) dollar bond bid, and must accompany each bid as a guaranty of the good faith of the bidder and that the bid will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, if accepted, and said check or cash will be held and considered as part payment for bonds awarded, and if the said bidder shall fail or refuse to fulfill the terms of the said bid for the space of thirty (30) days thereafter, the amount of the said cash or check shall be considered as liquidated damages, and shall be paid into the city treasury of the City of Butte in payment therefor.

This notice is given in accordance with Council Resolution No. 544.

Zion college at Zion City initiated a unique system in its educational work yesterday by setting aside every seventh week of the school year for coaching those students who for any cause are behind in their work. Overseer Bracefield, conducting the tabernacle meet-ing there yesterday, announced the begin-ning of the plan's execution for this week.

Pupils who need no coaching will take the seventh week to polish up what they know and make up things which are necessarily skipped in the regular work. Mr. Brace-field said Zion wants to raise an endowment fund of $750,000 for education which will not only make Zion college secure financially but in case of a crisis this fund would in-crease the assets and decrease the liabili-ties of Zion. He said that Deacon Sloan has plans afoot for raising $500,000 of the de-sired fund.

A message from Dr. Dowie at Tampico, Mex., stated that he and his four assistants would make a tour of inspection next week to locate a favorable site for the new Zion City. He said he had found a desirable site, favorably situated as to shipping interests, being located on a fine river, but had not settled definitely upon it. Dr. Dowie stated he would retur nto Chicago by Thanksgiving.

Overseer Bracefield told the Zionists that every faithful member should turn his prop-erty over to Zion now to avoid legal com-plications. While, he said, they may so provide in their wills, if the property is not in Zion's hands relatives may appear after death and cause Zion legal trouble, and even take from Zion what the owner wished it to receive.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & CO.

STATE AND MADISON STREETS.

News of Exceptional Values Comes from Every Part of the Store

EACH section is prolific with new arrivals in fashionable apparel and dry goods of every description. In many instances quotations are surprisingly moderate considering desirability and quality. The reason for this is that we attract manufacturers at home and abroad because of our large distributing power and the knowledge that we are always ready to buy.

Lace All-Overs and Waistings

SHORT LENGTHS AT REVISED PRICES

AFTER months of extraordinary selling we have accumulated many short lengths of all kinds of lace all-overs and have revised the prices so that they are greatly in your favor.

These remnants are in waist lengths, dress lengths, lengths for yokes, fancy lace fronts, lengths for trimming hats, and lengths for other practical purposes.

The assortment consists of single and double widths, black and cream dress nets, fine French lace all-overs, fancy colored net lace all-overs, embroidered chiffon all-overs, fine white blonde nets and fancy flowered lace all-overs.
